5 French Kids Elude Germans For 4 Months; Helping Allies

By HAL BOYLE

St. Sauveur le Vicomte, July 7 (AP)—Five French youths, who played Robinson Crusoe for four months, hiding in the woods to keep from being drafted by the Nazis for forced labor, have come out of hiding near here to help the Allies by guiding lost paratroopers and pointing out German positions.

These brave, stubborn boys managed to keep alive in the wilderness by trapping small game. I was told by a young infantry officer, Lt. George P. Tobler, Smithtown Branch, N. Y. He started to take me to the farm home of one of the boys, but we met him peddling down the road on a bicycle. As jeeps and ammunition trucks rumbled by, he told his story.

He is a freckled, blond-haired boy of 20 named Pierre. I can't give you his last name because that might give the Nazis a chance for revenge.

Lived In Woods

"One night one of our leaders in the underground came to our farm and told mother—my father is dead—that the Germans would soon begin taking more of us to Germany to do their war work," Pierre said. "One group of us decided we would rather run away and live in the woods than be shipped off to work for Hitler.

"There were five of us—Michel 20, George 21, Jean 20 and Bernard 21. Some of us lived on farms, some were students. We set out together and made our way to the center of a great woods—called Bois de Limors—southeast of St. Sauveurs le Vicomte.

"We found an old woodcutter's abandoned cottage in the center of the forest and we all slept there. It was February then and sometimes we were very cold. But it wasn't such a bad life * * *.

Missed Bread, Cheese

"We had plenty of meat to eat. We trapped wild rabbits and other game with snares and made friends with one woodcutter who brought us more meat. What we missed most was bread and cheese.

"Germans came by several times and questioned us," said Pierre laughing at the recollection, "but we convinced them that we were cutting wood for German army use so they let us alone.

"Some of us were pretty homesick by the time we heard over the little radio in our hut that the invasion had begun. We were all excited and left at once. The Germans came by our hut later that day and stole everything in it, including the radio.

"We met some American paratroopers lost in the woods and, after spending the night with them, we showed them the way to a small town where about 50 other men in their outfit had set up headquarters. They had garlands of flowers around their necks, given them at a farmhouse by French women.

Anxious To Fight

"We rowed them across the marsh. I saw they were embarrassed by the flowers but afraid to get rid of them because of fear of making me feel bad. So I took them off myself and threw them into the water.

"I told your officers all I knew about the German positions, and I also let them know where some Germans were in the woods at that moment. They fired mortars on them and killed three before the rest of the Germans ran away."

I asked Pierre, whether he had any desire to fight the Germans himself.

"I hate the Nazis," he said, "and I wait only for the arrival of General de Gaulle. Then I will enlist. I want to fight in a French army."

TORPEDOED OFF TWO SHIPS, ROY MICKLEY AGAIN BATTLE VICTIM

Sergeant Roy K. Mickley, 28, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mickley, Orrtanna R. 1, twice torpedoed out of ships off Casablanca in November, 1942, has been wounded in the invasion of France, it was learned today.

Details of his wounding were not revealed to the parents although they received a letter from him telling them that he was in a hospital after being wounded in Normandy.

In his letter Sergeant Mickley asked for some candy and a fountain pen. He said that he was having difficulty writing because of his thumb injury. He said he was able to be about on crutches.

Twice Torpedoed

He was in the hold of an ammunition ship, directing the unloading of the explosives, 12 miles off the African coast. Suddenly he was hurled from atop boxes of ammunition and found himself under water. When he rose he saw a gaping hole in the side of the ship with water rushing in. He made his way to the top-side and jumped overboard. He was picked up a short time later and transferred to another ship.

Twenty-two hours later, while eating mess, another torpedo struck Mickley's ship, the second one he was aboard, and again he had to abandon ship. Again he was rescued and taken aboard a destroyer. After being checked by a physician and given food he was put to bed. When he awoke he was enroute to the States. He was given a brief furlough and later rejoined his outfit in Africa.

It was not known that he participated in the invasion of France until his family learned that he had been wounded.

RUSSELL BAKER HERE AFTER TOUR OF PACIFIC DUTY

Sergeant Major Russell O. Baker, Upper Darby, who was instructor at the firemen's school held in Adams county during the winter of 1939 and spring of 1940, is visiting friends in Gettysburg after 25 months service in the South Pacific in which he took part in four major engagements.

Sergeant Baker, who has been in the reserves and on duty with the Marines for the last 18 years wears the presidential citation given his outfit for the invasion of Guadalcanal, and has three other battle clasps on his South West Pacific battle zone ribbon, for the defense and occupation of Guadalcanal, New Guinea, and Cape Gloucester, New Britain, where he landed on Christmas Day.

Slightly Wounded

His only battle wounds were stratches on the legs by bomb fragments. Thrown to the ground by the concussion from a bomb exploding nearby, he failed to notice that he had been slightly injured until after the battle, in which he was taking part, was over. First aid treatment was enough to take care of the scratches.

The rain, which included a 45-day stretch on New Guinea when it rained every day, was an annoyance, as were the bugs and pests that abound in the tropical South Pacific. The only intertainment for the troops were movies, other than the usual baseball and other games in which the men took part. But the recreation was not needed, except when the troops were out of the battle zone. While fighting, the sergeant major says, there is no time to think about possible entertainment.

Praises Marines

The valor of the Marines and the excellent work of the U. S. Navy was praised by Sergeant Baker in an interview today with a reporter for The Gettysburg Times.

The basic training given the Marines proved its value in battles, Sergeant Baker said. "Based on developing individual initiative as well as hardening the men and giving them military training, the lessons learned by the Marines in their basic training frequently saved their lives on the battle front," he said.

The sergeant is spending several days with James B. and James A. Aumen at their home on West Middle street. He leaves for Philadelphia Sunday afternoon.

CYCLIST DIES OF INJURIES IN CAR COLLISION

Donald Lester Boland, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boland, Emmitsburg, died at 9:55 o'clock Thursday evening in the Warner hospital of injuries he suffered Sunday evening when he collided with an automobile while riding a bicycle toward Gettysburg a short distance north of Emmitsburg on the main highway.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, signed a certificate attributing death to a fracture of the skull suffered in the accident. His other injuries include multiple fractures of the jaw and face bones, and lacerations of the right arm, forehead and face.

After the accident reports from Emmitsburg stated that Donald had been riding in the direction of Gettysburg when he swerved to the left to pass a car as another machine passed, traveling the opposite direction. The bicycle struck the southbound car and knocked Boland to the highway. A door handle was knocked off the auto by the force of the impact.

Funeral On Monday

The driver of the car, who was said to be from Graceham, Maryland, took the youth to the office of Dr. W. R. Cadle, Emmitsburg. From there he was brought to the hospital here. His condition became steadily more serious.

The youth was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic church at Emmitsburg and had been residing with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Winebrenner, Fairfield R. 2, north of Emmitsburg along the Gettysburg highway. The parents and grandparents survive as do two brothers and three sisters: Sgt. Joseph Boland, Camp Bowie, Texas; Betty, Mary, Patrick and Rose Boland, all at home.

Funeral services Monday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic church at Emmitsburg with the Rev. Father Dunn officiating. Interment in the church cemetery.

Friends may call at the Allison funeral home in Emmitsburg Sunday evening.

Temperatures Rising Today

Temperatures in Gettysburg climbed again today after Thursday's cloudy skies drove the mercury down into the low seventies.

While officially the temperature for Thursday was 99 degrees, the figure at which the thermometer was set at 5 p. m. Wednesday, when the official weather day began, the temperature was in the low 90's during most of the day.

To Enter Hospital As A Cadet Nurse

Miss Doris Anne Ramer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Ramer, Buford avenue, will enter the U. S. Nurse Cadet Corps as a student nurse at Providence Division of the School of Nursing Education, The Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C., in September.

Nazi Crisis

London, July 14 (AP)—Belief that a "major crisis" may be developing in Germany was expressed by a Swiss military commentator today in a broadcast over the Swiss radio.

"Confidence is dwindling and nervousness is growing in the German camp," the commentator said. "Hitler's headquarters moving steadily west, Rundstedt's dismissal, a new paroxysm reached in the persecution of the Jews—these are typical elements of a major crisis."

LOCAL SOLDIER IMPRESSED BY BISHOP'S TALK

Corporal John B. "Jack" Keith, son of Mrs. John D. Keith, Carlisle street, was among the large group of Americans who attended a special service recently in the National Evangelical Lutheran church in Reykjavik, Iceland.

His Grace, the Most Rev. Sigurgeir Sigurdsson, D.D., Bishop of Iceland, delivered the sermon. So impressed was he by the sermon that Corporal Keith asked the Bishop for a copy. He then sent it home to his mother for safe keeping until he returns.

Later, when Bishop Sigurdsson received an honorary D.D. degree from Wagner college, at a special service in New York, Mrs. Keith and her daughter, Helen, were in the congregation. After the service Mrs. Keith personally thanked the Bishop for the sermon and the impression it made on her son.

The Times has been given permission to reprint the sermon as follows:

"And now behold, we are in three hand" (Josh. 9.25). These are the words of Joshua, the great leader of his nation. There is no doubt that the best and most comforting feeling which a man can have, is to feel certain that God is with him.

"Man is frail and has but little strength in himself. We very often resemble a blade of grass before the wind. When the difficult experiences of life overwhelm us, we often feel our weakness. The man who has no feeling and no consciousness that God is with him is always afraid of the future. He asks the question: What does today or tomorrow hold for me? But if he on the contrary has that safe assurance that God is with him, he never trembles or fears for what may happen. He knows that all is right.

Life Built on Rock

"When the storms of life rage, he rests securely because the house of his life is built on the rock. As we all know, the tempest of war is blowing in the world. The war shatters and breaks down the hopes of many hearts. But even in this struggle, you have got to realize, that all is really safe, if you are sure, that God is with you.

"You, my friends are here in this island, far from your homes and loved ones, amongst a people who has for centuries fought a hard battle of life. We know from the history of our people, and even from experience that often in their difficulties they hardly knew, what

URGES WOMEN TO CONTINUE SELLING BONDS

Mrs. Henry T. Bream, chairman of the Women's Division of the county War Finance Committee, today made an urgent appeal to all women volunteer bond workers to extend their efforts in the sale of "E" bonds during the remainder of the month.

"We have been urged by the state committee to conduct an intensive drive, during the remainder of the Fifth War Bond campaign which closes July 31, for the sale of E bonds in order to attain our quota.

"Although the state has reached its over-all quota it is far behind in E bond sales. This is one phase of the campaign that the Treasury department has stressed and it is important that we lend our efforts in the drive.

"Adams county is also far behind in its E bond sales and unless we carry on an intensive drive through the rest of the month we will fail to reach our goal," Mrs. Bream said.

Mrs. Bream also reminded the women workers that a war bond is to be given to the woman who sells the most bonds during the drive. Some women, she said, have sold more than 100 bonds. The winner will not be determined until after the close of the campaign.

This included: $7,018.75 from New Oxford; $5,300 from Biglerville; $2,550 from Cashtown; $1,675 from Arendtsville; $1,650 each from Littlestown and Gettysburg and $50 from Fairfield.

Women of the Moose reported sales of $14,800 in bonds and $245 in stamps at their booths in the Moose lodge and at Murphy's. The booths will be open until the close of the drive.

Victory Cradle Roll sales include the following:

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 11 (AP)—American infantry and tanks driving down the Cherbourg peninsula have advanced from one to three miles, and the supreme command announced today that "the whole United States army front from St. Lo to the sea is on the move."

Headquarters said the Germans apparently were conducting "an orderly withdrawal."

The Americans occupied several important villages. Advancing up a 10-mile front on the west coast, they closed in more tightly against the German stronghold of Lessay, some elements approaching to within a mile and a half of the town. In the fighting for strategic St. Lo on the inland end of the 30-mile American battlefront, the First Army made progress to the south in a drive flanking the city from the east.

Little Activity On Eastern Sector

On the eastern sector of the Normandy battleground there was little activity, but it was revealed the British had lost St. Honorine, a mile north of Colombelles, in recent counter-attacks.

Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's American forces pushed three miles down the west coast of the Cherbourg peninsula to St. German-Sur-ay, three miles northwest of Lessay. A few miles inland along the highway from La Haye du Puits to Lessay, advanced units approached the village of Beauvais, a mile and a half from Lessay.

Below Carentan and St. Jeane de Daye, the American line bulged sharply southward, engulfing the village of Tribehou, Gournay and Le Hommet d'Arthenay. Pushing through the wooded section known as the Bois de Hommet, the Americans were approaching Les Champs d' Losque.

Control 4 of 9 Main Roads

Four of the nine roads leading into St. Lo now are under American control.

The drive against this most important of all central Normandy highway junctions advanced on the east beyond captured La Barre de Semilly, two miles east and slightly south. At last report the Americans were only a mile and a half from the town on the north.

Despite the widespread American pressure along the whole front there was no indication that a breakthrough had been achieved anywhere. Progress was being made in costly short pushes against strong German rear guards who fought desperately for each foot of ground while the bulk of the forces withdrew.

York Springs Man Is Held For Court

Paul J. Diehl, York Springs, pleaded guilty Thursday evening to a charge of receiving stolen goods laid against him by Pvt. John E. Thompson, Harrisburg, a member of the state police, before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

The York Springs resident was released on $500 bail to appear before the county court. The goods included an electric motor and an emery wheel valued at $37, alleged to have been stolen by a York county youth who is in custody in that county.

STRABAN ADDS NEW COURSES

Courses in world background and science have been added to the curriculum of the Straban township schools it was revealed Thursday evening at a meeting of the school board and teachers of the township at the office of the county superintendent of schools at the court house.

Held to determine what books will be purchased for the coming year, the school officials announced that the new courses will be taught by ordering a series of science books and texts, and other materials for a world background course.

English work books, supplementary readers, and spelling books were also ordered by the board and teachers. The board turned over to the teachers the decisions on which texts to be purchased.

Those attending the meeting included Ralph W. Guise, Russell M. Spangler, Edgar W. Weaner and H. M. Beamer, of the school board and the following teachers: Marian M. Millhimes, Dorothy G. Duttera, Margaret B. Vanderwall, Margaret A. Sanders, Harry S. Bream, Elsie B. Wolf, Winifred I. Thompson and Gail R. Bell. Assistant County Superintendent of Schools Robert A. Bream also attended the session.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Lockhart, Gettysburg R. 5, announce the birth of a son this morning at the Warner hospital. Mr. Lockhart, who is in the U. S. Army, is stationed overseas.

RUSSIAN ARMY 29 MILES FROM EAST PRUSSIA

Moscow, July 14 (AP)—The Russian Army pushed on today from captured Wilno, where the Germans lost 13,000 dead and prisoners, and edged to within 28 miles of Kaunas.

(Germans have evacuated Pinsk in the western Pripyat marshes, 100 miles from Brest Litovsk, the German radio said. The town is on the railroad from Luniniec to Warsaw and has been outflanked several days.)

Other Red Army units were 21 miles from the strategic railway through Kaunas to Riga, the Latvian seaport capital, and to Tallinn in Estonia, front dispatches said.

Gen. Ivan Chermiakhovsky's cavalry and tanks were 50 miles from Eydtkuhnen, a border city in east Prussia. Farther south in the Grodno region the Russians were 20 miles from the Suwalki triangle of east Prussia.

Nazis Leave Pinsk

The Red Army was closing two huge arms around Pinsk. The city appeared doomed and its inhabitants could already hear Soviet artillery. The Germans said they evacuated the city.

(Finns were warned in a domestic broadcast that their country might soon be outflanked by a complete collapse of German resistance on the Baltic front, where the situation was described as "most critical." U. S. Monitors heard the report.)

Red Army tanks, cavalry and infantry surged closer to east Prussia despite a general stiffening of German resistance and hurried efforts by the Nazis to stem the Russian offensive by throwing large numbers of reserves into several sectors.

Field dispatches said that in no area were the Nazis holding up the Russian advance, though in many places the Red Army forces were farther from their bases than the Germans.

Local Sergeant Uses Tin Can As Bathtub At Battlefront

(Special to The Times)

It wasn't a Frank Sinatra recording, just S-Sgt. Ray E. Golden, a ball turret gunner on a B-24, singing as he took a "bath" at his base in Italy. It was a rather small "bath-tub," in fact too small for even his two sons back home, Richard, 2, and Ray, Jr., 9 months. Ray says: "I used to use my steel helmet and it was still smaller so I got this empty can and fixed it up and it serves the purpose. It's really very simple. If I want hot water . . . I build a fire and heat some. Most of the time I use cold water 'cause we don't have any wood to build a fire."

Ray, 23, husband of Mrs. Helen May Golden, 344 Baltimore street, Gettysburg, formerly was employed as a moulder for the Gettysburg Furniture company. He has 20 combat missions to his credit since landing in Italy several months ago and is a holder of the Air medal.

Golden continued: "I'm supposed to go to a camp pretty soon for a rest but I'm looking forward to getting my 50 missions in and going home where a guy can take a decent bath with only his kids to bother him and boy, how I love to be bothered that way!"

The charge was brought about by an accident at the intersection of Buford avenue and Chambersburg streets in which Como struck a car driven by Edward Hughes, of Gettysburg.

War Dept. Reports On Wounded Soldier

William W. Chritzman, Chambersburg street jeweler, has received a letter from the War Department, dated July 11, informing him that on June 24 his son, Pfc. Alexis W. Chritzman was "convalescing" in an English hospital from battle wounds he received in France on June 9.

Mr. Chritzman has received a letter from his son, written July 2, in which the latter reported he is "getting along nicely."

General "Teddy" Roosevelt Dies Of Heart Attack On French Front

London, July 14 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., 56, adventurous son of the former President, died Wednesday night of a heart attack as he rested in a captured German truck on the Normandy battlefield.

His death came in his office-bedroom in the converted truck at the conclusion of an arduous day of carrying encouragement and guidance to the troops of the Fourth Infantry Division, of which he was assistant commanding general.

He will be buried today in France where his brother Quentin was killed in the first World War.

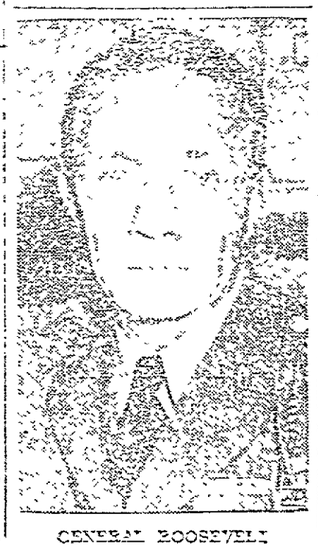

Roosevelt was stricken with a slight heart attack five days ago, but he insisted on continuing his strenuous daily tours.

"Well Worn Down"

Returning late Wednesday, he admitted he felt tired and told his son, Capt. Quentin Roosevelt, that "the old machine is pretty well worn down." Quentin, an officer in the First Infantry Division, returned to his post only two hours before the general died.

Like his father before him, General Roosevelt led a strenuous life. He fought in both World Wars and

RUSSELL BAKER HERE AFTER TOUR OF PACIFIC DUTY

Sergeant Major Russell O. Baker, Upper Darby, who was instructor at the firemen's school held in Adams county during the winter of 1939 and spring of 1940, is visiting friends in Gettysburg after 25 months service in the South Pacific in which he took part in four major engagements.

Sergeant Baker, who has been in the reserves and on duty with the Marines for the last 18 years wears the presidential citation given his outfit for the invasion of Guadalcanal, and has three other battle clasps on his South West Pacific battle zone ribbon, for the defense and occupation of Guadalcanal, New Guinea, and Cape Gloucester, New Britain, where he landed on Christmas Day.

Slightly Wounded

His only battle wounds were stratches on the legs by bomb fragments. Thrown to the ground by the concussion from a bomb exploding nearby, he failed to notice that he had been slightly injured until after the battle, in which he was taking part, was over. First aid treatment was enough to take care of the scratches.

The rain, which included a 45-day stretch on New Guinea when it rained every day, was an annoyance, as were the bugs and pests that abound in the tropical South Pacific. The only intertainment for the troops were movies, other than the usual baseball and other games in which the men took part. But the recreation was not needed, except when the troops were out of the battle zone. While fighting, the sergeant major says, there is no time to think about possible entertainment.

Praises Marines

The valor of the Marines and the excellent work of the U. S. Navy was praised by Sergeant Baker in an interview today with a reporter for The Gettysburg Times.

The basic training given the Marines proved its value in battles, Sergeant Baker said. "Based on developing individual initiative as well as hardening the men and giving them military training, the lessons learned by the Marines in their basic training frequently saved their lives on the battle front," he said.

The sergeant is spending several days with James B. and James A. Aumen at their home on West Middle street. He leaves for Philadelphia Sunday afternoon.

CYCLIST DIES OF INJURIES IN CAR COLLISION

Donald Lester Boland, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boland, Emmitsburg, died at 9:55 o'clock Thursday evening in the Warner hospital of injuries he suffered Sunday evening when he collided with an automobile while riding a bicycle toward Gettysburg a short distance north of Emmitsburg on the main highway.

Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, signed a certificate attributing death to a fracture of the skull suffered in the accident. His other injuries include multiple fractures of the jaw and face bones, and lacerations of the right arm, forehead and face.

After the accident reports from Emmitsburg stated that Donald had been riding in the direction of Gettysburg when he swerved to the left to pass a car as another machine passed, traveling the opposite direction. The bicycle struck the southbound car and knocked Boland to the highway. A door handle was knocked off the auto by the force of the impact.

Funeral On Monday

The driver of the car, who was said to be from Graceham, Maryland, took the youth to the office of Dr. W. R. Cadle, Emmitsburg. From there he was brought to the hospital here. His condition became steadily more serious.

The youth was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic church at Emmitsburg and had been residing with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Winebrenner, Fairfield R. 2, north of Emmitsburg along the Gettysburg highway. The parents and grandparents survive as do two brothers and three sisters: Sgt. Joseph Boland, Camp Bowie, Texas; Betty, Mary, Patrick and Rose Boland, all at home.

Funeral services Monday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Joseph's Catholic church at Emmitsburg with the Rev. Father Dunn officiating. Interment in the church cemetery.

Friends may call at the Allison funeral home in Emmitsburg Sunday evening.

Temperatures Rising Today

Temperatures in Gettysburg climbed again today after Thursday's cloudy skies drove the mercury down into the low seventies.

While officially the temperature for Thursday was 90 degrees, the figure at which the thermometer was set at 5 p. m. Wednesday, when the official weather day began, the temperature was in the low 80's during most of the day.

Driver Pays $10 Fine Before Justice

The charge was brought about by an accident at the intersection of Buford avenue and Chambersburg streets in which Como struck a car driven by Edward Hughes, of Gettysburg.

War Dept. Reports On Wounded Soldier

William W. Chritzman, Chambersburg street jeweler, has received a letter from the War Department, dated July 11, informing him that on June 24 his son, Pfc. Alexis W. Chritzman, was "convalescing" in an English hospital from battle wounds he received in France on June 9.

Mr. Chritzman has received a letter from his son, written July 2, in which the latter reported he is "getting along nicely."

Nazi Crisis

London, July 14 (AP)—Belief that a "major crisis" may be developing in Germany was expressed by a Swiss military commentator today in a broadcast over the Swiss radio.

"Confidence is dwindling and nervousness is growing in the German camp," the commentator said. "Hitler's headquarters moving steadily west, Rundstedt's dismissal, a new paroxysm reached in the persecution of the Jews—these are typical elements of a major crisis."

LOCAL SOLDIER IMPRESSED BY BISHOP'S TALK

Corporal John B. "Jack" Keith, son of Mrs. John D. Keith, Carlisle street, was among the large group of Americans who attended a special service recently in the National Evangelical Lutheran church in Reykjavik, Iceland.

His Grace, the Most Rev. Sigurgeir Sigurdsson, D.D., Bishop of Iceland, delivered the sermon. So impressed was he by the sermon that Corporal Keith asked the Bishop for a copy. He then sent it home to his mother for safe keeping until he returns.

Later, when Bishop Sigurdsson received an honorary D.D. degree from Wagner college, at a special service in New York, Mrs. Keith and her daughter, Helen, were in the congregation. After the service Mrs. Keith personally thanked the Bishop for the sermon and the impression it made on her son.

The Times has been given permission to reprint the sermon as follows:

"'And now behold, we are in thine hand' (Josh. 9.25). These are the words of Joshua, the great leader of his nation. There is no doubt that the best and most comforting feeling which a man can have, is to feel certain that God is with him.

"Man is frail and has but little strength in himself. We very often resemble a blade of grass before the wind. When the difficult experiences of life overwhelm us, we often feel our weakness. The man who has no feeling and no consciousness that God is with him is always afraid of the future. He asks the question: What does today or tomorrow hold for me? But if he on the contrary has that safe assurance that God is with him, he never trembles or fears for what may happen. He knows that all is right.

Life Built on Rock

"When the storms of life rage, he rests securely because the house of his life is built on the rock. As we all know, the tempest of war is blowing in the world. The war shatters and breaks down the hopes of many hearts. But even in this struggle, you have got to realize, that all is really safe, if you are sure, that God is with you.

"You, my friends are here in this island, far from your homes and loved ones, amongst a people who has for centuries fought a hard battle of life. We know from the history of our people, and even from experience, that often in their difficulties they hardly knew, what

URGES WOMEN TO CONTINUE SELLING BONDS

Mrs. Henry T. Bream, chairman of the Women's Division of the county War Finance Committee, today made an urgent appeal to all women volunteer bond workers to extend their efforts in the sale of "E" bonds during the remainder of the month.

"We have been urged by the state committee to conduct an intensive drive, during the remainder of the Fifth War Bond campaign which closes July 31, for the sale of E bonds in order to attain our quota.

"Although the state has reached its over-all quota it is far behind in E bond sales. This is one phase of the campaign that the Treasury department has stressed and it is important that we lend our efforts in the drive.

"Adams county is also far behind in its E bond sales and unless we carry on an intensive drive through the rest of the month we will fail to reach our goal," Mrs. Bream said.

Mrs. Bream also reminded the women workers that a war bond is to be given to the woman who sells the most bonds during the drive. Some women, she said, have sold more than 100 bonds. The winner will not be determined until after the close of the campaign.

Additional bond sales through the Women's Division today totalec $19,893.75.

This included: $7,018.75 from New Oxford; $5,300 from Biglerville; $2,550 from Cashtown; $1,675 from Arendtsville; $1,650 each from Littlestown and Gettysburg and $50 from Fairfield.

Women of the Moose reported sales of $14,800 in bonds and $245 in stamps at their booths in the Moose lodge and at Murphy's. The booths will be open until the close of the drive.

Local Sergeant Uses Tin Can As Bathtub At Battlefront

(Special to The Times)

It wasn't a Frank Sinatra recording, just S-Sgt. Ray E. Golden, a ball turret gunner on a B-24, singing as he took a "bath" at his base in Italy. It was a rather small "bath-tub," in fact too small for even his two sons back home, Richard, 2, and Ray, Jr., 9 months. Ray says: "I used to use my steel helmet and it was still smaller so I got this empty can and fixed it up and it serves the purpose. It's really very simple. If I want hot water . . . I build a fire and heat some. Most of the time I use cold water 'cause we don't have any wood to build a fire."

Ray, 23, husband of Mrs. Helen May Golden, 344 Baltimore street, Gettysburg, formerly was employed as a moulder for the Gettysburg Furniture company. He has 20 combat missions to his credit since landing in Italy several months ago and is a holder of the Air medal.

Golden continued: "I'm supposed to go to a camp pretty soon for a rest but I'm looking forward to getting my 50 missions in and going home where a guy can take a decent bath with only his kids to bother him and boy, how I love to be bothered that way!"

General "Teddy" Roosevelt Dies Of Heart Attack On French Front

London, July 14 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., 56, adventurous son of the former President, died Wednesday night of a heart attack as he rested in a captured German truck on the Normandy battlefield.

His death came in his office-bedroom in the converted truck at the conclusion of an arduous day of carrying encouragement and guidance to the troops of the Fourth Infantry Division, of which he was assistant commanding general.

He will be buried today in France where his brother Quentin was killed in the first World War.

Roosevelt was stricken with a slight heart attack five days ago, but he insisted on continuing his strenuous daily tours.

"Well Worn Down"

Returning late Wednesday, he admitted he felt tired and told his son, Capt. Quentin Roosevelt, that "the old machine is pretty well worn down." Quentin, an officer in the First Infantry Division, returned to his post only two hours before the general died.

Like his father before him, General Roosevelt led a strenuous life. He fought in both World Wars and

GENERAL ROOSEVELT

By WES GALLAGHER

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, July 14 (AP)—American infantry and tanks driving down the Cherbourg peninsula have advanced from one to three miles, and the supreme command announced today that "the whole United States army front from St. Lo to the sea is on the move."

Headquarters said the Germans apparently were conducting "an orderly withdrawal."

The Americans occupied several important villages. Advancing up a 10-mile front on the west coast, they closed in more tightly against the German stronghold of Lessay, some elements approaching to within a mile and a half of the town. In the fighting for strategic St. Lo on the inland end of the 30-mile American battlefront, the First Army made progress to the south in a drive flanking the city from the east.

Little Activity On Eastern Sector

On the eastern sector of the Normandy battleground there was little activity, but it was revealed the British had lost St. Honorine, a mile north of Colombelles, in recent counter-attacks.

Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley's American forces pushed three miles down the west coast of the Cherbourg peninsula to St. German-Sur-ay, three miles northwest of Lessay. A few miles inland along the highway from La Haye du Puits to Lessay, advanced units approached the village of Beauvais, a mile and a half from Lessay.

Below Carentan and St. Jeane de Daye, the American line bulged sharply southward, engulfing the village of Tribehou, Gournay and Le Hommet d'Arthenay. Pushing through the wooded section known as the Bois de Hommet, the Americans were approaching Les Champs d' Losque.

Control 4 of 9 Main Roads

Four of the nine roads leading into St. Lo now are under American control.

The drive against this most important of all central Normandy highway junctions advanced on the east beyond captured La Barre de Semilly, two miles east and slightly south. At last report the Americans were only a mile and a half from the town on the north.

Despite the widespread American pressure along the whole front there was no indication that a breakthrough had been achieved anywhere. Progress was being made in costly short pushes against strong German rear guards who fought desperately for each foot of ground while the bulk of the forces withdrew.

York Springs Man Is Held For Court

Paul J. Diehl, York Springs, pleaded guilty Thursday evening to a charge of receiving stolen goods laid against him by Pvt. John E. Thompson, Harrisburg, a member of the state police, before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

The York Springs resident was released on $500 bail to appear before the county court. The goods included an electric motor and an emery wheel valued at $37, alleged to have been stolen by a York county youth who is in custody in that county.

STRABAN ADDS NEW COURSES

Courses in world background and science have been added to the curriculum of the Straban township schools it was revealed Thursday evening at a meeting of the school board and teachers of the township at the office of the county superintendent of schools at the court house.

Held to determine what books will be purchased for the coming year, the school officials announced that the new courses will be taught by ordering a series of science books and texts, and other materials for a world background course.

English work books, supplementary readers, and spelling books were also ordered by the board and teachers. The board turned over to the teachers the decisions on which texts to be purchased.

Those attending the meeting included Ralph W .Guise, Russell M. Spangler, Edgar W. Weaner and H. M. Beamer, of the school board and the following teachers: Marian M. Milhimes, Dorothy G. Duttera, Margaret B. Vanderwall, Margaret A. Sanders, Harry S. Bream, Elsie B. Wolf, Winifred I. Thompson and Gail R. Bell. Assistant County Superintendent of Schools Robert A. Bream also attended the session.

RUSSIAN ARMY 29 MILES FROM EAST PRUSSIA

Moscow, July 14 (AP)—The Russian Army pushed on today from captured Wilno, where the Germans lost 13,000 dead and prisoners, and edged to within 28 miles of Kaunas.

(Germans have evacuated Pinsk in the western Pripyat marshes, 100 miles from Brest Litovsk, the German radio said. The town is on the railroad from Luniniec to Warsaw and has been outflanked several days.)

Other Red Army units were 21 miles from the strategic railway through Kaunas to Riga, the Latvian seaport capital, and to Tallinn in Estonia, front dispatches said.

Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's cavalry and tanks were 50 miles from Eydtkuhnen, a border city in east Prussia. Farther south in the Grodno region the Russians were 29 miles from the Suwalki triangle of east Prussia.

Nazis Leave Pinsk

The Red Army was closing two huge arms around Pinsk. The city appeared doomed and its inhabitants could already hear Soviet artillery. The Germans said they evacuated the city.

(Finns were warned in a domestic broadcast that their country might soon be outflanked by a complete collapse of German resistance on the Baltic front, where the situation was described as "most critical." U. S. Monitors heard the report.)

Red Army tanks, cavalry and infantry surged closer to east Prussia despite a general stiffening of German resistance and hurried efforts by the Nazis to stem the Russian offensive by throwing large numbers of reserves into several sectors.

Field dispatches said that in no area were the Nazis holding up the Russian advance, though in many places the Red Army forces were farther from their bases than the Germans.

NAZI PRISONERS ARE CAPTURED IN YORK COUNTY

The two German prisoners of war who escaped eight days ago from the prison camp at the southern edge of Gettysburg were captured on Tuesday about 10:30 a. m. at a farmhouse five miles southwest of York by troopers from the York state police substation, summoned by a farmer who had been asked for food by the fugitives.

The prisoners, apparently in good health and excellent spirits, were taken into custody by the officers without any show of resistance or any effort to escape when the police appeared.

One of the prisoners wore the shirt of his German Army uniform when captured. Neither wore the blue denim overalls described as their garb in first reports of the escape. They were wearing brown and olive drab trousers and shirts which they said they had since leaving Gettysburg.

Turned Over To Army

The prisoners were taken to the York state police substation where they were met by a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who had been working out of York on the escape. The Gettysburg camp was notified by telephone and police at York said they understood guards were being sent from here to York to take the men into custody. The FBI told The Gettysburg Times this noon that the men were turned over to military officials.

The capture was made in Spring Garden township four and a half to five miles west of York and south of the Lincoln highway. The farmhouse is located near Indian Rock dam.

Sgt. Lloyd B. Gibbs, a former resident of York Springs and graduate of Gettysburg high school, now stationed with the state police at York, told The Gettysburg Times this morning that the prisoners were detained by a farmer who had been tipped off by police Monday evening that the fugitives were in the vicinity. The officers found the prisoners in the back yard of the farm house. The capture was made without any difficulty.

Had Camp Raincoats

The prisoners had with them their camp raincoats on which the letters "PW" were still in place. The letters did not appear on any of the clothing they were wearing when captured. The prisoners were not armed.

Their English was described by the York officers as "poor" and little information had been secured about their movements since they escaped over the stockade early last Monday morning. It brought on a two-state manhunt led by the FBI with local authorities and state police being required to run down a steady stream of "tips" from nearly every part of this county and in many sections of the state.

They were described this morning as being apparently in good condition. One was badly in need of a shave. The other's beard was very light.

Used Hideout

The prisoners, Thomas Kostaniak, 27, and Axel Ostermaier, 22, both infantry sergeants in the German Army before their capture, were taken into custody by these state policemen from York: Sergeant Gibbs, Cpl. A. J. Swalinski, Pvt. Leslie Jackson and Pvt. J. A. Tappe.

Police disclosed they had searched that section Monday evening after Justice of the Peace John F. Strickhouser, of York New Salem, reported he had come upon two men answering the description of the prisoners in a hideout along a stream where he was fishing.

The search Monday evening was fruitless. The farmhouse where the capture was made today was about a mile and a half from the hideout along the stream.

The FBI said last week that the prisoners are not guilty of any crime under international law and will not be subject to punishment for escaping from the camp here.

Decorated

Gilbert, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gilbert, Biglerville, who as a pilot of a P-38 Lightning fighter plane operating from an airbase in England, has won the Air Medal and three oak leaf clusters. SILVER STAR FOR LT. C. L. SHARRER

With the Fifth Army, Italy—Second Lt. Charles L. Sharrer, of Emmitsburg, Maryland, has been awarded the Silver Star posthumously for gallantry in action on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

Sharrer as artillery forward observer stationed at an observation post with the infantry company, skillfully judged the occupied positions on a hill and added concentrations to the prepared defensive firing. He valiantly held his post all day and, on the following morning put his radio into operation under a heavy artillery barrage.

In the furious enemy attack which followed, Sharrer directed accurate fire that was essential to the repulsion of the enemy.

He disdained personal security in the face of tremendous enemy fire and rirelessly transmitted his orders until fatally wounded.

SOLDIER IMPROVING

The War Department has advised Mr. and Mrs. Erle R. Deardorff, Carlisle street, that as of June 24 their son, Pvt. Dale E. Deardorff, who was wounded in Normandy on June 14, was making "normal improvement" in a hospital in England. In a letter to his parents, written July 2, the wounded soldier said he is "getting along fine."

Sgt. Francis Rider Awarded Air Medal

An Eighth AAF Bomber Station, England (By Mail)—Sgt. Francis A. Rider, 241 Baltimore street, Gettysburg, waist gunner on a B-17 Flying Fortress, has been decorated with the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" on bombing attacks on enemy Europe.

Sgt. Rider, 21 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen P. Rider, has taken part in six combat missions. A 1941 graduate of Gettysburg high school, he was an aircraft mechanic at Olmsted Field, Middletown, before entering the army February 1, 1943.

HONOR ROLL TO BE ERECTED AT EMMITSBURG

At a special meeting of the Emmitsburg town council Saturday evening in the town offices, it was decided to erect a Service Honor Roll including the names of all the men and women from Emmitsburg and Emmitsburg vicinity who are in the service of their country. It was also decided to include cadet nurses in this group.

To defray the expenses of the project and give everyone an opportunity to share in its support, it was decided to form a sponsor club. Parents, wives or friends may participate by sponsoring their service man or woman at the rate of $1 per name.

The contribution of one dollar along with the name of the service man or woman may be mailed or handed to anyone of the following committee: Louis Stoner, Charles Rowe, Mrs. C. C. Combs, or Earl Gelwicks up to August 10.

A sponsor list will be compiled and published as soon after that date as is possible.

The date and site for the formal dedication for the Service Honor Roll will be announced in the near future. Mrs. Robert Daugherty, general chairman, will announce all committees connected with this project early next week.

The town council also desires to compile a complete list of the men serving their country from Emmitsburg and Emmitsburg district. "This can only be done by the complete cooperation of everyone in the community," Burgess Joseph Hoke said today.

"Will you please mail or hand the name, serial number and complete address of your service man or woman to Miss Irene Shorb or Luther Kugler at once," Burgess Hoke asked.

N. O. MAN HURT IN NORMANDY

An Army Medical Corps man, crawling on all fours, carried S. Sgt. Faber O. Overbaugh, through a hail of lead after the New Oxford youth had been wounded by shrapnel in Normandy.

S. Sgt Overbaugh told of the rescue, disclosed that he had been wounded and revealed that he has been awarded the Purple Heart in a letter to his father, Clair Overbaugh, Carlisle street, New Oxford, received on July 3.

Sgt. Overbaugh, writing in a hospital in England on June 26, the day on which he was presented with the Purple Heart medal, stated that he was struck by shrapnel in the left foot while participating in the invasion on French soil.

For a time, S. Sgt. Overbaugh was confined to a field hospital in France, and was then removed to England.

Sgt. Overbaugh, in his letter, commended the efficiency with which the medical corps functions. He said that little time passed after he was hit before he was being given first aid.

"The 'medic' who carried me back was crawling on all fours with me on his back and lead spitting all around us," Sgt. Overbaugh writes. "From what I saw all about me I consider myself lucky at that."

The young man, who is 29 years old, entered the Army in January, 1941, among the first boys to go into the service from New Oxford. He was sent from New Cumberland to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., where he was stationed for two years before being moved to Camp McCoy, Wis. He went overseas in October, 1943.

BEGS COUNTY TO CONSERVE SCRAP PAPER FOR WAR

Donald M. Nelson, Chairman of the War Production Board, today appealed to Adams countians to extend their efforts to save waste paper, one of the vital war essentials.

The appeal was made in a telegram to The Gettysburg Times in which Mr. Nelson cited the urgent need for more waste paper. His telegram follows:

"Six months ago when the shortage of waste paper imperiled vital war production I appealed to the American press to launch the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaign. The newspapers have given generously of their leadership and valuable space with the result that waste paper receipts have been increased by nearly 100,000 tons a month. This is fresh evidence of the power of a free and patriotic press. Since the inception of the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaigning under the chairmanship of Edwin S. Friendly, I have been in constant touch with this gratifying program. Good as the record has been, however, I call today on the newspapers and their readers for still greater efforts in the salvaging of waste paper.

Some Mills Close

"Right now many mills with important war contracts have almost exhausted their supply of this vital raw material and some have been forced to shut down temporarily. The situation is critical but fortunately can be remedied quickly by greater public cooperation in the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaign.

"A survey recently made public by the Department of Commerce indicates 62 per cent of all salvable waste paper in the United States is available from industry and 38 per cent from homes and farms. In your city approximately 7.3 pounds of household waste paper per person are available each month in addition to 5.2 pounds per person on surrounding farms. These figures provide for the first time monthly quotas for your area and should prove helpful in stimulating household collections.

"Despite the excellent cooperation of the public and the 17,000 salvage committees collections have averaged about 538,000 tons a month in 1944, or 79,000 tons short of our monthly goal. Receipts in May were 622,000 tons or 45,000 tons below our quota and for June we are receiving only 84 per cent.

Hurts War Effort

"Obviously continuation of this dangerous situation will not only jeopardize war production but cause further curtailment of the diminished allotments of civilian paper. A new study made through the courtesy of the Gallup Newspaper sponsorship reveals only 63 per cent of our families are saving waste paper regularly and only 67 per cent are convinced of the need of waste paper. This is astonishing in the light of your generous support.

"Waste papar is the nation's number one critical war material so essential the army is now preparing to salvage what little they can in the North African and South Pacific combat zones. Therefore I appeal to every man, woman and child of your county to redouble his efforts in the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaign in cooperation with your newspaper."

Driver Is Fined After Auto Crash

Mrs Marie S Zentz, 40, Thurmont, Md., R. 2 paid a fine of $10 and costs on a reckless driving charge brought before Justice of the Peace Ellis Stine, Liberty township, Wednesday afternoon following an accident south of Fairfield on the Zora road.

Pvt. Harold Steads, who investigated the accident, laid the charge. Mrs Zentz, according to police, drove into the rear of an ice truck of which Roscoe C. Fitz, Blue Ridge Summit, was the driver, while the truck was parked along the road. Damage totalled $325. No one was injured.

BOY IS BURNED PAINFULLY AS BOMB EXPLODES

Painfully burned about the head, face, left hand and legs, 11-year-old David Glass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glass, Emmitsburg R. 2, is recovering in the Warner hospital from injuries he received when a small "siren" bomb, found in a field near the Glass home after soldiers from a nearby camp had been on maneuvers there, exploded on Tuesday evening while the boy was within three feet of the missile.

Both the boy's eardrums were ruptured by the concussion and it was feared at first that he might lose his vision but doctors now believe his sight will be restored.

Officers Investigating

Mrs. Glass said Wednesday that the blast was heard for a distance of five miles. Mr. and Mrs. Glass, who had just retired, were aroused by the explosion about a mile away. They took their son to the office of Dr. W. R. Cadle, Emmitsburg, and from there he was taken to the Warner hospital.

The mishap occurred about dusk as the boys walked across the fields the soldiers had used in their maneuvers earlier in the day. David said he had been with the soldiers and had a "jeep" ride earlier.

The Glass home is about seven miles from Emmitsburg to the south of the road leading to Taneytown.

Officers from Camp Ritchie were investigating the accident Wednesday.

The boys that were with Glass when the explosion occurred suffered loss of hearing. The bomb was described as being two or three inches in diameter and four or five inches long.

BOY CRITICAL AFTER ACCIDENT

Donald Boland, 17, Fairfield R. 2, is in a critical condition in the Warner hospital suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, multiple fractures of the jaw and face bones and lacerations of the right arm, forehead and face, injuries he received when he was knocked from his bicycle in a collision with an automobile a short distance north of Emmitsburg on the Gettysburg road, Sunday evening.

Boland was riding toward Gettysburg and following a car when he swung to the left to go around the machine ahead of him as a car from Graceham, Maryland, passed, headed in the opposite direction. Boland's bicycle struck the side of the machine and the boy was thrown to the roadway. One handle of a car door was knocked off by the impact.

The motorist took the boy to the office of Dr. W. R. Cadle, Emmitsburg. From there he was brought to the Warner hospital where his condition this afternoon was described as "not at all good."

CHANGE GAS RULE

In a further effort to cut into black market dealings in gasoline, the OPA today provided that qualified operators of fleets of official or commercial motor vehicles may use ration checks in paying for gasoline delivered into the tanks of units of their fleets. The new method will substitute for the present one under which ration coupons are handed over by the drivers at the time gasoline is transferred.

Promoted

H. George Hanawalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hanawalt, 223 Baltimore street, who recently was promoted to the rank of captain in the Army Air Corps. He is an instructor of officers at Laughlin Army Air Field, Del Rio, Tex. A graduate of Gettysburg high school, he was in his senior year at Gettysburg college when he was called into the service.

Grenade Bit Grazes Nose Of Guy Kump

By HAL BOYLE

With American troops in Normandy, July 2 (Delayed) (AP)—Pfc. Guy Kump, of Gettysburg, Pa., crawled back to get two men who straggled away from his squad only a few miles from the front line. They were moving across country to rejoin their company.

Suddenly he heard two Germans less than five feet away on the other side of an earthen hedgerow fence. They heard him too and, before he could move, one lobbed a grenade over which lit four feet from Kump and exploded.

"Somebody must have been looking out for me on that one," he said. "I saw it lying there a second looking like a chicken egg with a stem on it and suddenly it blew up with a big bang and flash, dazing me for a second. But all that happened was that a small piece grazed the tip of my nose."

Kump and the two Germans simultaneously exited in three directions.

"Why didn't you keep your head down," asked Pfc. Raymond Latham of Mason City, Iowa, a fellow infantryman.

"Then I would have lost my face," said Kump. "They always tell you not to lose your head. Brother, that's the advice I followed."

Pfc. Guy Kump is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Kump, of near Mc-Knightstown.

MERCURY HITS 97 DEGREES

The highest official temperature for 1944 in Adams county was recorded Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Arendtsville laboratory when the mercury soared to 97 degrees. It had reached 94 degrees by 1 o'clock in the afternoon and despite partly overcast skies continued to climb to a record for the summer.

The weatherman promised no immediate relief from the heat wave that has sent temperatures into the nineties for the most of this week.

The high temperatures add to the severity of the drought which already has caused considerable damage to corn, soy bean and oats fields while fields of tomatoes being grown commercially for the county canning factories also are badly in need of rain.

Ideal harvest weather is proving serious for many Victory gardens that were suffering from a shortage of rainfall before the current hot wave arrived. Weather records here for the month of June showed that less than half of the normal amount of rain for the month was received here with the shortage amounting to more than two inches.

GETS PROMOTION

Mrs Ray Miller has received word from her husband, Pfc, Ray Miller, who is stationed somewhere in England that he has been promoted to T-5.

WARNS COURTS WON'T SHIELD MEN FROM ARMY

The Adams county courts cannot be used as a means of evading induction into the armed forces, Judge W. C. Sheely declared emphatically Saturday as he suggested that John H. Smith, Jr., Hanover R. 3, volunteer immediately for the armed forces or face court sentence in August.

Smith was accused by the court of using a court parole order to keep out of the army. It was charged that he stopped making payments on a $400 debt to his father, one condition of the parole, so that he would remain under the jurisdiction of the court and thus evade induction. Smith told the court he had tried to volunteer but that "somebody stopped it."

Smith's court record shows that he was arraigned in April court in 1943 on two charges of forgery involving checks totaling $200 and that he was sentenced to serve six months in jail. He served 60 days and was paroled on condition that he repay his father for the sums the latter had to lay out to compensate those who lost money by young Smith's forgeries.

Now Free to Enlist

In court Saturday young Smith admitted he has paid his father only about $80. His father was in court and agreed with Judge Sheely that military service is the best thing for his son. The parole order has been dismissed so that he is now free to enlist.

Charles Hartlaub, 23, Hanover R. 1, Adams county, and John M. Arentz, Jr., 19, Hanover R. 1, York county, were sentenced to White Hill school for boys on charges of burglary to which they had pleaded guilty. They admitted robbing the service station of William Eckenrode in Union township of cigarettes, ration stamps and cash after breaking into it on a night on which they had previously burglarized a Pennville service station in York county.

Mrs. Marie Bowers Carter, Littlestown, who had pleaded guilty to receiving some of the stolen cigarettes and cash, was placed on probation for two years on condition of good behaviour. She was allowed three months in which to pay the costs of her case.

Driver Gets 30 Days

Thomas Kimmel, Dover R. 3, was sent to jail for 30 days on a drunken driving charge on which he had pleaded guilty. The sentence is to date from the time of his arrest, July 1, by Pvt. George Ackerson of the state police. Kimmel told the court he had left a harvest field that afternoon to drive to York where he had some drinks and agreed to haul a soldier to Chambersburg as a favor. On the way home he was nabbed in Franklin township.

After a court hearing Merril Coffman, Hamiltonban township, was found not guilty on a charge of larceny of several chickens from L. D. Kauffman, Franklin county. The court ordered the prosecutor to pay the costs.

A pending larceny case against Richard Swain, Jr., New Oxford, was dismissed in view of his impending induction into the armed forces. If he is not inducted he will be returned to court. He was directed to pay the costs before entering service.

Court adjourned until next Saturday morning at 11 o'clock when a session will be held in the offices of Judge Sheely. The next open court is set for August 5.

Mrs. Natalie Keleman, Harrisburg, who was to have appeared before the court on burglary and larceny charges in thefts at Dale's tire shop and at an East Berlin seervice station, was returned to jail to be turned over to Berks county authorities where she is wanted on similar charges. Later she will return to Adams county for disposition of the local charges. She has been a prisoner in the county jail here for more than two weeks.

Elect New Member Of Fire Company

Gordon Moyer was elected a new member of the Gettysburg Fire company Wednesday evening at its July meeting held at the Firemen's Retreat in South Mountains.

S. Richard Eisenhart presented an incomplete report on the proceeds from the recent firemen's drive for funds and bazaar in the absence of the chairman of the bazaar committee, Donald C. Stallsmith. A complete report will be made at the August meeting it was stated.

The company voted to purchase an American flag and two rifles for the company color guard. Fifty members attended Wednesday's session at which President James B Aumen presided.

HITLER THREAT IS TYPICAL OF BESTIAL MIND SAYS OBSERVER

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Hitlerdom in its hour of desperation has cast aside its last pretense of civilized conduct and has served the world with the awful notice that in order to defend Germany it will turn Europe "into a maelstrom of destruction where only one cry is heard—the cry for blood."

The meaning of this barbaric declaration, which was broadcast yesterday by the German military radio, is terribly clear. The frustrated Fuehrer—abnormal-minded whelp of Prussian militarism—wants his enemies to believe that he is prepared to put civilian Europe to the sword and torch in an effort to force the Allies to make terms with the Reich.

Diabolical Project

No more diabolical project ever was conceived in the darkest ages, and if anybody but Hitler backed it in these days of supposed enlightment one would put it down as propaganda calculated to frighten the United Nations into a stampede. Probably the Nazi dictator hopes it will have this effect, but if it doesn't produce this result —what then?

We must examine the position in the dispassionate light of reason and with reference to past events. We can't dismiss it as an empty tthreat. It fits perfectly with the character Hitler has displayed in his beastial massacres of the helpless civilians in occupied countries and his enslavement of millions of others.

We have full proof from his past deeds that his evil heart won't stop at murder and devastation. I believe he is fully capable of undertaking to pull Europe down to destruction with him with all the horrors of a blood-bath.

Snarl of Wounded

The thing which might prevent this madness would be the refusal of the German people to countenance such a bloody course. Be that as it may, Hitler's threat in itself is enough to spur the United Nations to their utmost effort to smash as quickly as possible this monster and his Nazism and the Prussianism which has fostered his schemes in order to achieve the world domination that it has sought for generations.

This savage Hitlerian outburst is of course the snarl of the wounded beast at bay. The military broadcast makes that plain enough when it says:

"All now is at stake. The Russian flood is surging against our eastern frontier and threatens to spill over our holy German land. No wonder terror grips the heart of many of our people."

Hastening His End

How true that is! The Red flood is indeed sweeping westward across Europe with terrific force and speed. At latest reports it was rapidly nearing the border of east Prussia—"Holy German land" —breeding ground of Prussian Junkerism and militaristic aggression.

Meanwhile the Allied breakers are tearing at Hitler's southern front in Italy. The sea is reaching to engulf him from the west. The skies are deluging him with a storm of destruction so terrific that his military commanders admit it's beyond their skill to cope with it.

The Allies are closing in for the kill—no question about that. And Hitler's horrible threat can only have the effect of hastening his end.

OPA Invalidates All Gas Inventory Stamps

The Harrisburg district Office of Price Administration today announced invalidation of all gasoline inventory coupons as of last midnight.

All gasoline dealers are required to exchange inventory coupons on hand for deposit certificates. This exchange can be made at the dealer's local War Price and Rationing board on or before July 24.

The deposit certificates issued in exchange will be made negotiable, and are to be used by the dealers when purchasing gasoline from their suppliers, in the same manner as inventory coupons were formerly used. Suppliers will bank these certificates in the usual manner, under the procedure for handling ration evidence.

foot to put first. But the nation in spite of her difficulties has had her day of grace. The light of Christianity had been her guiding star, and the trust in God was the backbone of her spiritual life.

"When we look back to the past, we rejoice in the fact, that God has led this nation through all the awfulness of her difficulties. Volcanic eruptions wrought destruction, beautiful pasture lands were burned out. Here was polar-ice which hindered communication and put an icy blanket on the fertility of the land—and in addition to that plagues of disease caused untold suffering to the inhabitants.

Faith In Belief

"The nation was often in the past sorely perplexed, but she knew in whom she believed.

"In a conversation I had with your general the other day he mentioned to me one of the most famous spiritual events in the history of our land, and I am sure it will interest you to hear of it, because it tells of that unshakeable faith in God, which is described by our Lord as able even to remove mountains.

"When a great earthquake and eruption struck the southeastern part of our country, there happened to be at that moment a service taking place in a small country church, which was very close to the volcano. The burning hot lava rushed down from the volcano heading for the church. Death seemed to be certain for all the little congregation. The minister fully trusting God's powerful and leading hand continued the service, kneeling before the altar and praying with all his might that God would save him and his people. This prayer was heard. When the people came out of the church, they found, to their amazement that the flow of lava had separated and flowed on both sides leaving the church free from the burning fire. They prayed and thanked God for this obvious miracle. In this way God has often shown his loving kindness to the Icelandic people, and saved us, when we were in extremity. And therefore it is natural that we begin our national anthem in this way: "'O, God of our land, O God of our land.

We praise—we praise Thy holy name.'

"That nation who trusts in God knows where it stands. And the same applies to you, my friends.

And God Leads

"I know that sometimes the future seems very dark to a person. All is uncertainty and anxiety. But have you ever noticed how God leads even in small things.

"A tiny girl was taking a long journey, and in the course of the day her train had to cross a number of rivers. The water seen in the distance always awakened doubts and fears in the child. She could not understand how it could safely be crossed. As the train drew near each river, a bridge appeared and furnished the way over. Several times the same thing happened, and finally the child leaned back with a long breath of relief and confidence. Somebody has put bridges for us all the way she said. That is how we find it in life. God has built bridges for us all the way.

"We find God's bridges in the difficult places. Our Lord and Saviour has shown us this in his life, because he himself stood alone with God. He was not in the beginning acknowledged by men. The resting stone by the dusty Galilean wayside was his throne. But he rested in the hands of his heavenly Father.

"With You Always"

"He knew that God was with him, because he and God were one. Why was he able to sleep in the boat on the lake of Galilee? Because his Father was watching over him. He was with him when he was performing his mighty works. He was with him all the time, even on the cross. And you remember his parting words to his disciples: these words, which are also for you and for me: 'Behold, I am with you always even unto the end of the world.'

"And in him we have the assurance which gives us peace—the peace of God, which passeth all understanding and which fills our hearts with that love—which knows no end. So I again remind you of my text: 'And now behold, we are in thine hand.'

"You have come, my friends, over the great ocean to this country through the storm of war. You are separated from your homes and your loved ones. But be confident the great loving arm of our Saviour reaches you here as well as your friends at home. And remember that in prayer and supplication you can persevere in that hope which is his gift to you.

"The consciousness of the presence of God will give you courage to carry on in your endeavour to preserve freedom and liberty, and I will say to be faithful to the spiritual issues which mean so much to every man and to this war-stricken world. Have faith. Take courage. Be of good cheer. Be patient. God has a plan for every man—and he has one for you. You, my friends, are in his hands—everyone of you—and neither death nor life nor any other thing can separate you from the love of God which is in our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

"May God bless you and keep you, your loved ones, and everything which is near to you and dear to you. May God's almighty hand keep and protect you and your country forever.

"May His grace rest and abide with this erring and suffering world and bring peace and good will to mankind.

"Amen."

6,000 On Strike; 35,000 On Verge

(By The Associated Press)

The War Labor Board today was the center of attention involving two major labor disputes over wages.

One decision by the WLB caused a work stoppage of more than 6,000 war workers in 10 Chicago and Joliet, Illinois, can manufacturing plants, while a board's official report placed a threat of a strike vote over the nation's glass plants employing some 35,000 AFL union members.

The employes in the can manufacturing plants, engaged 100 per cent in war work, left their jobs yesterday in protest against the Sixth Regional War Labor Board's decision granting them only a portion of their wage demands.

The work stoppage was described by Gordon H. Kellogg, vice president of the American Can company, as endangering the highly perishable pea and cherry packs this season.

Part Of France Is Free, "Bastile Day"

London, July 14 (AP)—This was "Batille Day" in France, and in some sections of that country the Tricolor fluttered as proudly as it did before the Nazi conquest.

In the liberated portions of Normandy, the French held their first independence day observance in four years entirely free of German surveillance. American and British flags hung with the Tricolor from shellpocked buildings in Cherbourg, where at special ceremonies three Frenchmen were to receive the Croix de Guerre for their part in aiding British troops during early days of the invasion.

Spanish border reports said French underground forces planned a nationwide demonstration of strength, despite Vichy's stern admonition against any observances of the holiday.

YANKS SEIZE ITALIAN TOWN

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, July 14 (AP)—American troops knifed through fiercely defended German lines yesterday, captured the village of Pastina, 13 miles east southeast of Livorno (Leghorn), and drove on two miles through San Luce—almost due east of Livorno.

The thrust, paced by the 442nd Regimental Combat team composed of American soldiers of Japanese origin, followed a secondary highway midway between the Italian west coast and the Era valley, and threatened to outflank enemy strongholds on both those major routes to Livorno.

Equally significant gains in hard fighting were scored by French troops on the American right wing.

The embattled Frenchmen advanced two to 2½ miles northward from San Donato and captured San bimignano and the neighboring village of La Casette. This brought them to within 17 miles of the Arno river at Empoli, and tended to develop a threat to the flank of the defenders of Poggibonsi, five miles east of San Gimignano.

Minister Jailed; Refuses Probation

Los Angeles, July 14 (AP)—Rev. Glenn Smiley, a Methodist minister, has been sentenced to three years in Federal prison on his plea of guilty to charges of refusal to report to a conscientious objectors' camp.

"I think that the 2,000 boys killed on Saipan were closer to God than those in this room. They died so that universal love may really live."

Lt. John F. Sykes of Clearfield, Pa., member of the class of 1943 Gettysburg college, has been awarded the Air Medal since he was reported missing while serving as a navigator on a B-24 bomber with the U. S. 8th Airforce. His parents received the official citation last week.

Before entering the air force, Lt. Sykes was attached to communications and was stationed at Washington, D. C. Friends say he delivered in person to President Roosevelt the message of the fall of Bataan.

While at college here he was a member of the ATO social fraternity. He has three brothers and a sister in the service.

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Hitlerdom in its hour of desperation has cast aside its last pretense of civilized conduct and has served the world with the awful notice that in order to defend Germany it will turn Europe "into a maelstrom of destruction where only one cry is heard—the cry for blood."

The meaning of this barbaric declaration, which was broadcast yesterday by the German military radio, is terribly clear. The frustrated Fuehrer—abnormal-minded whelp of Prussian militarism—wants his enemies to believe that he is prepared to put civilian Europe to the sword and torch in an effort to force the Allies to make terms with the Reich.

Diabolical Project

No more diabolical project ever was conceived in the darkest ages, and if anybody but Hitler backed it in these days of supposed enlightment one would put it down as propaganda calculated to frighten the United Nations into a stampede. Probably the Nazi dictator hopes it will have this effect, but if it doesn't produce this result —what then?

We must examine the position in the dispassionate light of reason and with reference to past events. We can't dismiss it as an empty threat. It fits perfectly with the character Hitler has displayed in his beastial massacres of the helpless civilians in occupied countries and his enslavement of millions of others.

We have full proof from his past deeds that his evil heart won't stop at murder and devastation. I believe he is fully capable of undertaking to pull Europe down to destruction with him with all the horrors of a blood-bath.

Snarl of Wounded

The thing which might prevent this madness would be the refusal of the German people to countenance such a bloody course. Be that as it may, Hitler's threat in itself is enough to spur the United Nations to their utmost effort to smash as quickly as possible this monster and his Nazism and the Prussianism which has fostered his schemes in order to achieve the world domination that it has sought for generations.

This savage Hitlerian outburst is of course the snarl of the wounded beast at bay. The military broadcast makes that plain enough when it says:

"All now is at stake. The Russian flood is surging against our eastern frontier and threatens to spill over our holy German land. No wonder terror grips the heart of many of our people."

Hastening His End

How true that is! The Red flood is indeed sweeping westward across Europe with terrific force and speed. At latest reports it was rapidly nearing the border of east Prussia—"Holy German land" breeding ground of Prussian Junkerism and militaristic aggression.

Meanwhile the Allied breakers are tearing at Hitler's southern front in Italy. The sea is reaching to engulf him from the west. The skies are deluging him with a storm of destruction so terrific that his military commanders admit it's beyond their skill to cope with it.

The Allies are closing in for the kill—no question about that. And Hitler's horrible threat can only have the effect of hastening his end.

OPA Invalidates All Gas Inventory Stamps

The Harrisburg district Office of Price Administration today announced invalidation of all gasoline inventory coupons as of last midnight.

All gasoline dealers are required to exchange inventory coupons on hand for deposit certificates. This exchange can be made at the dealer's local War Price and Rationing board on or before July 24.

The deposit certificates issued in exchange will be made negotiable, and are to be used by the dealers when purchasing gasoline from their suppliers, in the same manner as inventory coupons were formerly used. Suppliers will bank these certificates in the usual manner, under the procedure for handling ration evidence.

LOCAL SOLDIER

foot to put first. But the nation in spite of her difficulties has had her day of grace. The light of Christianity had been her guiding star, and the trust in God was the backbone of her spiritual life.

"When we look back to the past, we rejoice in the fact, that God has led this nation through all the awfulness of her difficulties. Volcanic eruptions wrought destruction, beautiful pasture lands were burned out. Here was polar-ice which hindered communication and put an icy blanket on the fertility of the land—and in addition to that plagues of disease caused untold suffering to the inhabitants.

Faith In Belief

"The nation was often in the past sorely perplexed, but she knew in whom she believed.

"In a conversation I had with your general the other day he mentioned to me one of the most famous spiritual events in the history of our land, and I am sure it will interest you to hear of it, because it tells of that unshakeable faith in God, which is described by our Lord as able even to remove mountains.

"When a great earthquake and eruption struck—the southeastern part of our country, there happened to be at that moment a service taking place in a small country church, which was very close to the volcano. The burning hot lava rushed down from the volcano heading for the church. Death seemed to be certain for all the little congregation. The minister fully trusting God's powerful and leading hand continued the service, kneeling before the altar and praying with all his might that God would save him and his people. This prayer was heard. When the people came out of the church, they found, to their amazement that the flow of lava had separated and flowed on both sides leaving the church free from the burning fire. They prayed and thanked God for this obvious miracle. In this way God has often shown his loving kindness to the Icelandic people, and saved us, when we were in extremity. And therefore it is natural that we begin our national anthem in this way:

"'O, God of our land, O God of our land.
We praise—we praise Thy holy name.'

"That nation who trusts in God knows where it stands. And the same applies to you, my friends.

And God Leads

"I know that sometimes the future seems very dark to a person. All is uncertainty and anxiety. But have you ever noticed how God leads even in small things.

"A tiny girl was taking a long journey, and in the course of the day her train had to cross a number of rivers. The water seen in the distance always awakened doubts and fears in the child. She could not understand how it could safely be crossed. As the train drew near each river, a bridge appeared and furnished the way over. Several times the same thing happened, and finally the child leaned back with a long breath of relief and confidence. Somebody has put bridges for us all the way she said. That is how we find it in life. God has built bridges for us all the way.

"We find God's bridges in the difficult places. Our Lord and Saviour has shown us this in his life, because he himself stood alone with God. He was not in the beginning acknowledged by men. The resting stone by the dusty Galilean wayside was his throne. But he rested in the hands of his heavenly Father.

"With You Always"

"He knew that God was with him, because he and God were one. Why was he able to sleep in the boat on the lake of Galilee? Because his Father was watching over him. He was with him when he was performing his mighty works. He was with him all the time, even on the cross. And you remember his parting words to his disciples, these words, which are also for you and for me: 'Behold, I am with you always even unto the end of the world.'

"And in him we have the assurance which gives us peace—the peace of God, which passeth all understanding and which fills our hearts with that love—which knows no end. So I again remind you of my text: 'And now behold, we are in thine hand.'

"You have come, my friends, over the great ocean to this country through the storm of war. You are separated from your homes and your loved ones. But be confident the great loving arm of our Saviour reaches you here as well as your friends at home. And remember that in prayer and supplication you can persevere in that hope which is his gift to you.

"The consciousness of the presence of God will give you courage to carry on in your endeavour to preserve freedom and liberty, and I will say to be faithful to the spiritual issues which mean so much to every man and to this war-stricken world. Have faith. Take courage. Be of good cheer. Be patient. God has a plan for every man—and he has one for you. You, my friends, are in his hands—everyone of you—and neither death nor life nor any other thing can separate you from the love of God which is in our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

"May God bless you and keep you, your loved ones, and everything which is near to you and dear to you. May God's almighty hand keep and protect you and your country forever.

"May His grace rest and abide with this erring and suffering world and bring peace and good will to mankind.

"Amen."

By NOLAND NORGAARD

Rome, July 14 (AP)—American troops knifed through fiercely defended German lines yesterday, captured the village of Pastina, 13 miles east southeast of Livorno (Leghorn), and drove on two miles through San Luce—almost due east of Livorno.

The thrust, paced by the 442nd Regimental Combat team composed of American soldiers of Japanese origin, followed a secondary highway midway between the Italian west coast and the Era valley, and threatened to outflank enemy strongholds on both those major routes to Livorno.

Equally significant gains in hard fighting were scored by French troops on the American right wing.

The embattled Frenchmen advanced two to 2½ miles northward from San Donato and captured San bimignano and the neighboring village of La Casette. This brought them to within 17 miles of the Arno river at Empoli, and tended to develop a threat to the flank of the defenders of Poggibonsi, five miles east of San Gimignano.

Minister Jailed; Refuses Probation

Los Angeles, July 14 (AP)—Rev. Glenn Smiley, a Methodist minister, has been sentenced to three years in Federal prison on his plea of guilty to charges of refusal to report to a conscientious objectors' camp.

Refusing a plea of probation, U. S. District Judge Pierson M. Hall said:

"I think that the 2,000 boys killed on Saipan were closer to God than those in this room. They died so that universal love may really live."

Mrs. Remmel Heads WCTU Chapter Here

Mrs. Milton R. Remmel was elected president of the Gettysburg WCTU at the annual election held at a meeting Thursday evening at the home of Miss Carrie Musselman with the retiring president, Mrs. Emory Zepp, presiding. Miss Musselman conducted devotions.

The other officers named included: Vice president, Mrs. Zepp; secretary, Miss Musselman, and treasurer, Mrs. Cora Berkey. The subject for the evening program was "Wrestling Against the Power of Propaganda" and there were papers read on these topics: "Alcohol," "Alcohol in the War Emergency," and "Dressing for the Cocktail Lounge." A social hour followed the program. The August meeting will be held with Mrs. Berkey.

Missing Flyer Is Given Air Medal

Lt. John F. Sykes of Clearfield, Pa., member of the class of 1943 Gettysburg college, has been awarded the Air Medal since he was reported missing while serving as a navigator on a B-24 bomber with the U. S. 8th Airforce. His parents received the official citation last week.

Before entering the air force, Lt. Sykes was attached to communications and was stationed at Washington, D. C. Friends say he delivered in person to President Roosevelt the message of the fall of Bataan.

While at college here he was a member of the ATO social fraternity. He has three brothers and a sister in the service.

Must Show Tire Inspection Record

Applicants for supplemental gasoline allotments and for tires were reminded today by a ration board announcement that the tire inspection record for the vehicle involved must accompany each application.

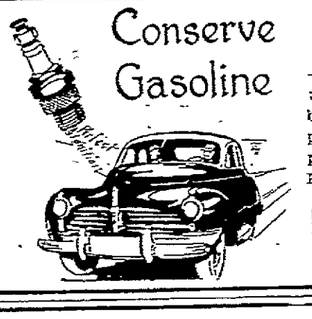

Although no inspection of tires is required for securing supplemental gasoline rations at the present time, the record belonging to a car for which extra gas or a new tire is asked must be sent to the ration board, the statement emphasized.

WATCH ANKARA FOR SHIFT TO ALLIED CAUSE

By FLORA LEWIS

Washington, July 14 (AP)—American officials watched Ankara closely today, as Anglo-American-Russian talks continued with Turkey to bring that important neutral closer to the Allies.

While it seems unlikely that the Turks will join the war against Germany at this stage, concrete developments to aid the United Nations and hit Germany appear in the offing.

First step may be a severance of Turkish economic relations with the Nazis, who are getting wool, silk, oil seeds, foodstuffs and certain critical materials from Turkey.

Without any fanfare, the Turks have already cut their overall trade with Germany by 50 percent, in addtion to the complete ban on chrome exports to the Nazis.

Threat To Nazis

Reports from Ankara have shown a sudden increase in diplomatic activity there, and it was learned here that three-way conversations have been going on with the Turks for three weeks now.

An Ankara dispatch said that German Ambassador Franz von Papen had left, which if true could indicate Nazi alarm at the rapidity with which Turkey is heading towards the Allies.

Turkey's key position of two years ago when Russia was fighting in the Caucasus and the British in north Africa, has now reversed so that abandonment of her neutrality could imperil the whole German system in the Balkans and speed the end of the war.

At present, Turkey is not getting any lend-lease from this country or Britain, and a resumption of military aid would give a tip-off as to how far the Turks decide to go.

Jo Kennedy Tops Soft Ball Hurlers

Fort Worth, Texas, July 14 (AP)—Jo Kennedy has four no-hit, no-run pitching performances this season—and she's running behind last year.

The 29-year old attractive brunet, who has helped make the Globe Aircraft corporation's softball team so strong it can't get in a league but just plays the champion for the right to enter the state tournament, rolled up 12 no-hit, no-run exhibitions in 1943.

Jo, the wife of Cpl. James T. Kennedy of Fort Worth Army Air Field, has pitched against—and humbled—some of the best teams in the country. As far back as 1940 she pitched a no-hit, no-run game in the national tournament at Detroit.

Globe has played 16 games this season with Mrs. Kennedy hurling all of them. She has won 14, lost 2.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Major Lyle J. Defenbaugh, Infantry, of Omaha, earned his Silver Star for gallantry in action in Tunisia. Under heavy machine gun fire aimed directly at his position, which silenced the radio, he disregarded all personal safety, and remained in full view of the enemy within close range to shout directions and orders to two of his companies. Our praise for his heroism is not enough, we must buy War Bonds and hold 'em.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 14 (AP)—You won't hear this mentioned very loudly, but one objection to Jack Zeller's latest proposal of moving baseball players up to the big leagues only through the draft route might be that it isn't quite legal. . . . That's a touchy subject in sports when club owners long have protected their interests through a sort of "job freezing." . . . But this corner recently cooked up an idea for dealing with high school and college kids through a system akin to the pro football "draft" (it sounded swell, too) only to hear from some wise baseball men that it infringed the player's rights and never would stand a legal test. . . . Zeller, incidentally, suggested the same sort of thing in connection with his newest anti-farm move and from here it appears that the two plans would come under the same general heading.

SAFETY FIRST?

The Dodgers are staging "scrap waste paper collection day" at Ebbets field when they play the Reds next Thursday and anyone bringing 25 pounds or more of paper can get in by paying only the tax. . . . Leave it to Branch Rickey to figure out that any guy lugging that much wouldn't bring anything to throw at the athletes.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

The Brookyn Tigers a suberyDioic

The Brooklyn Tigers are busy denying reports that all-America Creighton Miller has signed to play with them, arising from the fact that Miller has been visiting the night spots with Capt. Dan Topping and that Dan is tossing a press luncheon Monday. But its a cinch he will sign eventually. . . . Mike Cestone, the metropolitan amateur golf champion, plans to caddy for his 12-year-old son in the coming public links tournament at Branch Brook. That's really a postman's holiday. . . . As a result of Tuesday's clouting, the National league all-stars finally have a better batting average than the Americans. Over a 12-game stretch, the Nationals have hit .2518 and the junior leaguers .2506.

Organization of a Third Air Force football team is under way at Morris Field, Charlotte, N. C. It will be in a class with the big Randolph Field, Tex., outfit, the Second Air Force team from Colorado Springs and some of the tough Navy clubs it has scheduled. . . . Ens. George McAfee, recently appointed head of the physical training program for Navy V-12 trainees at the U. of Virginia, says he won't return to quarterback the Bears in the Chicago all-star grid game. No doubt the Bears wish he could. . . . While operating the sound truck at a recent Camp Ellis, Ill., baseball game, Pvt. Harry Schmale relized many a GI's wish. A hurry call came in and Schmale bellowed over the sound system: "Col. Stoke report to the announcer—immediately."

THEM'S FIGHTIN' WORDS

Lee Breaks Arm, But Hopes To Pitch Again

Chicago, July 14 (AP)—Thornton (Lefty) Lee, White Sox pitcher, whose services for the season were believed ended Sunday when he suffered a break in his left forearm when hit by a line drive, says he will be back in uniform in a couple of weeks, and will be ready for mound duty early in August.

The big southpaw, one of the two Sox lefties, said an examination disclosed that the break involved a small bone and that the injury has not impeded the movement of his elbow or fingers.

Mexico Building New Sports City

Mexico City, July 14 (AP)—A sports city with an area of six square blocks and offering some of the newest wrinkles in athletic facilities—including a swimming pool with artificial waves—is being constructed here.

The center will include an area with 14,000 seating capacity, where international fights will be held and where Mexico's first artificial ice will be installed. It will introduce a new sport here—ice skating and hockey.

Roger Cramer May Hurl For Tigers

Detroit, July 14 (AP) — Roger Cramer, who was a pitcher when Cy Perkins discovered him along the New Jersey coast nearly 20 years ago, may return to the mound for the Detroit Tigers.

Pressed for pitching talent during the current six-game four-day series with Chicago, Manager Steve O'Neill thought of the 38-year-old Cramer, who lost his outfield job when Dick Wakefield returned.

"Cramer is fast and he had a good curve," said O'Neill. "I think he should make a good pitcher."

2 ADMIRALS OF JAPAN LOST ON SAIPAN ISLAND

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, July 14 (AP)—Death amidst humiliating defeat at Saipan of the Japanese admiral who led the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor added weight today to Nippon's western Pacific reverses even as Tokyo radio betrayed increasing concern over Guam.

Adm. Chester W.Nimitz disclosed last night in a communique that Vice Adm. Chuichi Nagumo, who directed the blow which opened the Pacific war, and a vice admiral, perished along with 16,000 other Japanese on Saipan.

Nimitz in an earlier communique announced the ninth straight day of task force attacks on the former U. S. outpost of Guam and last night the Tokyo radio reported battleship and carrier plane blows extending these into the tenth day.

Tokyo said an American battleship twice bombarded Guam Thursday and a large formation of planes attacked the island.

Heavy Jap Loss

Nimitz' communique gave these attacks, by the same powerful fleet units which paced the invasion of Saipan, increased significance when he said:

"The seizure of Saipan constitutes a maor breach in the Japanese line of inner defenses, and it is our intention to capitalize upon this breach with all means available."

In other actions capitalizing on this beach, Marines have overrun a Jap garrison to win a tiny island guarding the entrance to Saipan's fine Tanapag harbor; and artillery and planes based on Saipan are neutralizing Nipponese plane and gun facilities on nearby Tinian.

He reported that Yanks, still cleaning up on Saipan have buried nearly 16,000 Japs with a good many yet to be buried. The Marines and soldiers also have added to the more than 1,000 soldiers and 9,000 civilians taken prisoner.

Search Thick Woods For Plane Wreckage

Manchester, N. H., July 14 (AP)—An Army search and rescue squad hacked its way through dense woods today toward the wreckage of a B-17 Flying Fortress on a hill north of the Rangeley lakes in Maine.

Fragments of the bomber were spotted from the air yesterday after an extensive search by 109 Army and Civil Air Patrol planes and an undisclosed number of Navy and Royal Canadian Air Force craft.

Wreckage first was seen by an observation plane from Grenier Field, Manchester, N. H., and Army authorities said it seemed "almost impossible that anybody survived the crash."

Army officials said the bomber reported in at Syracuse, N. Y., at 10:10 a. m. Tuesday enroute for Dow Field at Bangor, Me.

Price Of Canned Meat Will Be Cut

Washington, July 14 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration announced today that the cost of all canned meat would be reduced, effective August 4, by approximately 10 per cent of the value of raw meat included in such products.

Consumers will benefit by the new regulation, OPA pointed out, inasmuch as retail prices are fixed on a percentage mark-up over net cost.

The reductions made in the prices of canned meat follow the decrease of about 10 per cent which OPA previously made in other meat costs. The new regulation on canned meat establishes flat wholesale prices instead of the "freeze" previously in effect.

RED CROSS APPEAL

Geneva, Switzerland, July 14 (AP)—The International committee of the Red Cross, recalling that as early as 1940 it had appealed for the protection of civilian populations in war zones, made public today another call upon "all men and women of good will to exert influence so that irreparable wrong which human beings are inflicting upon humanity may now cease."

O'CONNOR WILL HEAD RED CROSS

Washington, July 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt Thursday appointed Basil O'Connor, head of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, as chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross to succeed the late Norman H. Davis.

O'Connor, former New York law partner of Mr. Roosevelt, will serve the remainder of a term expiring December 11 this year. Davis died several days ago.

"Mr. O'Connor is admirably qualified for this position," the President said in an accompanying statement, "because of his first hand knowledge of almost every part of the United States and because of his association with the medical and nursing problems through the years he has served as president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Indict Socialist For Evading Draft

Topeka, Kans., July 14 (AP)—Arthur Billings of Delphos, Kans., socialist candidate for United States senator and principal in a draft law test which went to the U. S. supreme court, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of failing and refusing to report for induction.

The term "refusing" was inserted in the jury's report Wednesday at Billing's request. He said recently he wanted it clear "that I actually refused to submit to induction."

Billings, a onetime University of Texas economics professor, is a former member of the American embassy in Moscow.

NO AIR RIFLES TODAY

Watervliet, N. Y. (AP) — The Watervliet arsenal, home of giant 16-inch guns and all Army cannon, received a request from 14-year-old Nick Leone, Schenectady, for a "bee-bee run—a repeater," if possible.

The arsenal was sorry, but it couldn't fill the order.

Seeks to Maintain Sovereign Rights

Little Rock, Ark., July 14 (AP)—Governor Homer M. Adkins' proposal for calling a post-war constitutional convention to maintain sovereign rights of the states was endorsed by four of the 25 governors who responded to the executive's letter outlining the plan.

They were Gov. Andrew F. Schoeppel of Kansas, Gov. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, Gov. Edward J. They of Minnesota and Gov. John C. Vivian of Colorado, who said he would bring the suggestion before Colorado's general assembly next January if the movement gained momentum.

Nearly all of the governors agreed on the necessity for curtailing federal encroachment on state rights, but reserved comment on the convention to submit a constitutional amendment.

MAN IS ELECTROCUTED

Uniontown, Pa., July 14 (AP) — Paul Myorski, 38, of nearby Ralph, was electrocuted Wednesday when he picked up a wire that had fallen from a pole during an electrical storm, the coroner reported. Near Kittanning, lightning struck the barn of Joseph Fritz, setting it afire and causing $12,000 damage.

RED CROSS WILL GIVE NUTRITION COURSES HERE

To help develop a trained canteen Corps and to make valuable nutrition instruction available to interested women in this community the Adams county chapter of the Red Cross has decided to offer a 10-lesson course in nutrition, it was announced today by Mrs. R S Saby, Canteen and nutrition chairman for the chapter

The first meeting of the course will be held Wednesday, July 19, from 3 to 5 p. m. in the Red Cross rooms in the Topper building on Baltimore street. The course is open to the public and interested women are urged to attend the opening lecture regardless of whether they expect to enroll for the entire course.

"The National Red Cross urges all chapters to set up nutrition courses and to develop a trained Canteen Corps as part of the volunteer special services," Mrs Saby said. "The national Red Cross requires a course in nutrition as a foundation for the Canteen course.

At Request Of National

"Trained Canteen Corps members are prepared to serve at the Blood Plasma unit, in time of disaster, or at any public function requiring large quantity feeding. The course which will open July 19 has been planned to meet the requests of the national Red Cross organization

"Such a course would indicate the essentials of good nutrition, menus, planning for different age groups and special food problems of diet in disease, and for over and underweight persons. It is open to anyone interested and should especially appeal to those who might be interested in continuing the training for the canteen group Lecturers on special topics will be sectured."

Persons expecting to take the course are asked to register either with the Red Cross office or with Mrs. Saby so that text books may be secured in advance of the opening of the course.

Mrs Saby said that the first meeting will be held in the afternoon but that later sessions will be arranged to suit the convenience of the class members as far as is possible

Mrs Olive S Hamm, wife of Dr Anson Hamm, Fairfield high school principal, has resigned her position as a member of the price panel of the Gettysburg Rationing board. It was announced Monday Mrs Hamm was appointed to the board March 1

Mrs. Hamm's splendid services to the board, were praised by W C Young, acting district director of the OPA in a letter sent to Mrs Hamm and the Gettysburg board following her resignation While no appointment has been made as yet to the price panel to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation Miss Marian Biggs, Orrtanna, has been appointed as an assistant to the price panel to represent the Fuel Field-Orrtanna section

The board also announced Monday the appointment of Miss Jane Wolff daughter of Mr and Mrs C. Richard Wolff Gettysburg as junior clerk for the board filling the position held by Mrs. Paul Brown. Biglerville who has been promoted to price clerk to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs J Benner Wolfe Gettysburg

Soldier Known Here Is Killed In Pacific

Lieut. Edmund Redding Jr grandson of the late George and Annie Cole, of the Narrows, has been killed in action with the infantry on Biak island in the Pacific, according to word received by relatives in Biglerville and Arendtsville

Sent overseas in January, Lieutenant Redding is survived by his widow and by his parents, who live in Williamsburg, Pa. He was married in September, 1943 His mother is the former Miss Bernadetta Cole of the Narrows, and he frequently visited this section with his parents

RAIN SMASHES HEAT WAVE AND DROUGHT HERE

The hottest day of the year—Wednesday—ended by breaking the drought that had held this section of the county in its grip for 22 days previously

The mercury at the Arendtsville laboratories recored 97 degrees Wednesday and the thermometer of Dr. Henry Stewart, local observer, registered 96, the hottest day this summer

Nearly one-half inch of rain fell in a general shower that began about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening and continued intermittently throughout the night.

At Gettysburg .47 of an inch of rain fell and at Arendtsville .49 of an inch was recorded. The shower was the first measurable rain to fall in Gettysburg since June 20 and the first measurable rainfall at Arendtsville since June 29 when .18 of an inch was recorded. It was the first "good rain" recorded at Arendtsville since May 7 when over an inch was recorded.

Need More Rain

While clouds hanging densely in the county's skys gave promise today that the county may have more rainfall, weather observers held that the precipitation last night, while helpful, still was not sufficient to soak into the ground and overcome the lack of rain that has existed since this spring The rainfall, they pointed out, was good for grass and victory gardens, which were burned considerably by the drought, but did not get deep enough to do much good for the larger crops and orchards.

While no estimate can be made as to the damage done to the crops much loss has been experienced by cherry growers due to the smaller size of the cherries brought about by the drought, at least one observer held today. Apples and peaches are also smaller, it was said, and unless a tremendous amount of rain falls within the next few weeks the apple and peach crops will be much smaller than they would ordinarily be. The cumulative effect of the present summer's drought on top of a similar drought last summer will cut the size of both apples and peaches to a great extent, it was said. Trees, which have not recovered from last summer's drought are being greatly damaged by the current dry weather, it was felt.

The thermometer fell to 71 degrees during the night and was standing at the 75 mark at noon today at the Arendtsville laboratories, but most countians who were remaining indoors felt it was hot as ever with the humidity a nice 75, just enough to make "it isn't the heat—it's the humidity" as true a statement as was ever uttered.

COLEMAN HEADS SCOUT GROUP

Dr. J Walter Coleman, superintendent of the Gettysburg National park, was elected chairman of the joint Rotary and Lions club Boy Scout committee at an organization meeting Monday evening at the YWCA.

W. M. RAILROAD EXONERATED IN MYERS' DEATH

That Charles Raymond Myers, 61, of Iron Springs, was trespassing on railroad property and that the accident which caused his death at 11:55 a. m., July 1, was unavoidable as far as the railroad company and train crew were concerned was decided Saturday afternoon by a coroner's jury following an inquest, held by Coroner S D Shull in Chambersburg

Myers came to his death, the verdict said, as the result of injuries he received when struck by a locomotive of the Western Maryland Railway Company of which E. F. Selby of Hagerstown was engineer. "We believe, first," said the jury, "that Charles Myers was trespassing on the premises of the Western Maryland Railway Co. at the time of his death, and secondly, we believe that it was an unavoidable accident and do therefore exonerate the Western Maryland Railway Co. and train crew."

Saw Object On Track

G. W Warrenfeltz, Funkstown, Md., fireman on the locomotive, testified his attention was called by Paul Arnold, Baltimore, an employe of the W. M. R. R. Co, who was riding in the engine, to an object on the track as the locomotive rounded a sharp curve.

Lt. E. J. Chapman, Hagerstown, of the W. M. R. R. police, had previously testified that the accident had happened between Monterey and Charmain, about one-fourth of a mile west of Charmain crossing, and at a point where a 40-foot embankment, covered with heavy underbrush would have obscured the vision of the train crew for a distance of 330 feet

The 30-car loaded freight train was descending a steep grade. Chapman said that the train dragged portions of Myers' body for 429 feet and that his body was still caught on the locomotive when it stopped.

The police officer fixed the scene of the accident as between Myers' home, which was four or five miles away, and the place of his employment, one and a half to two miles away

Warrenfeltz said Selby blew the whistle as soon as the man was seen on the tracks. The train, estimated by crewmen to have been traveling 20 or 21 miles an hour, was within 75 feet of Myers when it was recognized as a man. Selby immediately applied the emergency brakes and "dropped sand," to provide traction for stopping, he said.

Warrenfeltz tesified that Myers was sitting on the inside of the right rail, with his feet on the outside of the track. His head and chest the fireman said, appeared to be lying on his legs.

RATIONED CARS ARE ANNOUNCED

All 1942 hard-top cars with a factory list price of between $1,500 and $2,500 and also 1942 convertible soft-top cars with a list price up to $2,500 will be rationed on the same basis as the popular lower-priced hard-top automobiles beginning July 10, the OPA announced last Friday.

Eligibility requirements for these cars have been more liberal than for the lower-priced hard-top cars. Formerly any person could get a certificate for a hard-top car with a list price up to $2,500 if the car was needed for a gainful occupation or for work contributing to the war effort or public welfare This was because these cars were in less demand in the earlier period of rationing than the lower-priced models.

The liberal requirements have been revoked to conserve the remaining small supply of cars for persons whose needs are considered more essential.

The requirements for cars selling for $2,500 or more and 1941 cars driven less than 1,000 miles remain unchanged.

Applicants for all rationed passenger cars with a list price under $2,500 must show they need an automobile principally for one or more listed occupations essential to the war effort or to the public welfare, such as doctors, ministers and war workers.

THOMAS MAKES APPEAL FOR E BOND BUYING

Adams county is $311,300 short of its "E" bond quota of $650,000, Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the county War Finance committee, announced today.

Sales of this issue of bonds through July 10th totaled $338,700.

Mr. Thomas said: "It is most important that we reach our quota in the sale of E bonds. Our unsold balance is not too great. If each Adams countian purchased about $8 worth of bonds on an average before July 31st we will reach our goal.

"I don't feel that it is asking too much of our good people to support our government to this extent, especially in view of our successes in Normandy and Italy. Our fighting forces need every bit of financial help we can give them and I am hopeful that Adams county will fulfill its obligation to this extent."

Total sales of all types of bonds through July 10th were announced today at $3,473,000. This represents an over-subscription of $675,000, the largest "over - the - top" figures achieved in any previous bond drive in this county.

From the Women's Division of the War Finance committee came this statement this morning:

"On behalf of the Women's Division of the War Finance committee we want to express our appreciation to the various organizations and women who sponsored and worked at the bond booth in the First National bank building and also to the many women who have worked so hard at selling individual bonds. All have done a grand job.

"We especially urge, however, that an extra effort be made to sell more individual bonds so that our quota for those bonds may be reached by July 31st We ask that all such sales be reported to the headquarters booth at the Hotel Gettysburg. This booth will be open each day from 9.30 a. m. to 5 p. m., through July 31st."

The statement was signed by Mrs. Henry T. Bream and Mrs Frank Kramer.

SAYS CAMP IS TO BE CLOSED

Camp George M. Sharpe, the former CCC camp site on the battlefield which was occupied by the U. S Army last November 9 and has been in use continuously since that time, will be converted to a work camp for farm laborers about August 1, Robert Edwards, camp director for the state Emergency Farm Labor committee stated Friday.

Mr. Edwards said that plans call for the closing of the labor camps now being operated in the Arendtsville high school and Biglerville grade school buildings at the end of this month with the close of the cherry season.

Other workers will be brought here for the peach and tomato and possibly the apple seasons, he said, and will be quartered at the present site of Camp Sharpe. Present plans call for continuation of the work camp at Cross Keys inn, he said.

Maj John T Jarecki, commander at Camp Sharpe, said he cannot confirm or deny the statement that the army camp will be discontinued by the end of this month.

More than 85 enrolled for this course.

This year, for the second time during the war period, three major programs are in session simultaneously at Penn State. The regular summer semester devoted to undergraduate work has already started, and the special program for military and naval trainees also is underway.

MAN DROWNS AT PINE GROVE

Vincent Anello, 26, a Letterkenny Ordnance Depot employe, drowned Sunday afternoon at Fuller's Lake, Pine Grove Furnace, Dr. E. A. Haegele, Cumberland county coroner, reported last night.

Anello, swimming along about 150 yards from the diving board in the deep abandoned iron ore hole, was seen diving and swimming for about 15 minutes by other bathers.

He shouted for help and sank in about 20 feet of water, it was reported by Miss Josephine Paxton, of Boiling Springs, who was the last person to see him before he went below the surface of the water.

Nearby swimmers, who began diving for the body immediately, included many servicemen spending the day there. Two Army men, Capt. R. M. Bailey, of the Carlisle Medical Barracks, and Sgt George A. Houghton, of Rehoboth Beach, Delaware, rescued the body after diving about 25 minutes.

Dr. W. H. Burgin, of New Cumberland, pronounced him dead after Seaman First Class Lawrence Solenberger, who gave a San Francisco Fleet Post Office address, and several others attempted to revive him with artifical respiration.

Anello, who resided at 204 Fifth avenue, Chambersburg, was a native of Baltimore. There are no known survivors, the coroner reported.

NEED 30 MORE BLOOD DONORS FOR JULY CALL

The Adams County Blood Donor service issued an urgent call today for 30 new volunteers to give their first pint of blood here on Monday afternoon, July 31, the next Red Cross Blood Donor day in Gettysburg.

Various causes have reduced the Blood Donor file by several hundred persons. Some have moved away, others are not available for additional donations now for many reasons but the largest group includes those who ignored the last two appointments given them.

When two consecutive appointments are given a donor and he or she does not report at the donor station and does not notify the Blood Donor Service chairman, Radford H. Lippy, that he wishes to be kept on the list, the name is dropped.

To meet the shortage in the donor file, new volunteers must come forward to offer their blood to help meet the tremendous demand from Allied battlefronts for the life-giving plasma needed in ever larger quantities.

Seek 160 Pints

The dropping of the names of persons who fail to respond is intended to increase the percentage of volunteers who appear to give blood. Last month 240 county men and women held appointments and 112 gave blood.

In an effort to make sure that the quota of 160 pints of blood will be met July 31, the county Donor Service unit expects to give appointments to about 270 persons. To be able to get enough donors in the county each month—allowing the required interval of at least two months between donations — new donors must offer their help.

Red Cross reports from many parts of the nation show many persons fail to keep their appointments through carelessness or neglect but at the same time many members of servicemen's families in all parts of the land are eagerly offering their blood to make sure their sons or brothers or husbands in the service will get plasma if they need it — and to repay others for giving blood that saved the lives of their wounded kin.

Failure to maintain a steady supply of blood for plasma would result in gravest complications on the battlefronts, Red Cross workers point out.

ROBERT HILTY NOW IN ACTION

In a letter to his mother, Mrs Elizabeth Hilty, residing in Gettysburg, Pfc. Robert Hilty reveals that he had been in France and escaped unscathed in the recent invasion. The letter was written June 24.

He says, in part, "I am this far and I know some one was praying for us I made it through the invasion all right but it was plenty hot. Just think, you have a son with a lot of experience at fighting and also a Presidential citation. We beat the record they made in the last World War."

In a previous letter written from France June 21, Pfc. Hilty stated: "I am writing this letter up on the front lines and if there are any mistakes I hope you will overlook them because at times things are pretty hot I am now in plenty of action I guess Dad has nothing on me.

Order 3,000 Sets Of G-I Ballots

Three thousand military ballot sets were ordered from the state Wednesday by the Adams county commissioners at their regular meeting at the court house.

Approximately 2,500 of the sets will be sent to soldiers and sailors from the county elegible for the military ballot while the remainder will be sent to the 42 election districts in the county so that any member of the armed forces home on leave who wish can vote at his regular election house in November.

Youth Who Saved Athletes Wounded

The name of Corporal Maynard O. Otstot, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Otstot, Shepherdstown, is included in a recent War Department list of casualties. He was wounded in action in the Mediterranean theater, probably in Italy.

Corporal Otstot, a veteran of the African, Sicilian and Italian invasions, was credited with saving the lives of a number of Lemoyne high school athletes who were riding to Adams county for a basketball game in March, 1939, when he discovered their bus was afire, drove his car past the bus and stopped it in time for the passengers to escape the flames. The bus was destroyed.

An Evening Thought

The happiness of life depends less upon what befalls us than upon the way in which we take it. —Lavater.

Just Folks

CRANKMIRE ON GRUMBLING

Old Crankmire heard us grumblers all;
"Too high the tax, our tasks too great,
Too many trials, large and small!"
And pushing by his cup and plate,
He banged the table and he said:
"With shame your faces should be red!

"Suppose unto this table now
Could come the humblest boy who died
To sit with us, and tell us how
He gave his life on freedom's side,
Would one of you look up and say:
'I worked eight hours many a day'?

"Suppose a blue star changed to gold,
And you were asked to visit there,
To sit at table, and be told
How glad he was to do his share,
Will you reply to talk so brave:
'I walked a mile some gas to save'?

"Suppose when victory is won
(And oh I pray that soon may be)
There will return a neighbor's son
Whose eyes again will never see,
Will you (dear God forbid the thought!)
Remind him of the bonds you bought?

"You answer: 'Soldiers grumble, too!"
If so, theirs is the better right.
They have the suffering to do;
They stand to battle day and night;
They do their duty, though they die;
Their grumbling they can justify."

Today's Talk

THOSE AUSTRALIANS

The bravery exampled in this war for Freedom is beyond all adequate description. Our boys are fighting bravely everywhere. They are immortal heroes! I think, however, that a special tribute shoulti be paid to "those Australians" who have endeared themselves to the world forever—and especially to their own brave country.

On every important front—and what front is not important?—these men have been found battling with unbelievable courage and determination—taking their temporary defeats without a whimper, and always returning to fight again. On their own home grounds, in the Pacific, along the burning shores of the Mediterranean, in the sands of Egypt, in Greese and the Far East. The enemy respects "those Australians."

It is heartening to know that people all over the world are going to learn about the kind of people who live in Australia, and the vast possibilities of that great country, after this tragic war is over, as never before. Its possibilities are tremendous. That country and its people have done a real job. And they will do wonders in the years to come.

I was fortunate to have heard an inspiring talk by the Premier of Australia, the Hon. John Curtin, recently in Washington. His leadership has been remarkable. He is a man of deep human understanding, clear in vision, and with high purposes. He is the leader of the Labor Party in Australia, but he represents all the people of that great Commonwealth. During this war he has emphasized that minorities cannot be allowed any privileges that are not shared by all the people. That's why all Australia is backing him up.

The American leader, General MacArthur, has had the fullest cooperation with the Australian leaders, and they have worked with him as one man. Confidence has reigned supreme. The full story of "those Australians" and the services rendered by that young country, during this war for total Freedom, is going to be one of the most inspiring that will be written when peace comes.

Well, all I can say is: God bless "those Australians" and God bless Australia!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Prayer"

EXPECT ACTION IN SELECTION OF FDR'S MATE

(By The Associated Press)

Predictions by Democratic leaders that "the boys will have a little fun" in choosong a vice presidential candidate and that "it's not going to be a cut and dried convention" pointed today to a lively time at next week's Chicago gathering.

These forecasts, the first by Governor Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, the convention keynoter, and the second by Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, came as politicians still awaited the expected pat on the back from the White House for Henry A. Wallace, who wants to be President Roosevelt's running mate again.

With time running out fast—the convention is to meet Wednesday and to ballot for the vice presidential nomination one week from today—there were these other developments:

Barkley In Race

(1) Henry Ward, associate editor of the Paducah, Ky., Sun-Democrat and a close friend of Senator Alben Barkley, said that Barkley has approved a plan for his name to be presented for the job Wallace now holds and to be kept in nomination until a candidate is named.

(2) The CIO political action committee emerged at Washington into the National citizens political action committee, out to work for the reelection of a Roosevelt-Wallace ticket and for the election of a "progressive congress."

Chairman Sidney Hillman and President Philip Murray of the CIO said they are committed to Wallace "and we have no second choice." Hillman called Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, "the spokesman for (Herbert Hoover."

(3) Dewey declared in an Albany speech, "one of the big tasks of the next few years will be to bring government closer to the people and to bring the people closer to the practice of self-govrnment." And, he said, "That we shall succeed in restoring government that is close to the people I have no doubt."

Sees German Robot Headed For Germans

Somewhere in France, June 19 (Delayed) (AP)—Flying bombs of the type now descending on London have been sent against troops on the American beachhead.

At least one has been identified by aviation ordnance officers and parts of another have been found.

It is difficult to tell the new Nazi bomb from a heavy shell when it hits, particularly in areas under intense gunfire.

MONETARY PACT EXPECTED SOON

Bretton Woods, N. H., July 14—The United Nations monteary conference turned down an anti-climactic pathway today without yet having reached its climax.

Russia remained the center of attention, but its final accession to an Anglo-American stand was so generally regarded as only a matter of time that yesterday's failure to reach final agreement on plans for a postwar monetary fund caused no stir.

Official assurances placed at "fewer than the fingers on one hand" the number of points still to be discussed, although one of them admittedly was the matter of quotas that has snarled the conference for more than a week.

Thus, Moscow failed by the close of yesterday's session—that was to have wound up the monetary fund discussions—to reply to a "strong request" from the American delegation. That request was for a final stand on the amount of gold she would be willing to kick into the multi-billion-dollar project designed to stabilize currencies and promote world trade.

Groom Detained In His Quarters

Miami, Fla., July 14 (AP)—Screen actress Gail Patrick's bridegroom, Navy Lieut. Arnold Dean White, was confined to bachelors' quarters by his commanding officer and a postponed honeymoon was in prospect today for the newlyweds.

Lt. Comdr. H. F. Webster, acting commandant of the Naval Air Transport base here, said that White was confined to quarters for 10 days for going to Jacksonville without leave.

Miss Patrick and Lieut. White were married Tuesday in All Saints' Protestant Episcopal chapel at the Jacksonville Naval Air station.

NEW WAR SLOGAN

Near St. Lo, France, July 14 (AP)—The Allied advance in Normandy has been slowed by hedgerows, natural obstacles which must be reduced one at a time if the enemy makes a determined defense. One officer jested today: "Our slogan is: The Russians in Paris, the British in Caen, and the Americans in St. Lo—by Christmas."

The war department reported Goodson, whose home is in Toronto, Canada, failed to return from a mission over Germany June 20.

Roosevelt

between them made a number of hunting trips to out-of-the-way places throughout the world.

In the last war he fought in France with the First Infantry Division—the division always closest to his heart. Starting as a major he finished as a colonel and was wounded three times.

In this war, as the First Division's deputy commanding general, he rode in the forefront of its amphibious assault landings in Algeria and Sicily. Later he served in Sardinia, Corsica and Italy as liaison officer with the French.

"Battle Casualty"

The general landed with the first wave of invasion troops.

"General Roosevelt really was a battle casualty," said Maj. Gen. R. O. Barton, the Fourth Division commander. "All day long he rode the lines. He spared himself nothing. In fact, he had been out at command posts cheering the men, helping commanders and helping me."

REJECT MERIT AWARDS

Harrisburg, July 14 (AP)—Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchison, state Defense Council director, and his deputy, A. Boyd Hamilton, have turned down merit awards from the national defense headquarters, saying such honors should be reserved for men on fighting fronts.

LIMIT 9-1 VOTE

Santa Fe, N .M., July 14 (AP)—A special New Mexico legislature Wednesday completed enactment of a law to permit electors absent with the armed forces to vote for president, vice president and members of Congress. State supreme court decisions have ruled out absentee balloting on state officials.

LINDY IN PACIFIC

Somewhere in the Southwest Pacific, July 14 (AP) — Charles A. Lindbergh is now working as a technical aviation expert on the Hollandia airdrome in New Guinea, seized last spring from the Japanese, a dispatch of Aneta, official Netherlands news agency, said today.

Urges Arrest Of 50,000 Gestapo

London, July 14 (AP)—Lord Vansittart, exponent of harsh dealing with the Germans, demanded in the house of lords Thursday that 50,000 members of the Gestapo (secret police) be imprisoned after the war "until the Allies decide which of them should be executed and which deported to some destination like Devil's Island."

The former permanent undersecretary of the foreign office estimated there are 200,000 members of the Gestapo. He said the Allies should take a fourth of them as "the first instalment."

BEATS 4 OPPONENTS

Seattle, July 14 (AP)—Republican Gov. Arthur B. Langlie's renomination vote climbed Thursday on basis of unofficial primary election returns from 2,549 out of 3,164 precincts, to more than 35,000 above the combined total of four other gubernatorial candidates of both major parties.

HITLER HELPS ALLIES

Los Angeles (AP)—The Times asked 100 men on the street what individual is helping the Allied war effort most. Eisenhower was first choice and GI Joe got votes, but one man observed:

WATCH ANKARA FOR SHIFT TO ALLIED CAUSE

By FLORA LEWIS

Washington, July 14 (AP)—American officials watched Ankara closely today, as Anglo-American-Russian talks continued with Turkey to bring that important neutral closer to the Allies.

While it seems unlikely that the Turks will join the war against Germany at this stage, concrete developments to aid the United Nations and hit Germany appear in the offing.

First step may be a severance of Turkish economic relations with the Nazis, who are getting wool, silk, oil seeds, foodstuffs and certain critical materials from Turkey.

Without any fanfare, the Turks have already cut their overall trade with Germany by 50 percent, in addion to the complete ban on chrome exports to the Nazis.

Threat To Nazis

Reports from Ankara have shown a sudden increase in diplomatic activity there, and it was learned here that three-way conversations have been going on with the Turks for three weeks now.

An Ankara dispatch said that German Ambassador Franz von Papen had left, which if true could indicate Nazi alarm at the rapidity with which Turkey is heading towards the Allies.

Turkey's key position of two years ago when Russia was fighting in the Caucasus and the British in north Africa, has now reversed so that abandonment of her neutrality could imperil the whole German system in the Balkans and speed the end of the war.

At present, Turkey is not getting any lend-lease from this country or Britain, and a resumption of military aid would give a tip-off as to how far the Turks decide to go.

Jo Kennedy Tops Soft Ball Hurlers

Fort Worth, Texas, July 14 (AP)—Jo Kennedy has four no-hit, no-run pitching performances this season—and she's running behind last year.

The 29-year old attractive brunet, who has helped make the Globe Aircraft corporation's softball team so strong it can't get in a league but just plays the champion for the right to enter the state tournament, rolled up 12 no-hit, no-run exhibitions in 1943.

Jo, the wife of Cpl. James T. Kennedy of Fort Worth Army Air Field, has pitched against—and humbled—some of the best teams in the country. As far back as 1940 she pitched a no-hit, no-run game in the national tournament at Detroit.

Globe has played 16 games this season with Mrs. Kennedy hurling all of them. She has won 14, lost 2.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Major Lyle J. Defenbaugh, Infantry, of Omaha, earned his Silver Star for gallantry in action in Tunisia. Under heavy machine gun fire aimed directly at his position, which silenced the radio, he disregarded all personal safety, and remained in full view of the enemy within close range to shout directions and orders to two of his companies. Our praise for his heroism is not enough, we must buy War Bonds and hold 'em.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, July 14 (AP)—You won't hear this mentioned very loudly, but one objection to Jack Zeller's latest proposal of moving baseball players up to the big leagues only through the draft route might be that it isn't quite legal. . . . That's a touchy subject in sports when club owners long have protected their interests through a sort of "job freezing." . . . But this corner recently cooked up an idea for dealing with high school and college kids through a system akin to the pro football "draft" (it sounded swell, too) only to hear from some wise baseball men that it infringed the player's rights and never would stand a legal test. . . . Zeller, incidentally, suggested the same sort of thing in connection with his newest anti-farm-move-and-from here it appears that the two plans would come under the same general heading.

SAFETY FIRST?

The Dodgers are staging "scrap waste paper collection day" at Ebbets field when they play the Reds next Thursday and anyone bringing 25 pounds or more of paper can get in by paying only the tax. . . . Leave it to Branch Rickey to figure out that any guy lugging that much wouldn't bring anything to throw at the athletes.

The Brooklyn Tigers a suberyDioic

The Brooklyn Tigers are busy denying reports that all-America Creighton Miller has signed to play with them, arising from the fact that Miller has been visiting the night spots with Capt. Dan Topping and that Dan is tossing a press luncheon Monday. But its a cinch he will sign eventually. . . . Mike Cestone, the metropolitan amateur golf champion, plans to caddy for his 12-year-old son in the coming public links tournament at Branch Brook. That's really a postman's holiday. . . . As a result of Tuesday's clouting, the National league all-stars finally have a better batting average than the Americans. Over a 12-game stretch, the Nationals have hit .2518 and the junior leaguers .2506.

Organization of a Third Air Force football team is under way at Morris Field, Charlotte, N. C. It will be in a class with the big Randolph Field, Tex., outfit, the Second Air Force team from Colorado Springs and some of the tough Navy clubs it has scheduled. . . . Ens. George McAfee, recently appointed head of the physical training program for Navy V-12 trainees at the U. of Virginia, says he won't return to quarterback the Bears in the Chicago all-star grid game. No doubt the Bears wish he could. . . . While operating the sound truck at a recent Camp Ellis, Ill., baseball game, Pvt. Harry Schmale relized many a GI's wish. A hurry call came in and Schmale bellowed over the sound system: "Col. Stoke report to the announcer—immediately."

THEM'S FIGHTIN' WORDS

Lee Breaks Arm, But Hopes To Pitch Again

Chicago, July 14 (AP)—Thornton (Lefty) Lee, White Sox pitcher, whose services for the season were believed ended Sunday when he suffered a break in his left forearm when hit by a line drive, says he will be back in uniform in a couple of weeks, and will be ready for mound duty early in August.

The big southpaw, one of the two Sox lefties, said an examination disclosed that the break involved a small bone and that the injury has not impeded the movement of his elbow or fingers.

Mexico Building New Sports City

Mexico City, July 14 (AP)—A sports city with an area of six square blocks and offering some of the newest wrinkles in athletic facilities—including a swimming pool with artificial waves—is being constructed here.

The center will include an area with 14,000 seating capacity, where international fights will be held and where Mexico's first artificial ice will be installed. It will introduce a new sport here—ice skating and hockey.

Roger Cramer May Hurl For Tigers

Detroit, July 14 (AP) — Roger Cramer, who was a pitcher when Cy Perkins discovered him along the New Jersey coast nearly 20 years ago, may return to the mound for the Detroit Tigers.

Pressed for pitching talent during the current six-game four-day series with Chicago, Manager Steve O'Neill thought of the 38-year-old Cramer, who lost his outfield job when Dick Wakefield returned.

"Cramer is fast and he had a good curve," said O'Neill. "I think he should make a good pitcher."

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, July 14 (AP)—Death amidst humiliating defeat at Saipan of the Japanese admiral who led the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor added weight today to Nippon's western Pacific reverses even as Tokyo radio betrayed increasing concern over Guam.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz disclosed last night in a communique that Vice Adm. Chuichi Nagumo, who directed the blow which opened the Pacific war, and a vice admiral, perished along with 16,000 other Japanese on Saipan.

Nimitz in an earlier communique announced the ninth straight day of task force attacks on the former U. S. outpost of Guam and last night the Tokyo radio reported battleship and carrier plane blows extending these into the tenth day.

Tokyo said an American battleship twice bombarded Guam Thursday and a large formation of planes attacked the island.

Heavy Jap Loss

Nimitz' communique gave these attacks, by the same powerful fleet units which paced the invasion of Saipan, increased significance when he said:

"The seizure of Saipan constitutes a maor breach in the Japanese line of inner defenses, and it is our intention to capitalize upon this breach with all means available."

In other actions capitalizing on this beach, Marines have overrun a Jap garrison to win a tiny island guarding the entrance to Saipan's fine Tanapag harbor; and artillery and planes based on Saipan are neutralizing Nipponese plane and gun facilities on nearby Tinian.

He reported that Yanks, still cleaning up on Saipan have buried nearly 16,000 Japs with a good many yet to be buried. The Marines and soldiers also have added to the more than 1,000 soldiers and 9,000 civilians taken prisoner.

Search Thick Woods For Plane Wreckage

Manchester, N. H., July 14 (AP)—An Army search and rescue squad hacked its way through dense woods today toward the wreckage of a B-17 Flying Fortress on a hill north of the Rangeley lakes in Maine.

Pregments of the bomber were spotted from the air yesterday after an extensive search by 109 Army and Civil Air Patrol planes and an undisclosed number of Navy and Royal Canadian Air Force craft.

Wreckage first was seen by an observation plane from Grenier Field, Manchester, N. H., and Army authorities said it seemed "almost impossible that anybody survived the crash."

Army officials said the bomber reported in at Syracuse, N. Y., at 10:10 a. m. Tuesday enroute for Dow Field at Bangor, Me.

Price Of Canned Meat Will Be Cut

Washington, July 14 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration announced today that the cost of all canned meat would be reduced, effective August 4, by approximately 10 per cent of the value of raw meat included in such products.

Consumers will benefit by the new regulation, OPA pointed out, inasmuch as retail prices are fixed on a percentage mark-up over net cost.

The reductions made in the prices of canned meat follow the decrease of about 10 per cent which OPA previously made in other meat costs. The new regulation on canned meat establishes flat wholesale prices instead of the "freeze" previously in effect.

RED CROSS APPEAL

Geneva, Switzerland, July 14 (AP)—The International committee of the Red Cross, recalling that as early as 1940 it had appealed for the protection of civilian populations in war zones, made public today another call upon "all men and women of good will to exert influence so that irreparable wrong which human beings are inflicting upon humanity may now cease."

O'CONNOR WILL HEAD RED CROSS

Washington, July 14 (AP)—President Roosevelt Thursday appointed Basil O'Connor, head of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, as chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross to succeed the late Norman H. Davis.

O'Connor, former New York law partner of Mr. Roosevelt, will serve the remainder of a term expiring December 11 this year. Davis died several days ago.

"Mr. O'Connor is admirably qualified for this position," the President said in an accompanying statement, "because of his first hand knowledge of almost every part of the United States and because of his association with the medical and nursing problems through the years he has served as president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Indict Socialist For Evading Draft

Topeka, Kans., July 14 (AP)—Arthur Billings of Delphos, Kans., socialist candidate for United States senator and principal in a draft law test which went to the U. S. supreme court, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of failing and refusing to report for induction.

The term "refusing" was inserted in the jury's report Wednesday at Billing's request. He said recently he wanted it clear "that I actually refused to submit to induction."

Billings, a onetime University of Texas economics professor, is a former member of the American embassy in Moscow.

NO AIR RIFLES TODAY

Watervliet, N. Y. (AP) — The Watervliet arsenal, home of giant 16-inch guns and all Army cannon, received a request from 14-year-old Nick Leone, Schenectady, for a "bee-bee run—a repeater," if possible.

The arsenal was sorry, but it couldn't fill the order.

Seeks to Maintain Sovereign Rights

Little Rock, Ark., July 14 (AP)—Governor Homer M. Adkins' proposal for calling a post-war constitutional convention to maintain sovereign rights of the states was endorsed by four of the 25 governors who responded to the executive's letter outlining the plan.

They were Gov. Andrew F. Schoeppel of Kansas, Gov. Edward Martin of Pennsylvania, Gov. Edward J. They of Minnesota and Gov. John C. Vivian of Colorado, who said he would bring the suggestion before Colorado's general assembly next January if the movement gained momentum.

Nearly all of the governors agreed on the necessity for curtailing federal encroachment on state rights, but reserved comment on the convention to submit a constitutional amendment.

MAN IS ELECTROCUTED

Uniontown, Pa., July 14 (AP) — Paul Myorski, 38, of nearby Ralph, was electrocuted Wednesday when he picked up a wire that had fallen from a pole during an electrical storm, the coroner reported. Near Kittanning, lightning struck the barn of Joseph Fritz, setting it afire and causing $12,000 damage.

says:
When I got my certificate for two new tires, I wanted to be sure I got the very best tire value. So, naturally, I bought Generals.
These synthetic Generals have given complete satisfaction after months of wear. They have every indication that they will give me as much mileage as pre-war Generals . . . if not more.

This is only one of many similar experiences with today's great new General Tire. Ask us to show you what other users say. In synthetics, General has scooped the industry for mileage! You must save your present tires and have them recapped, if possible . . . but, when you do get a new-tire certificate, use it for the best: General's proved Top-Quality.

TOP-QUALITY AS ONLY GENERAL KNOWS HOW TO BUILD IT!

Chapter 12

Usually, when Louise entertained the "gang," she wore whatever came handiest, which often as not was a pair of slacks and a fresh blouse. But tonight was different—because Angel was there and was going to meet the crowd, she told herself stoutly. Certainly not because that red-headed cameraman, Dick Stanley, who kept referring to her as his girl-friend, was coming. Not at all! After all, wasn't she in love with Alan Payne, now in the Army? Well—at least sort of in love.

"Angel would feel terrible, if I wore slacks and a blouse and looked like a dud," Louise told herself with growing conviction. "She'd never forgive me."

Having convinced herself that it was really her duty to look as well as possible, Louise fished around in the depths of her closet for the "sapphire" dress.

It had cost more than she had been able to afford, six months before. Then, looking at her serious, quiet face in the mirror, she suddenly decided that her hair, falling softly to her shoulders, looked too unsophisticated.

With an impatient gesture she brushed it up and away from her ears and fastened it with a comb. Why—it was good! It seemed to define her features more clearly, to emphasize her eyes. "I don't even look like me!" she exclaimed, laughing.

Definitely excited now, Louise slipped the sapphire dress over her head and fastened it snugly about her waist. The low, heart-shaped neckline was vastly becoming, and the blue of her eyes seemed to deepen until they were exactly the shade of the dress. She smiled ruefully at her reflection.

It was only a little after seven o'clock when the doorbell shrilled.

Louise punched the button that opened the door downstairs, and stood waiting in the apartment doorway. She saw the flaming hair of Dick Stanley rounding the last curve.

For a moment, before he looked and saw her, she had a chance to study him. How big he was! And he didn't look hateful and arrogant at all. Seen even from this foreshortened angle, his broad shoulders and deliberate, but not slow, movements as he mounted the stairs, were all part of a man who had pride in himself and in his own integrity. Then he glanced up. He did not speak, but a spark seemed to glow in his eyes and a pleased little smile quirked his lips.

He was standing before her. For the life of her, Louise could not have said a word.

It seemed only natural when he leaned down, still not speaking, and touched his lips lightly to hers. For an instant her own lips quivered in response. Then he was standing away from her, grinning happily.

"Hello!" His tone dared her to notice the anti-climax. "I've been wanting to do that ever since I first saw you at the airport."

In spite of herself, a warm thrill surged through Louise's slender, gowned body. Her eyes softened as she said with a careless smile: "You're looking very special tonight."

"Thank you. It was nice of you to come all the way over here to Brooklyn—and on the night of my party, too. Angel hasn't quite finished dressing. She'll be out soon. And my friends will be coming along in a little while, I think. . . ." She stopped, appalled at her own remark. "Shades of Emily Post!" she thought desperately. "Why in the world did I have to tell him he came early?" But Dick, folding himself into an armchair, said easily:

"I came early on purpose, hoping to catch you alone for a minute. Pretty smart of me, eh? But what do you mean 'all the way to Brooklyn' I used to live here in Brooklyn—not so far away either."

"In your own home, of course." Louise could not resist letting an edge of sarcasm creep into her voice. "Perhaps I wouldn't mind Brooklyn either, if we livel in a house where there was a yard or a terrace for the baby. Or even a sunny apartment."

"Yes, we had a house," Dick acknowledged. "And what a house! Too big. Looked more like a museum than a home. You've probably seen the old eye-sore. It faces the park near the arch."

"You don't mean the one with the big columns out front, and the scroll-work, and oh," she interrupted herself "then you're one of the Brooklyn Stanleys. You're 'Stanley's Steamed Wheat'!"

Dick made a deprecating gesture. "Horrible stuff," he admitted. "I wonder how any youngster manages to grow up, having that mess rammed down his throat every morning."

"I guess it must be healthy," Louise said absently. "We used to eat it by the carton practically."

They sat in silence for a moment, and then Louise asked bluntly, "Do you work for love? Because you certainly have money enough to live comfortably."

Dick laughed with such relief and enjoyment that Louise stared at him in surprise. "You're a frank little so-and-so—but I like it," he exclaimed, patting her hand. "Every other girl I know would have spent an hour wondering if I was cut off without a shilling. You come right out and ask."

"Well—were you? Or do you work just for love?" she repeated.

Dick became serious then—and a little stern. "Maybe some people just aren't born to loaf—and maybe I'm one of them. I don't know. I happen to like photography—But I'm no altruist. I get paid what I think I'm worth."

JOHNSTON SEES BG RED TRADE

Based on conversations he had with Marshal Stalin and other top Soviet officials and also on personal observations made during thousands of miles of travel, Johnson said:

1. Russia is looking to this country for an imagination-staggering supply of mining and industrial machinery, railway and hydro-electric equipment, ships, trucks and road building tools and machines.

2. In order to buy from the United States, it is "absolutely essential" that Russia have long term credits (10 to 30 years.) Also, the United States must buy from Russia, taking raw materials such as manganese, nickel and other steel alloys, timber and the like; that will enable the Russians to pay off their loans.

3. Russia's aim in rebuilding is to achieve a high standard of living. The government and the people would like to reach the standard of this country.

"I think a prosperous United States and a prosperous Russia will go far toward preserving the peace of the world after the war," he said.

2,430 IN COUNTY ARE ELIGIBLE FOR NEW GI BALLOTS

Of the 2,624 soldiers and sailors registered for the GI ballot in Adams county, 2,430 are eligible to vote in the forthcoming election, the Adams county Election board announced this morning after completing the count of the registrations turned in by the election boards of the 42 districts in the county, Friday evening and Saturday.

A total of 230 of the men and women registered to vote were found to be under 21 years of age and 11 of the cards were duplicates. Twenty-two of the cards did not have sufficient information on them to determine whether the soldier was eligible to vote. It is expected that a number of the 22 will be allowed to vote after the additional information is obtained by the county election board.

Only 12 of the men were registered for the GI ballot at the polls on Military Ballot Day last Friday with the 500 Civilian Defense canvassers who visited every home in the county to secure the registrations turning in 2,666 of the cards. The registration cards collected by the C-D workers were turned over to the local election boards prior to Military Ballot Day for processing by the election officials.

A few additional soldier voters may be added to the election registration list in the near future when requests for military ballots from men in service are checked against the lists available from the GI registration.

No challenges will be allowed on those eligible to vote until after the military ballots are returned, it was explained today. When the ballots are returned a special day will be set aside for their counting and at that time, before the ballots are opened, the names of the voters will be read and anyone wishing to challenge the right of any soldier to vote will have an opportunity to issue the challenge at that time.

When a vote is challenged an immediate hearing will be held by the county election board, and an immediate appeal can be made from that decision by the board to the county court.

The list of districts and number of soldiers, sailors and marines eligible to vote in the districts at the present time follows:

Rabbits Perish In Fire Near Dicks Dam

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a hog pen and a shed on the farm of Robert Yealy, along the road leading from the Hanover-Carlisle highway to the Dicks' Dam cottage colony Thursday night. A number of rabbits in the shed perished but no hogs were lost.

Occupants of the farm were visiting friends in New Oxford, when the fire was discovered at about 9 o'clock by a passerby enroute to a cottage at the creek. He drove to the G. C. Chronister home, along the Carlisle 'pike, and telephoned the New Oxford and Hampton fire companies.

The "army" of 1,500 persons picking cherries in Adams county is expected to complete its work by the end of July, with most of the work done by the end of next week. The dry weather is shortening the harvest period.

With many residents of the upper section of the county taking part in the harvest together with more than 200 workers recruited from throughout the state and with the assistance of nearly 260 Jamaicans, the county's crop apparently will be cleaned from the trees without loss. The total crop is expected to be in excess of 5,000,000 pounds.

The large crop, which is expected to bring the largest amount of money to the county of any crop so far, will possibly help the state to become fourth in production of cherries among all states that produce cherries in large quantities, it was revealed today.

According to a survey of conditions as they existed last month, the Federal-State crop reporting service of the State Department of Agriculture today said that the sour cherry crop in the state has been estimated at a record 7,700 tons, a record for Pennsylvania.

The previous record crop in Pennsylvania was in 1942 when production totaled 7,400 tons. With Adams and Erie counties being the heaviest sour cherry producing areas in the state, the crop here will have a large influence on whether or not the state will reach the expected peak of production. The picking will continue a little longer in Erie county than here, but the production from Adams county will probably be larger than from Erie, where some orchards are reporting light crops.

Michigan is the leading sour cherry state with an estimated production of 52,400 tons. New York is second with 20,000 tons and Wisconsin third with 12,000 tons.

Nearly Equal to Record Years

The pickers and the men and women engaged in canning the crop here in the county are earning more than $100,000 this month in wages paid for handling the cherry crop.

The growers are expected to have an income of more than $350,000 from the crop.

Previous large crops in Adams county occurred in 1937 and 1941 and it is believed that this year's crop will be comparable to the crops in those years, but slightly lower than 1941 when 6,000,000 pounds of cherries were harvested.

Gettysburg Native Dies In Reading

Charles E. Aumen, 72, a former Reading chief of police died Tuesday in the Reading hospital. Born in Gettysburg, a son of the late Cornelius and Agnes (Eckenrode) Aumen, he was reared in Adams county and came to Reading in 1890.

He was employed by various firms in Reading until his appointment as city patrolman in 1899 by Mayor Adam H. Leader. After serving several years in that capacity he was appointed a police inspector and in 1908 was named chief of police by Mayor William Rick. He was active in Republican political affairs for a long time.

He lived retired for a number of years, his last employment being as custodian in the school administration building. He was a member of St. Paul's Catholic church.

Surviving are his widow, Katherine (Plank) Aumen; three grandchildren; a brother, John, of Hanover and a sister, Margaret, of Baltimore, Md.

Funeral Saturday at 8:30 a. m. from the Kern funeral home. Requiem high mass in St. Paul's Catholic church at 9 a. m. Burial in Gethsemane cemetery, Reading.

NEW ZEALAND PREMIER LAUDS YANK SOLDIERS

Enroute home from the conference of British prime ministers at London, Peter Fraser, prime minister of New Zealand, drove to Gettysburg from Washington last Friday to lunch at Hotel Gettysburg and spend a few hours on the battlefield. A keen student of American history, Mr. Fraser said he could not think of leaving Washington for the Pacific without a visit to the Gettysburg battlefield.

It is Mr. Fraser's first trip to Gettysburg. He is accompanied by Mrs. Fraser and his personal secretary, Miss Katherine G. Jordan.

Visited Battlefronts

The prime minister had words of high praise for American soldiers in New Zealand. "They're fine, splendid boys," he declared warmly, "and they're looked upon as friends. Many of them have been welcomed in our homes and many have found second homes in our country."

Mr. Frazer declined to hazard a guess on the date of the end of the war. "One person's guess is as good as another as far as Japan is concerned. It's just a question of how soon Germany falls after which the Allies can mass their power in the Pacific to finish off the Japanese."

The chief executive of New Zealand spoke of his visits to the battlefronts in Italy where he talked with New Zealanders who had battled through the African, Sicilian and Italian campaigns. He was in Rome two days after it fell to the Allies and during a three-day stay there had an audience with the Pope. His war travels carried him as far as Egypt before he returned to London and the United States.

INSPECTION OF CARS IS URGED

Motor vehicle inspection has become a "patriotic duty" in the wartime transportation emergency, Secretary of Revenue David W. Harris declared Friday in a statement urging car owners not to delay in having their vehicles inspected in the current inspection period which ends July 31st.

"Today, more than ever," Secretary Harris said, "motor vehicle inspection is important because it has become a wartime conservation measure. There must be no breakdown of the nation's transportation system in this critical period. Every car that is kept rolling on the home front means that much more help for those who are courageously fighting for us on the battle fronts. A broken down car won't carry workers to a munitions plant or a tank factory and still worse it may be responsible for an accident which might result in valuable workers never returning to the job of turning out the tools of war so badly needed today.

"It is the patriotic duty of the motor vehicle owner today to see to it that his car is fit and can be safely driven. Official inspection will determine that. If your car has not been inspected in this current inspection period which ends July 31st, have it done today. It cannot be legally operated after July 31st without a current inspection 'sticker' on the windshield. There can be no extension of the period."

PETS, INSECTS ARE DAMAGING GARDENS HERE

Even more serious than the depredations by natural pests is the damage being done to local victory gardens by domestic animals and pets, Prof. Herbert G. Hamme, local victory garden chairman, said today.

A large number of gardeners have complained to him of the irreparable damage done their gardens by stray dogs, pigeons and even cats, Professor Hamme said, and gardeners are requesting a closer supervision of the activities of the animals by their owners.

"Many gardeners are busy now putting out their late crops and they would like protection against avoidable damage to such plantings caused by prowling dogs and cats that should be kept from the gardens by the owners of the pets," he added.

Good Quality, Quantity

Infestation by beetles and other insect pests has been much lighter than usual but there has been greater destruction by rabbits and blackbirds this year, the chairman said, in giving a summary of the activities of the army of Gettysburg victory gardeners so far.

"Crops of excellent quality and large quantity have already been gathered and gardeners generally are well pleased with their efforts to date. While the gardens in many sections were hurt by the lack of rain during the last month, the rainfall over the night may mean for the gardens as much success during the remainder of the year as has been experienced in the first part of the gardening season. Through their gardens the local men and women are making an important contribution this year to war food production.

"All that the gardeners ask of their friends and neighbors is their cooperation in guarding against unnecessary and avoidable destruction of plants and crops. While it is realized that the pets must be given freedom to be out at times, the gardeners are asking the owners of the pets to see that the animals do not damage the garden crops."

Makes Hole-In-One On Caledonia Course

Jim Swope, Farrenteville, got a hole-in-one on the 12th hole at the Caledonia Golf course on Monday, Ed Brown, golf pro at the course reported today. The hole-in-one, made on the 185-yard, par-three hole, was the first ever made by Swope, and the second of the course this season.

Swope, playing in a threesome with E. G. Cromwell, Chambersburg, R. 2, and O. H. Walburn, Washington, used a No. 2 iron on his tee shot, which landed short of the green, took one bounce and rolled the remaining 15 or 20 feet to the cup.

The other hole-in-one, made two weeks ago by an unidentified golfer, was at the 16th, 165-yard hole.

Volo Song Sets Trotting Record

The four-year-old brown son of Volomite stepped the second heat of the $2,090 championship stallion stake in 1:57¾ at North Randall's grand circuit oval yesterday to shave a full second off the old mark established by Nibble Hanover at Old Orchard Me., three seasons ago.

By JACK HAND

Pittsburgh, July 14 (AP)—The balloon pitch and the nothing ball got credit for stopping the American league's all-star victory march Tuesday as Billy Southworth's Nationals celebrated their fourth win in the 12-year history of the dream game.

While the boys from Ford Frick's circuit were rapping five assorted hurlers from Joe McCarthy's stockpile for 12 hits, effective pitching by Ken Raffensberger of the Phils, Rip Sewell of the Pirates and Jim Tobin of the Braves insured Tuesday's 7-1 decision, the most lopsided score in the series.

Spectators Pleased

Most of the 29,589 customers who helped boost the Service Bat and Ball fund by $106,275 were pleased with the sudden halt of the Americans' 3-year win streak as the series came around to Forbes Field for the first time.

Southworth's winners adopted an old American custom in pounding Tex Hughson of the Red Sox for four runs in a big fifth inning. Hughson had relieved Hank Borowy of the Yanks after he finished his three-inning stint with a 1-0 lead but Tex yielded five hits before Joe McCarthy waved in Bob Muncrief of the Browns.

With Borowy in control of the situation, the junior circuit stepped out in front in the second inning after threatening on two hits off starter Bucky Walters of the Reds in the first. Ken Keltner of the Indians opened the second with a single to left, moved around on infield outs by Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox and Rollie Hemsley of the Yanks and scored when Borowy beat out a hopper to Bobby Doerr for a scratch hit.

The roof caved in on Hughson in the fifth after the Nationals had gone scoreless for four frames. Connie Ryan of the Braves opened with a single to center, stole second and romped home when Bill Nicholson of the Cubs delivered a pinch-double that scorched the right field foul line and completely altered the complexion of the game.

Augie Galan of the Dodgers drove a hard smash through the box that Vern Stephens of the Browns got a glove on but couldn't hold. The ball rolled into short center for a single and Nicholson roared in to put the Nationals out in front. A walk to Phil Cavarretta of the Cubs, who enjoyed a perfect night with a triple and single and three passes, and an error by George McQuinn of the Browns loaded the bases. Walker Cooper of the Cards lined a single to left, scoring Galan but Cavarretta was cut down at the plate on a beautiful peg by Bob Johnson of the Red Sox. In the first inning Stan Spence of the Senators had nabbed Phil at the platter with a perfect toss from right.

One Hit in Last Six

Dixie Walker of the Dodgers rifled a single down the right field line chasing home Musial and McCarthy yanked Hughson for Muncrief who retired the side and got by without serious trouble until lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

Lefty Hal Newhouser of the Tigers gave up the last three National runs, two in the seventh when Whitey Kurowski of the Cards doubled to the scoreboard in left following one-baggers by Cavarretta and Cooper.

Walters yielded five blows to the Americans in the first three frames but they were stopped completely by Raffensberger, Sewell and Tobin. The only hit in the last six innings was Spence's single to right in the fifth off the Phils southpaw.

BROWNS HOLD MARGIN AS 3 TEAMS SPLIT

(By The Associated Press)

Can Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Bobby Feller, Johnny Vandermeer and scores of other big leaguers in service pick up where they left off when they come marching home from war?

The question that has puzzled club owners and fans alike was partially answered yesterday when Dick Wakefield, recently "detached" from the Navy's Iowa pre-flight school, stepped into a Detroit uniform and banged out two hits in the Tiger's 9-1 slaughter of Chicago.

Wakefield has not seen active service, and soon may be called away from the Tigers by the Army, but a parallel can be drawn between him and others who have been much more distantly removed from big league pitching. Judging from first day impressions, it may not be so tough for the stars to resume their careers.

Two Hits Help

The $52,000 dandy is out of the Navy because the need for fliers apparently has decreased. He has been away from the big show for only half a year after hitting .316 and leading the league in total hits and doubles as a rookie. Others making a more violent change may find the readjustment more difficult.

Wakefield's two hits helped the Tigers rout Orval Grove with an eight-dun spurt in the second as Paul "Dizzy" Trout coasted to his 11th win.

St. Louis held its 2½-game margin in the American flag race by scoring three times in the 10th for a 4-1 victory in the second game after bowing to Cleveland, 6-5, in the opener of a two-night doubleheader. Chief Reynolds won and Al Smith lost for Cleveland, with Nels Potter getting the St. Louis victory and Sig Janucki the defeat.

Yanks, Sox Divide

Boston and the New York Yankees divided two games as they opened a vital 6-game series. The Yanks took the first, 4-2, as Ernie Bonham outpitched Rookie Red Barrett with the help of Bud Metheny's two-run homer. Yank Terry scattered six New York blows in the finale after the Sox hopped on Atley Donald for four unearned runs in an 8-4 triumph.

Al Jurisich of the Cards got the nod over Jim Konstanty of the Reds in a tight 11-inning National league duel when Danny Litwhiler doubled home Walker Cooper for a 3-2 edge over Cincinnati.

Frank Colman's pinch triple enabled Pittsburgh to top Chicago, 3-2 for its fifth straight and win No. 6 for Fritz Ostemueller, Hank Wyse was the loser.

York Takes Twin Bill From Trenton

(By The Associated Press)

The York White Roses, determined to occupy the No. 3 spot in the interstate league now held by Allentown's Cardinals, moved into a deadlock with the Red Birds after taking a doubleheaders from Trenton 4 to 1 and 5 to 3 last night.

The Allentown team which was scheduled to meet the league-leading Hagerstown Owls on the latter's field, remained idle as rain forced postponement of the game.

In the only other game last night, the Wilmington Blue Rocks edged out the Lancaster Red Roses 3 to 2 to advance their second place standing to within one game of the No. 1 spot.

New Mexico has lived under five rules—Indian, Spanish, Mexican, Confederacy and United States.

Well-trained GHOST wants work!

The local Society of Spooks and Spectres blames us for unemployment among its members. And it is probably true that we have done a good job of putting them out of business.

Who's afraid of misty apparitions . . . with reassuring electric light always instantly at hand? And just as electricity has all but banished haunted houses, so it has laid the ghosts of many household tasks that once were done by hand.

In fact, electricity is so common, so constant today, that most people take it for granted. But the folks who work for your electric company can't do that. They know that good, dependable electric service doesn't just happen. It takes hard work, careful planning and sound business management to do the job. It is these things that have kept electricity dependable and cheap . . . even in wartime.

An Evening Thought

The happiness of life depends less upon what befalls us than upon the way in which we take it —Lavater.

Just Folks

CRANKMIRE ON GRUMBLING

Old Crankmire heard us grumblers all:
"Too high the tax, our tasks too great,
Too many trials, large and small!"
And pushing by his cup and plate,
He banged the table and he said:
"With shame your faces should be red!

"Suppose unto this table now
Could come the humblest boy who died
To sit with us, and tell us how
He gave his life on freedom's side.
'I worked eight hours many a day'?

"Suppose a blue star changed to gold,
And you were asked to visit there,
To sit at table, and be told
How glad he was to do his share.
Will you reply to talk so brave:
'I walked a mile some gas to save'?

"Suppose when victory is won
(And oh I pray that soon may be)
There will return a neighbor's son
Whose eyes again will never see.
Will you (dear God forbid the thought!)
Remind him of the bonds you bought?

If so, theirs is the better right.
They have the suffering to do;
They stand to battle day and night;
They do their duty, though they die:

Today's Talk

THOSE AUSTRALIANS

The bravery exampled in this war for Freedom is beyond all adequate description. Our boys are fighting grately everywhere. They are immortal heroes! I think, however, that a special tribute should be paid to "those Australians" who have endeared themselves to the world forever—and especially to their own brave country.

On every important front—and what front is not important?—these man have been found battling with unbelievable courage and determination—taking their temporary defeats without a murmur, and always returning to fight again. On their own home grounds in the Pacific, along the burning shores of the Mediterranean in the sands of Egypt in Greece and the Far East. The sheer respects to the Australians.

It is heartening to know that people all over the world are going to learn about the kind of people who live in Australia and the vast possibilities of that great country after this tragic war is over as never before. Its people rise are tremendous That country and its people have done a real job And they will be wonders in the years to come

I was fortunate in having heard an inspiring talk by the Premier of Australia, the Hon. John Curtin recently in Washington His leadership has been remarkable He is a man of deep human understanding clear in vision and high purposes He is the leader of the Labor Party in Austrs a but he represents all the people. In that great Commonwealth Democracy has emphasized that minorities cannot be allowed any privileges that are not shared by all the people That's why all Australia is backing him up

The American leader General MacArthur, has had the fullest cooperation with the Australian leaders, and they have worked with him as one man Confidence has reigned supreme The full story of "those Australians" and the service rendered by that young country during this war for total Freedom is going to be one of the most inspiring that will be written when peace comes

What all I can say is God bless those Australians God bless Australia!

To-morrow Mr Adams will have on the subject of "Prices."

EXPECT ACTION IN SELECTION OF FDR'S MATE

(By The Associated Press)

Predictions by Democratic leaders that "the boys will have a little fun" in choosong a vice presidential candidate and that "it's not going to be a cut and dried convention" pointed today to a lively time at next week's Chicago gathering.

These forecasts, the first by Governor Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, the convention keynoter, and the second by Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, came as politicians still awaited the expected pat on the back from the White House for Henry A. Wallace, who wants to be President Roosevelt's running mate again.

With time running out fast—the convention is to meet Wednesday and to ballot for the vice presidential nomination one week from today—there were these other developments:

Barkley In Race

(1) Henry Ward, associate editor of the Paducah, Ky., Sun-Democrat and a close friend of Senator Alben Barkley, said that Barkley has approved a plan for his name to be presented for the job Wallace now holds and to be kept in nomination until a candidate is named.

(2) The CIO political action committee emerged at Washington into the National citizens political action committee, out to work for the reelection of a Roosevelt-Wallace ticket and for the election of a "progressive congress."

Chairman Sidney Hillman and President Philip Murray of the CIO said they are committed to Wallace "and we have no second choice." Hillman called Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, "the spokesman for (Herbert Hoover."

(3) Dewey declared in an Albany speech, "one of the big tasks of the next few years will be to bring government closer to the people and to bring the people closer to the practice of self-government." And, he said, "That we shall succeed in restoring government that is close to the people I have no doubt."

Sees German Robot Headed For Germans

Somewhere in France, June 19 (Delayed) (AP)—Flying bombs of the type now descending on London have been sent against troops on the American beachhead.

At least one has been identified by aviation ordnance officers and parts of another have been found.

It is difficult to tell the new Nazi bomb from a heavy shell when it hits, particularly in areas under intense gunfire.

MONETARY PACT EXPECTED SOON

Bretton Woods, N. H., July 14—The United Nations monteary conference turned down an anti-climactic pathway today without yet having reached its climax.

Russia remained the center of attention, but its final accession to an Anglo-American stand was so generally regarded as only a matter of time that yesterday's failure to reach final agreement on plans for a postwar monetary fund caused no stir.

Official assurances placed at "fewer than the fingers on one hand" the number of points still to be discussed, although one of them admittedly was the matter of quotas that has snarled the conference for more than a week.

Thus, Moscow failed by the close of yesterday's session—that was to have wound up the monetary fund discussions—to reply to a "strong request" from the American delegation. That request was for a final stand on the amount of gold she would be willing to kick into the multi-billion-dollar project designed to stabilize currencies and promote world trade

Miami, Fla., July 14 (AP)—Screen actress Gail Patrick's bridegroom, Navy Lieut. Arnold Dean White, was confined to bachelors' quarters by his commanding officer and a postponed honeymoon was in prospect today for the newlyweds

Lt. Comdr. H. F. Webster, acting commandant of the Naval Air Transport base here, said that White was confined to quarters for 10 days for going to Jacksonville without leave

NEW WAR SLOGAN

Near St. Lo, France, July 14 (AP)—The Allied advance in Normandy has been slowed by hedgerows, natural obstacles which must be reduced one at a time if the enemy makes a determined defense. One officer jested today. "Our slogan is: The Russians in Paris, the British in Caen, and the Americans in St Lo—by Christmas"

575 War Prisoners Working In State

Harrisburg, July 14 (AP)—A total of 575 German war prisoners are now working to help relieve urgent labor needs in food processing and in agricultural work in Pennsylvania, declared Carl B. Harr, acting state director of the War Manpower commission.

The prisoners are located at three camps, with 300 at Gettysburg, 200 at Stewartstown, and 75 at North East

Decorated Flier Miss ing In Action

Washington, July 14 (AP)—Major James A. Goodson, 22 year old commander of a P-51 Mustang squadron who is credited with the destruction of 30 German planes, is missing in action in the European theater

The war department reported Goodson, whose home is in Toronto, Canada, failed to return from a mission over Germany June 20.

Regarded as one of the best strafers in the European theater, Goodson achieved 15 of his "kills" in the destruction of enemy planes on the ground. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross May 27.

Accuse Flier Of Decapitating Man

Marana Field, Ariz., July 14 (AP)—Second Lt. Howard E Stittsworth, 21, Wakefield, Kans., flying instructor, went before a court martial Thursday, charged with murder in the auto-plane collision death of a civilian June 22.

Stittsworth is accused of piloting the plane which swooped low over Highway 89, striking an automobile with its wing and decapitating the driver Earl W Hepple of Los Angeles.

between them made a number of hunting trips to out-of-the-way places throughout the world.

In the last war he fought in France with the First Infantry Division—the division always closest to his heart. Starting as a major he finished as a colonel and was wounded three times.

In this war, as the First Division's deputy commanding general, he rode in the forefront of its amphibious assault landings in Algeria and Sicily. Later he served in Sardinia, Corsica and Italy as liaison officer with the French.

"Battle Casualty"

The general landed with the first wave of invasion troops.

"General Roosevelt really was a battle casualty," said Maj. Gen. R. O. Barton, the Fourth Division commander. "All day long he rode the lines. He spared himself nothing. In fact, he had been out at command posts cheering the men, helping commanders and helping me."

REJECT MERIT AWARDS

Harrisburg, July 14 (AP)—Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutchison, state Defense Council director, and his deputy, A. Boyd Hamilton, have turned down merit awards from the national defense headquarters, saying such honors should be reserved for men on fighting fronts.

LIMIT 9-1 VOTE

Santa Fe, N. M., July 14 (AP)—A special New Mexico legislature Wednesday completed enactment of a law to permit electors absent with the armed forces to vote for president, vice president and members of Congress. State supreme court decisions have ruled out absentee balloting on state officials.

Somewhere in the Southwest Pacific, July 14 (AP) — Charles A. Lindbergh is now working as a technical aviation expert on the Hollandia airdrome in New Guinea, seized last spring from the Japanese, a dispatch of Aneta, official Netherlands news agency, said today.

Urges Arrest Of 50,000 Gestapo

London, July 14 (AP)—Lord Vansittart, exponent of harsh dealing with the Germans, demanded in the house of lords Thursday that 50,000 members of the Gestapo (secret police) be imprisoned after the war "until the Allies decide which of them should be executed and which deported to some destination like Devil's Island."

The former permanent undersecretary of the foreign office estimated there are 200,000 members of the Gestapo. He said the Allies should take a fourth of them as "the first instalment."

BEATS 4 OPPONENTS

Seattle, July 14 (AP)—Republican Gov. Arthur B. Langlie's renomination vote climbed Thursday on basis of unofficial primary election returns from 2,549 out of 3,164 precincts, to more than 35,000 above the combined total of four other gubernatorial candidates of both major parties.

HITLER HELPS ALLIES

Los Angeles (AP)—The Times asked 100 men on the street what individual is helping the Allied war effort most. Eisenhower was first choice and GI Joe got votes, but one man observed:

NAZI PRISONERS ARE CAPTURED IN YORK COUNTY

The two German prisoners of war who escaped eight days ago from the prison camp at the southern edge of Gettysburg were captured on Tuesday about 10:30 a. m. at a farmhouse five miles southwest of York by troopers from the York state police substation, summoned by a farmer who had been asked for food by the fugitives.

The prisoners, apparently in good health and excellent spirits, were taken into custody by the officers without any show of resistance or any effort to escape when the police appeared.

One of the prisoners wore the shirt of his German Army uniform when captured. Neither wore the blue denim overalls described as their garb in first reports of the escape. They were wearing brown and olive drab trousers and shirts which they said they had since leaving Gettysburg.

Turned Over To Army

The prisoners were taken to the York state police substation where they were met by a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation who had been working out of York on the escape. The Gettysburg camp was notified by telephone and police at York said they understood guards were being sent from here to York to take the men into custody. The FBI told The Gettysburg Times this noon that the men were turned over to military officials.

The capture was made in Spring Garden township four and a half to five miles west of York and south of the Lincoln highway. The farmhouse is located near Indian Rock dam.

Sgt. Lloyd B. Gibbs, a former resident of York Springs and graduate of Gettysburg high school, now stationed with the state police at York, told The Gettysburg Times this morning that the prisoners were detained by a farmer who had been tipped off by police Monday evening that the fugitives were in the vicinity. The officers found the prisoners in the back yard of the farm house. The capture was made without any difficulty.

Had Camp Raincoats

The prisoners had with them their camp raincoats on which the letters "PW" were still in place. The letters did not appear on any of the clothing they were wearing when captured. The prisoners were not armed.

Their English was described by the York officers as "poor" and little information had been secured about their movements since they escaped over the stockade early last Monday morning. It brought on a two-state manhunt led by the FBI with local authorities and state police being required to run down a steady stream of "tips" from nearly every part of this county and in many sections of the state.

They were described this morning as being apparently in good condition. One was badly in need of a shave. The other's beard was very light.

Used Hideout

The prisoners, Thomas Kostaniak, 27, and Axel Ostermaier, 22, both infantry sergeants in the German Army before their capture, were taken into custody by these state policemen from York: Sergeant Gibbs, Cpl. A. J. Swalinski, Pvt. Leslie Jackson and Pvt. J. A. Tappe.

Police disclosed they had searched that section Monday evening after Justice of the Peace John F. Strickhouser, of York New Salem, reported he had come upon two men answering the description of the prisoners in a hideout along a stream where he was fishing.

The search Monday evening was fruitless. The farmhouse where the capture was made today was about a mile and a half from the hideout along the stream.

The FBI said last week that the prisoners are not guilty of any crime under international law and will not be subject to punishment for escaping from the camp here.

SILVER STAR FOR LT. C. L. SHARRER

With the Fifth Army, Italy—Second Lt. Charles L. Sharrer, of Emmitsburg, Maryland, has been awarded the Silver Star posthumously for gallantry in action on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

Sharrer as artillery forward observer stationed at an observation post with the infantry company, skillfully judged the occupied positions on a hill and added concentrations to the prepared defensive firing. He valiantly held his post all day and, on the following morning put his radio into operation under a heavy artillery barrage.

In the furious enemy attack which followed, Sharrer directed accurate fire that was essential to the repulsion of the enemy.

He disdained personal security in the face of tremendous enemy fire and tirelessly transmitted his orders until fatally wounded.

SOLDIER IMPROVING

The War Department has advised Mr. and Mrs. Erle R. Deardorff, Carlisle street, that as of June 24 their son, Pvt. Dale E. In a letter to his parents, written July 2, the wounded soldier said he is "getting along fine."

HONOR ROLL TO BE ERECTED AT EMMITSBURG

At a special meeting of the Emmitsburg town council Saturday evening in the town offices, it was decided to erect a Service Honor Roll including the names of all the men and women from Emmitsburg and Emmitsburg vicinity who are in the service of their country. It was also decided to include cadet nurses in this group.

To defray the expenses of the project and give everyone an opportunity to share in its support, it was decided to form a sponsor club. Parents, wives or friends may participate by sponsoring their service man or woman at the rate of $1 per name.

The contribution of one dollar along with the name of the service man or woman may be mailed or handed to anyone of the following committee: Louis Stoner, Charles Rowe, Mrs. C. C. Combs, or Earl Gelwicks up to August 10.

A sponsor list will be compiled and published as soon after that date as is possible.

The date and site for the formal dedication for the Service Honor Roll will be announced in the near future. Mrs. Robert Daugherty, general chairman, will announce all committees connected with this project early next week.

The town council also desires to compile a complete list of the men serving their country from Emmitsburg and Emmitsburg district. "This can only be done by the complete cooperation of everyone in the community," Burgess Joseph Hoke said today.

"Will you please mail or hand the name, serial number and complete address of your service man or woman to Miss Irene Shorb or Luther Kugler at once," Burgess Hoke asked.

N. O. MAN HURT IN NORMANDY

An Army Medical Corps man, crawling on all fours, carried S. Sgt. Faber O. Overbaugh, through a hail of lead after the New Oxford youth had been wounded by shrapnel in Normandy.

S. Sgt Overbaugh told of the rescue, disclosed that he had been wounded and revealed that he has been awarded the Purple Heart in a letter to his father, Clair Overbaugh, Carlisle street, New Oxford, received on July 3.

Sgt. Overbaugh, writing in a hospital in England on June 20, the day on which he was presented with the Purple Heart medal, stated that he was struck by shrapnel in the left foot while participating in the invasion on French soil.

For a time, S. Sgt. Overbaugh was confined to a field hospital in France, and was then removed to England.

Sgt. Overbaugh, in his letter, commended the efficiency with which the medical corps functions. He said that little time passed after he was hit before he was being given first aid.

"The 'medic' who carried me back was crawling on all fours with me on his back and lead spitting all around us," Sgt. Overbaugh writes. "From what I saw all about me I consider myself lucky at that."

The young man, who is 29 years old, entered the Army in January, 1941, among the first boys to go into the service from New Oxford. He was sent from New Cumberland to Fort Sam Houston, Tex., where he was stationed for two years before being moved to Camp McCoy, Wis. He went overseas in October, 1943.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer B. Buohl, 132 East Water street, on Sunday observed their 45th wedding anniversary. They were married July 9, 1899, in Hanover.

BEGS COUNTY TO CONSERVE SCRAP PAPER FOR WAR

Donald M. Nelson, Chairman of the War Production Board, today appealed to Adams countians to extend their efforts to save waste paper, one of the vital war essentials.

The appeal was made in a telegram to The Gettysburg Times in which Mr. Nelson cited the urgent need for more waste paper. His telegram follows:

"Six months ago when the shortage of waste paper imperiled vital war production I appealed to the American press to launch the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaign. The newspapers have given generously of their leadership and valuable space with the result that waste paper receipts have been increased by nearly 100,000 tons a month. This is fresh evidence of the power of a free and patriotic press. Since the inception of the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaigning under the chairmanship of Edwin S. Friendly, I have been in constant touch with this gratifying program. Good as the record has been, however, I call today on the newspapers and their readers for still greater efforts in the salvaging of waste paper.

Some Mills Close

"Right now many mills with important war contracts have almost exhausted their supply of this vital raw material and some have been forced to shut down temporarily. The situation is critical but fortunately can be remedied quickly by greater public cooperation in the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaign.

"A survey recently made public by the Department of Commerce indicates 62 per cent of all salvable waste paper in the United States is available from industry and 38 per cent from homes and farms. In your city approximately 7.3 pounds of household waste paper per person are available each month in addition to 5.2 pounds per person on surrounding farms. These figures provide for the first time monthly quotas for your area and should prove helpful in stimulating household collections.

"Despite the excellent cooperation of the public and the 17,000 salvage committees collections have averaged about 588,000 tons a month in 1944, or 79,000 tons short of our monthly goal. Receipts in May were 622,000 tons or 45,000 tons below our quota and for June we are receiving only 84 per cent.

Hurts War Effort

"Obviously continuation of this dangerous situation will not only jeopardize war production but cause further curtailment of the diminished allotments of civilian paper. A new study made through the courtesy of the Gallup Newspaper sponsorship reveals only 63 per cent of our families are saving waste paper regularly and only 67 per cent are convinced of the need of waste paper. This is astonishing in the light of your generous support.

"Waste papar is the nation's number one critical war material so essential the army is now preparing to salvage what little they can in the North African and South Pacific combat zones. Therefore I appeal to every man, woman and child of your county to redouble his efforts in the U. S. Victory Waste Paper campaign in cooperation with your newspaper."

Driver Is Fined After Auto Crash

Mrs. Marie S. Zentz, 40, Thurmont, Md., R. 2, paid a fine of $10 and costs on a reckless driving charge brought before Justice of the Peace Ellis Stine, Liberty township, Wednesday afternoon following an accident south of Fairfield on the Zora road.

Pvt. Harold Sheads, who investigated the accident, laid the charge. Mrs. Zentz, according to police, drove into the rear of an ice truck of which Roscoe C. Fitz, Blue Ridge Summit, was the driver, while the truck was parked along the road. Damage totalled $325. No one was injured.

BOY IS BURNED PAINFULLY AS BOMB EXPLODES

Painfully burned about the head, face, left hand and legs, 11-year-old David Glass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Glass, Emmitsburg R. 2, is recovering in the Warner hospital from injuries he received when a small "siren" bomb, found in a field near the Glass home after soldiers from a nearby camp had been on maneuvers there, exploded on Tuesday evening while the boy was within three feet of the missile.

Both the boy's eardrums were ruptured by the concussion and it was feared at first that he might lose his vision but doctors now believe his sight will be restored.

Officers Investigating

Mrs. Glass said Wednesday that the blast was heard for a distance of five miles. Mr. and Mrs. Glass, who had just retired, were aroused by the explosion about a mile away. They took their son to the office of Dr. W. R. Cadle, Emmitsburg, and from there he was taken to the Warner hospital.

The mishap occurred about dusk as the boys walked across the fields the soldiers had used in their maneuvers earlier in the day. David said he had been with the soldiers and had a "jeep" ride earlier.

Officers from Camp Ritchie were investigating the accident Wednesday.

The boys that were with Glass when the explosion occurred suffered loss of hearing. The bomb was described as being two or three inches in diameter and four or five inches long.

BOY CRITICAL AFTER ACCIDENT

Donald Boland, 17, Fairfield R. 2, is in a critical condition in the Warner hospital suffering from a possible fracture of the skull, multiple fractures of the jaw and face bones and lacerations of the right arm, forehead and face, injuries he received when he was knocked from his bicycle in a collision with an automobile a short distance north of Emmitsburg on the Gettysburg road, Sunday evening.

Boland was riding toward Gettysburg and following a car when he swung to the left to go around the machine ahead of him as a car from Graceham, Maryland, passed, headed in the opposite direction. Boland's bicycle struck the side of the machine and the boy was thrown to the roadway. One handle of a car door was knocked off by the impact.

The motorist took the boy to the office of Dr. W. R. Cadle, Emmitsburg. From there he was brought to the Warner hospital where his condition this afternoon was described as "not at all good."

CHANGE GAS RULE

In a further effort to cut into black market dealings in gasoline, the OPA today provided that qualified operators of fleets of official or commercial motor vehicles may use ration checks in paying for gasoline delivered into the tanks of units of their fleets. The new method will substitute for the present one under which ration coupons are handed over by the drivers at the time gasoline is transferred.

Promoted

H. George Hanawalt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hanawalt, 333 Baltimore street, who recently was promoted to the rank of captain in the Army Air Corps. He is an instructor of officers at Laughlin Army Air Field, Del Rio, Tex. A graduate of Gettysburg high school, he was in his senior year at Gettysburg college when he was called into the service.

Grenade Bit Grazes Nose Of Guy Kump

By HAL BOYLE

With American troops in Normandy, July 2 (Delayed) (AP)—Pfc. Guy Kump, of Gettysburg, Pa., crawled back to get two men who straggled away from his squad only a few miles from the front line. They were moving across country to rejoin their company.

Suddenly he heard two Germans less than five feet away on the other side of an earthen hedgerow fence. They heard him too and, before he could move, one lobbed a grenade over which lit four feet from Kump and exploded.

"Somebody must have been looking out for me on that one," he said. "I saw it lying there a second looking like a chicken egg with a stem on it and suddenly it blew up with a big bang and flash, dazing me for a second. But all that happened was that a small piece grazed the tip of my nose."

Kump and the two Germans simultaneously exited in three directions.

"Why didn't you keep your head down," asked Pfc. Raymond Latham of Mason City, Iowa, a fellow infantryman.

"Then I would have lost my face," said Kump. "They always tell you not to lose your head. Brother, that's the advice I followed."

Pfc. Guy Kump is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Kump, of near McKnightstown.

MERCURY HITS 97 DEGREES

The highest official temperature for 1944 in Adams county was recorded Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Arendtsville laboratory when the mercury soared to 97 degrees. It had reached 94 degrees by 1 o'clock in the afternoon and despite partly overcast skies continued to climb to a record for the summer.

The weatherman promised no immediate relief from the heat wave that has sent temperatures into the nineties for the most of this week.

The high temperatures add to the severity of the drought which already has caused considerable damage to corn, soy bean and oats' fields while fields of tomatoes being grown commercially for the county canning factories also are badly in need of rain.

Ideal harvest weather is proving serious for many Victory gardens that were suffering from a shortage of rainfall before the current hot wave arrived. Weather records here for the month of June showed that less than half of the normal amount of rain for the month was received here with the shortage amounting to more than two inches.

GETS PROMOTION

Mrs. Ray Miller has received word from her husband, Pfc, Ray Miller, who is stationed somewhere in England, that he has been promoted to T-5.

WARNS COURTS WON'T SHIELD MEN FROM ARMY

The Adams county courts cannot be used as a means of evading induction into the armed forces, Judge W. C. Sheely declared emphatically Saturday as he suggested that John H. Smith, Jr., Hanover R. 3, volunteer immediately for the armed forces or face court sentence in August.

Smith was accused by the court of using a court parole order to keep out of the army. It was charged that he stopped making payments on a $400 debt to his father, one condition of the parole, so that he would remain under the jurisdiction of the court and thus evade induction. Smith told the court he had tried to volunteer but that "somebody stopped it."

Smith's court record shows that he was arraigned in April court in 1943 on two charges of forgery involving checks totaling $200 and that he was sentenced to serve six months in jail. He served 60 days and was paroled on condition that he repay his father for the sums the latter had to lay out to compensate those who lost money by young Smith's forgeries.

Now Free to Enlist

In court Saturday young Smith admitted he has paid his father only about $80. His father was in court and agreed with Judge Sheely that military service is the best thing for his son. The parole order has been dismissed so that he is now free to enlist.

Charles Hartlaub, 23, Hanover R. 1, Adams county, and John M. Arentz, Jr., 19, Hanover R. 1, York county, were sentenced to White Hill school for boys on charges of burglary to which they had pleaded guilty. They admitted robbing the service station of William Eckenrode in Union township of cigarettes, ration stamps and cash after breaking into it on a night on which they had previously burglarized a Pennville service station in York county.

Mrs. Marie Bowers Arter, Littlestown, who had pleaded guilty to receiving some of the stolen cigarettes and cash, was placed on probation for two years on condition of good behaviour. She was allowed three months in which to pay the costs of her case.

Driver Gets 30 Days

Thomas Kimmel, Dover R. 3, was sent to jail for 30 days on a drunken driving charge on which he had pleaded guilty. The sentence is to date from the time of his arrest, July 1, by Pvt. George Ackerson of the state police. Kimmel told the court he had left a harvest field that afternoon to drive to York where he had some drinks and agreed to haul a soldier to Chambersburg as a favor. On the way home he was nabbed in Franklin township.

After a court hearing Mervil Coffman, Hamiltonban township, was found not guilty on a charge of larceny of several chickens from L. D. Kauffman, Franklin county. The court ordered the prosecutor to pay the costs.

A pending larceny case against Richard Swain, Jr., New Oxford, was dismissed in view of his impending induction into the armed forces. If he is not inducted he will be returned to court. He was directed to pay the costs before entering service.

Court adjourned until next Saturday morning at 11 o'clock when a session will be held in the offices of Judge Sheely. The next open court is set for August 5.

Mrs. Natalie Keleman, Harrisburg, who was to have appeared before the court on burglary and larceny charges in thefts at Dale's tire shop and at an East Berlin seervice station, was returned to jail to be turned over to Berks county authorities where she is wanted on similar charges. Later she will return to Adams county for disposition of the local charges. She has been a prisoner in the county jail here for more than two weeks.

Elect New Member Of Fire Company

Gordon Moyer was elected a new member of the Gettysburg Fire company Wednesday evening at its July meeting held at the Firemen's Retreat in South Mountains.

S. Richard Eisenhart presented an incomplete report on the proceeds from the recent firemen's drive for funds and bazaar in the absence of the chairman of the bazaar committee, Donald C. Stallsmith. A complete report will be made at the August meeting it was stated.

The company voted to purchase an American flag and two rifles for the company color guard. Fifty members attended Wednesday's session at which President James B. Aumen presided.

TELLS HOW WAR PRISONERS ARE TREATED HERE

Some of the German prisoners at the Gettysburg prisoner of war camp have been out of active duty less than one month and some have served as Nazi guards over Allied prisoners on the European continent, Capt. Laurence Thomas, camp commandant, stated in a talk Monday evening before the weekly dinner meeting of the Gettysburg Lions club.

Ruling out of the discussion some restricted topics, Captain Thomas described regulations under which the German prisoners are handled here and at other similar prison camps in this country and abroad.

The prisoners have thorough knowledge of the provisions of the Geneva conference, the officer said, and are quick to seek flaws in the manner in which its provisions are followed. He explained that the international agreement requires that a war prisoner be treated, fed and cared for in the same manner as are men of the same rank in the holding army.

"They cannot be subjected to the curious and cannot be interviewed. They can gain an interview with the camp commanding officer by going through prescribed channels.

Serve Labor Needs

"The prisoners are not hard to handle," the captain asserted and indicated that the incident at the local camp last week was "quickly straightened out without difficulty." He said the chief cause "was ill-advised leadership from non-commissioned officers."

The captain's only reference to the two escaped prisoners was to note with a smile that the Gettysburg camp has now dropped to third place in the nation in number of escaped prisoners with one camp losing five and another, three. The escape here was described as "an unfortunate incident."

Captain Thomas, who was a school superintendent before re-entering military service, explained that the prison camp was placed here at the request of the War Manpower Commission and the Adams county canners. "The prisoner labor is not competitive and is not intended to be used where free labor is available. If no need for labor should exist here, the camp could disappear overnight."

Directed By WMC

The WMC, he said, allocates the labor from the camp. Certificates of need must be provided through the WMC. "The Army has nothing to do with the assignment of the prisoners to factories," he added.

The prevailing labor scale in the community in which the camp is operated is used as the basis for the prisoners' pay. The prisoners cannot receive more than 80 cents per day under terms of the Geneva conference. Officers who are prisoners and non-commissioned officers cannot be required to work and are not kept in the same camp as enlisted me, he added.

Captain Thomas said that during the two-week period in June the Gettysburg camp became the first to go on a "paying basis" financially for the government with the government receiving the prisoners' pay in excess of the 80 cents per day given each man.

Scoffs Local Rumors

The camp here originally was scheduled to remain until November 1 but with the pea canning season shortened by the dry weather and with a similar prospect in sight for the bean and tomato crops changes in plans may be necessary, the speaker indicated. He said that when the food harvesting and canning season is over the prisoners may be transferred to pulpwood cutting work.

Captain Thomas referred to the "many types of unfounded rumors which have been current in this community about the camp" and spoke specially of one frequently heard comment, "People say the prisoners are too well treated but we are bound to treat them with the same care and consideration given our own men because we are bound by the Geneva regulations. We know our men are not receiving the same treatment in enemy prison camps. Even if the Geneva rules were to be followed, they would not get the same treatment we deal out here because the standards of the Axis armies are so much lower than ours."

Farmer Is Found Unconscious In Car

Harvey J. Hull, Crouse Park, Littlestown, a farmer, was reported to be in a "good" condition Friday at the Warner hospital where he was admitted in an unconscious condition Thursday morning after he had been carried from his automobile in a closed garage by County Commissioner J. Arthur Boyd.

A Littlestown physician was called and ordered Hull to the hospital by ambulance. The car's motor was not running when the rescue was made.

Letters To The Editor

June 29th

Dear Sir:

I am writing these few lines tonight to those who carry the responsibility of sending your paper and our paper, The Gettysburg Times, to the servicemen at home and to those of us overseas. I am writing this for myself and for others that appreciate your kindness just as much as I do. I would like to say more for those other fellows because they are doing a bangup job but I guess you all realize that.

I have a shipmate aboard from home. Often in the wee hours of the morning we can be found leaning on the rail rehashing the times that we have had in the ole' school or recalling the people that we think so much about. The paper plays an important part in our discussions too.

We have these thoughts on our minds, every one of us. Not just the boys from Gettysburg but those from all the thousands of other towns and cities in our nation. They're all fighting for the day when they can once again come home to all of those that they love and to the United States of America. I don't think that I am exaggerating at all when I say the most wonderful country of them all. Some people say that war changes a man. I agree in one respect. man over here has enough time to think and to see for himself a shattered and war torn world. It may sound silly but it's the truth. These are the times that he can appreciate his country more. Yes, these men have learned to love their country and all of the things it stands for. The liberty, the freedom and justice for all.

In closing I will repeat that I am saying these things, not for myself alone, but for all of us who are trying our level best to make this world a place of happiness and of freedom. I know that all of the boys will agree with me. Thank you again for your thoughtfulness.

Sincerely,
MM. 3-c BERT LARKIN.

Dear Sir:

This is to inform you that I am well and safe.

I can't tell you where I am as everything from now on is hush, hush.

Once again I wish to thank you for sending me The Gettysburg Times.

Sincerely yours,
PFC. J. E. CATO.
c-o Postmaster
New York, N. Y.

HE WAS ONLY AN OLD MAN, SEEKING JOB

The hunt for the escaped prisoners of war reached its comic peak Sunday evening, about 7 o'clock when some 30 residents of the Idavilla-Rock Chapel area, on foot and in cars, gave chase to and surrounded a man they believed to be one of the escaped prisoners.

Someone saw the "suspicious character" walking on the Rock Chapel road en route to the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road. Ideas of escaped prisoners rapidly circulated and the crowd grew rapidly. Some followed, some preceded the man in question. Some went by car, some walked. The object of the posse continued on his way unconcerned.

It was seen that his shoes were worn out, his clothes old and dirty. When a question was asked him by one member who was bold enough to come close enough to ask a question the man answered in what appeared to be a foreign tongue.

Just an Old Man

The crowd kept stalking the man, the man kept on his way apparently unconcerned and Pvt. George Ackerson of the local state police answered the call to the local sub-station stating that an escaped prisoner was surrounded and would the police come and pick him up please?

Ackerson arrived and discovered some slight differences between the man followed by the crowd and the escaped prisoners. For one thing the prisoners are both young men. The man near Rock Chapel was 57 years old. And he did speak English even though his speech was somewhat broken.

Private Ackerson took the man into custody and the crowd dispersed. At Gettysburg Ackerson gave the "prisoner," Walter Spzak of Bedford county, a new pair of shoes and wished him well as Spzak continued his journey—to York to seek a job.

Wounded In Toe While Hunting

Those admitted to the hospital include Elmer Warren Springs avenue; Mrs. Cletus Plank, Biglerville R. 2; Mrs. Albert Barnhart, Taneytown R. 2, and Mrs Malcolm Shadle, Taneytown R. 1. Those discharged included Walter Pavlock, Bendersville; George Wampler, Gettysburg R. 4; Howard Weikert, Breckenridge street, and Richard Yoeman, Emmitsburg.

Dear Sir:

I want to thank you again for sending me the "Times". Jim Kuhns from Littlestown, Pa., also thanks you for the paper. I always give them to him after I get through reading the news from the home front which I always find very interesting. Jim is in the Army infantry and is stationed here at the Naval base as an MP. I usually get to talk to him once a week or more and believe me we certainly have a hard time trying to convince the rebels that there is such a place as Gettysburg. Well maybe they just didn't read their history books that is the only reason I can figure out.

Here it is July coming around the corner and I've been over here only four months. it really seems as though its been years. It really seems funny here in the ETO, because now that its summer time it is only dark for about two and a half hours, the sun no more than gets down when "presto" its up again. The weather is very hard to get along with because its either too warm or too cold.

I suppose you have all read about the robot planes that the rats are now using against England. We must admit it is quite an invention but it will be wiped out very soon. While reading The Stars and Stripes which is our daily newspaper I came across a very good joke so I am now giving it to you.

Paging Superman! We've got a new job for you, come over to the ETO, stand in the channel, grab these robot planes as they come over, turn them around and send them back to Berlin!

Pretty cute isn't it?

From reading your paper I can see that Adams county is surely doing its part to win this war. Also that everyone would turn to prayer when the announcement of the invasion has started. It is a very good idea and believe me all the boys over here certainly need prayers and plenty of them so keep the prayers coming and we will do our part to bring this battle to an end soon.

I will close now wishing everyone the best of luck and happiness in the world. May God bless and bring us all safely home to our loved ones.

ROTARIANS HEAR DR. WOLFF TELL ABOUT HOSPITAL

The old and the new at the Warner hospital, its benefactors and some of the developments in medicine and surgery that have come about since its establishment were the topic of a talk given Monday evening by Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, chief surgeon at the hospital, to the local Rotary club at its meeting in the YWCA.

Steady growth has characterized the local hospital, Doctor Wolff asserted, with the number of patients growing from 436 during 1921, the first year the hospital was open, to 1,768 in 1943. The number of maternity cases has grown from 182 ten years ago to 413 in 1943. So far 22,640 cases have been treated since the opening of the hospital March 17, 1921.

The number of patients at the hospital is expected to increase annually, the hospital surgeon pointed out, with more and more countians taking advantage of hospitalization and medical treatment insurance plans which permit many who formerly could not afford it to go to the hospital for treatment.

Was Well Founded

To meet the expected increase in patients the 73-bed capacity hospital will possibly be expanded to about 100 bed capacity in the near future if present tentative plans are completed. While asserting that all plans for expansion are completely indefinite at present many indications point toward possible construction of some additional room at the hospital, Doctor Wolff said.

The local hospital, one of the few in the country to operate without losing money, "was established well by its founders and has continued in that course," Doctor Wolff said in praising the members of the board of directors, both those in the past and present directors for "serving well and doing a perfect job as directors." The board, the late John D. Keith and the Ladies' Auxiliary were listed as among the chief benefactors of the hospital by the local surgeon.

Lauds Benefactors

The Ladies' Auxiliary since its establishment has given between $11,000 and $12,000 to the upkeep of the hospital, Doctor Wolff said. Dr. J. McCrea Dickson was also one of the principal benefactors of the hospital, leaving at the time of his death equipment worth $15,000 which he had purchased during his years at the hospital, and left as part of the hospital's property.

The interest of Doctor Dickson in purchasing, with his own money, equipment for the hospital did much to give the hospital the "unique position it has" of being one of the best equipped hospitals in this area. Doctor Dickson often turned back one-half of his income to the hospital, Doctor Wolff said.

The staff of the hospital, made up of the various doctors of Adams county, has always been "up and coming," Doctor Wolff added. While not experimentalists, the staff has constantly been employing new techniques and methods at the hospital and has been first in this section in many instances in using improved methods including serial spinal anasthesia, caudal anasthesia, blood plasma, penicillin and a number of other new drugs. The hospital is one of the few small hospitals to have the machinery to make its own blood plasma, which has brought its cost to patients down from $40 to $10.

Keep Up to Date

Little of the equipment purchased for the hospital in the last 23 years has ever been discarded "because when it was purchased, only the best was bought." The old X-ray machine in the hospital is being used now for X-ray treatment and "is as good as a brand new machine of its power." The new X-ray machine is the "latest word in such machinery." The laboratory at the hospital is "second to none."

Many of the great advancements in medical science in recent years have been discovered since the hospital was founded, including insulin, penicillin and the sulpha drugs, Doctor Wolff pointed out. In each instance the hospital has been among the first to use the new drugs.

The Smith-Peterson nail, which allows the setting of some types of hip fractures without the use of casts was shown to the members of the Rotary club by Doctor Wolff, who also showed a series of X-ray pictures showing the placing of a Smith-Peterson nail in a broken hip of a patient at the local hospital. The nail, made of stainless steel, remains in the hip socket unless the patient asks that it be removed, after the bone has healed. One patient, in whom a nail was placed several years ago, was recently X-rayed and the nail was shown in its original position, Doctor Wolff said.

Shows New Devices

In the future, Doctor Wolff said, many different types of fractures will be set without the use of casts. He showed two Zimmerman splints recently purchased by the hospital and which have not yet been used due to the fact that no one has been brought to the hospital with a fracture of the type for which the splint can be used. The splint, used for fractures of the long bones, has four long screws, two to be placed above the break and two below and clamps tight through the use of a number of turnscrews. When it is used on a broken leg a patient can walk immediately after it is placed by the use of crutches. While some people have walked immediately without crutches after the splint has been used on a broken leg, Doctor Wolff pointed out, it is his belief that too much strain should not be placed on the splint and fracture until it is well healed. The advantage of a splint over a cast is that it allows a patient to move about and keeps the muscles from atrophying from lack of use.

HERE AND THERE

It's unfortunate that Gettysburg is to lose Camp George H. Sharpe. The camp will move to another nearby site on August 1, to be replaced by a labor camp.

Camp Sharpe was not a large camp and there was little or no publicity attending its operation here. But to have several hundred men moving in and out of town every few months and the occasional Army vehicle passing through the streets gave this historic little community a little touch of the war-spirit.

The officers and men who made up Camp Sharpe were well lized in the community, although the nature of their training precluded little more than casual acquaintanceships. Still it gave Gettysburg a touch of khaki color and a little pride in being unofficial host to an Army camp.

Gettysburg will miss Camp Sharpe and it is hoped that before many months pass the old site will again house an Army unit of like popularity.

General Dwight D. "Ike" Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in Europe, prophesied months before the invasion of France, that the war in Europe would be over this year.

Victory over the German hordes should be an occasion of world-wide rejoicing, especially in this country because so many of our own men are waging the victorious struggle.

When that great day comes what does Gettysburg propose to do?

Some plans should be made now to observe that historic event when it happens. Plans should be made to sound a prearranged signal for the collapse of the Nazi armies and a schedule of activities for the day should be prepared now.

If you have any suggestions send them in.

Several days ago a young Army colonel, enroute to his home in Altoona, stopped at the home of Mrs. John D. Keith, Gettysburg. He said that he had only 15 minutes but did not want to continue without stopping to tell Mrs. Keith that he had only returned, a week before, from Iceland, where he was on duty with American troops, and where he had seen Cpl. John B. "Jack" Keith, grandson of Mrs. Helen Himes Keith, late of New Oxford.

He said that "Jack" was in fine health, good spirits and serving his country well in that northern post. He also delivered a message from "Jack" to his mother.

"It is my pleasure, Mrs Keith. I am glad for the opportunity to repay you. About 12 or 14 years ago, while I was attending Gettysburg college, you picked me up on the Harrisburg road, where I was 'thumbing' my way, and took me to Harrisburg. With you was a chubby youngster. I was grateful to you for the 'lift' when I was anxious to get home.

"That chubby youngster was Jack Keith and I met him in Iceland. I had several visits with him and when I was to return to the states I was more than glad for the opportunity to deliver a message to you from him."

COUNTY SHORT $343,600 IN E BOND SALES

The figures were announced this morning but are not considered as the final report for sales made on Saturday. "There are usually some late reports of sales made on the last day and we do not expect to have the official figures for several days at least," one war finance committee observer said.

The sale of "E" bonds is far behind schedule and far from the quota of $650,000. Total sales reported thus far are $306,400 which is more than $340,000 short of the quota.

Expect More Reports

Sales of other bonds to individuals totaled $856,500. This, too, is short of the quota of $902,000. While the final day for sales in this category was Saturday additional figures may boost the grand total after a final summation is made.

The drive will continue through July 31st and sales will be credited against the county quota.

Edmund W. Thomas, county chairman, said Monday he "hoped the buyers of "E" bonds would come forward to boost this category into the over-the-top bracket. This is the one big item that we are anxious to put across."

HENHOUSE BURNS

A frame chicken house on the property of Mrs. Nora Stoner, Baltimore street, Littlestown, was badly damaged by fire Wednesday morning at 11:05 o'clock. No chickens burned. The loss was estimated by firemen at about $100.

RECEIVES DISCHARGE

Pfc. Wayne Arnold, Littlestown, who had been stationed at the prisoner of war camp, Como, Miss., has received a medical discharge from the Army.

SET HEARING DATE IN CHILD CUSTODY CASE

Judge W. C. Sheely in court Saturday set next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock as the time for a hearing on a petition on a writ of habeas corpus filed in court Saturday morning by Mrs. Anna C. Fissel, of Gettysburg.

In the petition Mrs. Fissel seeks custody of her grandchild, Patricia Marie Fissel, who she alleges is being "restrained of her liberties" by Mildred Fissel, Iron Springs. The petition was presented Saturday by Richard A. Brown, Esq.

The court also received a petition to amend the divorce libel in the action by Mae Belle Codori versus William F. Codori, Jr. The paper, filed by John P. Butt, Esq., asks that indignities to the person be added as additional grounds for the divorce decree which originally was sought on charges of desertion and cruel and barbarous treatment.

J. Francis Yake, Jr., Esq., was named master in the divorce proceedings by Robert G. Harman against Clara Harman.

The court ordered the support payment from Harvey V. Duncan be reduced to $12 per week.

EDDIE ARCARO EXPERT RIDER

New York, N. Y., July 14 (AP)—If jockeys could be jailed for "stealing" big races, chances are that veteran Eddie Arcaro would have spent most of this season in the hoosegow. For, in three events alone this year when the blue chips were down, heady Eddie used what might be called legal larceny to take down $107,650 for Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable.

With the second-stringer Four Freedoms, he "stole" Hialeah's $25,000 added Widener handicap and Aqueduct's $50,000 added Brooklyn. He used the same method in driving Stir Up to a thrilling score in the $50,000 added Empire City stakes, an Empire City special run at Jamaica.

Practically everyone who backed Four Freedoms in the Widener did so because of the jockey.

It was the same story in the more recent Empire City. Lucky Draw and By Jimminy were leading when, at the turn out of the backstretch, "The Arc" suddenly shot Stir Up through on the inside to gain command before the others realized what had happened. Then powerful Eddie drove his mount like few riders can, for a half length victory.

Wounded Countian Returns To Duty

Pfc. Russel G. Dehoff, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dehoff, near Littlestown, who was seriously wounded in Italy on May 12, has recovered and returned to duty on June 22, the War department has notified his parents.

Pfc. Dehoff entered the Army on October 15, 1942. He went overseas last December, landing in North Africa. His outfit went into Italy on April 1. On June 3, the War department notified his parents that the young infantryman had been wounded.

Pfc. Dehoff was awarded the Purple Heart medal while confined to a hospital in Italy. In a recent letter to his parents he told them he was sending them the medal and several pieces of shrapnel which had been removed from his back.

BASEBALL FANS FOCUS EYES ON OCTOBER SERIES

(By The Associated Press)

With the three-day vacation over, the major league swings back into the second half of the season today as the 14 clubs are summoning their second wind in determined efforts to overhaul the high flying Cardinals and Browns of St. Louis.

However, the all-star game last Tuesday night and the interesting highlights emanating from it are still the main topic of discussion among the baseball folk.

Naturally, the National leaguers are happy over their fourth victory in 12 games, but they are looking ahead to the fall with some misgivings, for after each of the other three victories, the older circuit lost the world's series. The New York Yankees defeated their interborough rivals, the Giants, in 1936; duplicated over the Chicago Cubs in '38, and won again from the Cincinnati Reds in '40.

Widest Margin

All four National league victories have come with the Prickmen serving as hosts to the American leaguers. It also marked the first time the American league was the first to score, yet lose the game.

The 7-1 score represented the widest margin between the two teams since the game's inaugural in '33. The previous most lopsided score was the 8-2 American league victory in '37. The four runs scored by the NL'ers was the most in any single inning in the 12 games.

Bucky Walters of the Reds, who pitched the first three innings for the winners, also hurled in one of the other National league victories, the only National leaguer thus honored. The record, though, is held by Vernon Gomez of the Yankees, who took part in four American league triumphs. At that, Walters, the biggest winner in the majors this year, was hit hardest of the four National league chuckers. Tex Hughson and Hal Newhouser, the only 13-game winners in the junior circuit, were the least effective for the losers.

In using five hurlers, the American league set a new high. The previous top figure was four hurlers in '41. It was also the first time the American league required the use of more pitchers in a game than the National.

The National league gained the edge in batting for the first time with an average of .252 to .251 for the American league. The senior circuit also leads in hits, 102 to 99.

For the first time since 1928 and for the second time since the classic started, not a single home run was hit. It was also the first time the American league entry failed to hit at least once for extra bases, all six hits being singles.

Joe Cronin, manager of the Boston Red Sox, serving as a coach, and Rick Ferrell of the Washington Senators, also non-active were the only ones who played in the first all-star game. Mel Ott of the Giants, appeared in his 11th game, a record, when he pinch hit in the third inning. Ott and teammate Joe Medwick, were the only performers who played in the 1934 game.

Sheely Rules In Compensation Case

Judge W. C. Sheely, of the Adams county court, handed down an opinion in Dauphin county court Monday in which he held that the New Enterprise Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., is not liable for the payment of unemployment compensation contributions to the Department of Labor and Industry, based upon the wages paid to individuals, who performed services for the corporation.

The state sought to collect $1,673.49 for the fund together with $351.44 interest for three quarters in 1939 and for the years of 1940, 1941 and 1942. The court directed that the assessment for those years be stricken off and that the cost of the proceeding be paid by the Department of Labor and Industry.

CEILING PRICES GO ON AUTOS MONDAY

The office of price administration said the used car business, with an annual sales volume of nearly $2,600,000, was until Monday the largest industry that had not been subject to ceiling prices.

Requiring both the seller and the buyer to sign a certificate of transfer, the new order was designed, OPA said, to protect the individual buyer from being overcharged and to guard dealers from unfair competition.

The buyer files the certificate with the local rationing board when he applies for gasoline coupons for the car. The certificate describes the car sold and the price paid. The local board checks the certificate to see that the price is in accordance with the OPA regulation.

RED CROSS WILL GIVE NUTRITION COURSES HERE

To help develop a trained canteen Corps and to make valuable nutrition instruction available to interested women in this community, the Adams county chapter of the Red Cross has decided to offer a 10-lesson course in nutrition, it was announced today by Mrs. R. S. Saby, Canteen and nutrition chairman for the chapter.

The first meeting of the course will be held Wednesday, July 19, from 3 to 5 p. m. in the Red Cross rooms in the Topper building on Baltimore street. The course is open to the public and interested women are urged to attend the opening lecture regardless of whether they expect to enroll for the entire course.

"The National Red Cross urges all chapters to set up nutrition courses and to develop a trained Canteen Corps as part of the volunteer special services," Mrs. Saby said. "The national Red Cross requires a course in nutrition as a foundation for the Canteen course.

At Request Of National

"Trained Canteen Corps members are prepared to serve at the Blood Plasma unit, in time of disaster, or at any public function requiring large quantity feeding. The course which will open July 19 has been planned to meet the requests of the national Red Cross organization.

"Such a course would indicate the essentials of good nutrition, menus, planning for different age groups and special food problems of diet in disease, and for over and underweight persons. It is open to anyone interested and should especially appeal to those who might be interested in continuing the training for the canteen group. Lecturers on special topics will be secured."

Persons expecting to take the course are asked to register either with the Red Cross office or with Mrs. Saby so that text books may be secured in advance of the opening of the course.

Mrs. Saby said that the first meeting will be held in the afternoon but that later sessions will be arranged to suit the convenience of the class members as far as is possible.

Lieut. Edmund Redding, Jr., grandson of the late George and Annie Cole, of the Narrows, has been killed in action with the infantry on Biak island in the Pacific, according to word received by relatives in Biglerville and Arendtsville.

RAIN SMASHES HEAT WAVE AND DROUGHT HERE

The hottest day of the year—Wednesday—ended by breaking the drought that had held this section of the county in its grip for 22 days previously.

The mercury at the Arendtsville laboratories reached 97 degrees Wednesday and the thermometer of Dr. Henry Stewart, local observer, registered 96, the hottest day this summer.

Nearly one-half inch of rain fell in a general shower that began about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening and continued intermittently throughout the night.

At Gettysburg .47 of an inch of rain fell and at Arendtsville .49 of an inch was recorded. The shower was the first measurable rain to fall in Gettysburg since June 20 and the first measurable rainfall at Arendtsville since June 29 when .18 of an inch was recorded. It was the first "good rain" recorded at Arendtsville since May 7 when over an inch was recorded.

Need More Rain

While clouds hanging densely in the county's skys gave promise today that the county may have more rainfall, weather observers held that the precipitation last night, while helpful, still was not sufficient to soak into the ground and overcome the lack of rain that has existed since this spring. The rainfall, they pointed out, was good for grass and victory gardens, which were burned considerably by the drought, but did not get deep enough to do much good for the larger crops and orchards.

While no estimate can be made as to the damage done to the crops much loss has been experienced by cherry growers due to the smaller size of the cherries brought about by the drought, at least one observer held today. Apples and peaches are also smaller, it was said, and unless a tremendous amount of rain falls within the next few weeks the apple and peach crops will be much smaller than they would ordinarily be. The cumulative effect of the present summer's drought on top of a similar drought last summer will cut the size of both apples and peaches to a great extent, it was said. Trees, which have not recovered from last summer's drought are being greatly damaged by the current dry weather, it was felt.

The thermometer fell to 71 degrees during the night and was standing at the 75 mark at noon today at the Arendtsville laboratories, but most countians who were remaining indoors felt it was hot as ever with the humidity a nice 75, just enough to make "it isn't the heat—it's the humidity" as true a statement as was ever uttered.

Elmer Schriver, agricultural education instructor at the local high school and a member of the Lions, was named as vice chairman with Fred G. Troxell, also a Lion and a teacher at the high school, elected secretary-auditor for the committee.

Scoutmaster Jack Cessna outlined the program for the scout committee to follow during the coming year, detailing the various duties that are to be performed by the members of the committee. Retiring Chairman Vernon B. Corle was given a vote of thanks for his services during last year.

Total damage to the bicycle and the car was estimated at about $20. No charges have been filed.

W. M. RAILROAD EXONERATED IN MYERS' DEATH

That Charles Raymond Myers, 61, of Iron Springs, was trespassing on railroad property and that the accident which caused his death at 11:55 a. m., July 1, was unavoidable as far as the railroad company and train crew were concerned was decided Saturday afternoon by a coroner's jury following an inquest, held by Coroner S. D. Shull in Chambersburg.

Myers came to his death, the verdict said, as the result of injuries he received when struck by a locomotive of the Western Maryland Railway Company of which E. F. Selby of Hagerstown was engineer. "We believe, first," said the jury, "that Charles Myers was trespassing on the premises of the Western Maryland Railway Co. at the time of his death, and secondly, we believe that it was an unavoidable accident and do therefore exonerate the Western Maryland Railway Co. and train crew."

Saw Object On Track

G. W. Warrenfeltz, Funkstown, Md., fireman on the locomotive, testified his attention was called by Paul Arnold, Baltimore, an employe of the W. M. R. R. Co., who was riding in the engine, to an object on the track as the locomotive rounded a sharp curve.

Lt. E. J. Chapman, Hagerstown, of the W. M. R. R. police, had previously testified that the accident had happened between Monterey and Charmain, about one-fourth of a mile west of Charmain crossing, and at a point where a 40-foot embankment, covered with heavy underbrush would have obscured the vision of the train crew for a distance of 330 feet.

The 30-car loaded freight train was descending a steep grade. Chapman said that the train dragged portions of Myers' body for 429 feet and that his body was still caught on the locomotive when it stopped.

The police officer fixed the scene of the accident as between Myers' home, which was four or five miles away, and the place of his employment, one and a half to two miles away.

Warrenfeltz said Selby blew the whistle as soon as the man was seen on the tracks. The train, estimated by crewmen to have been traveling 20 or 21 miles an hour, was within 75 feet of Myers when it was recognized as a man. Selby immediately applied the emergency brakes and "dropped sand," to provide traction for stopping, he said.

Warrenfeltz testified that Myers was sitting on the inside of the right rail, with his feet on the outside of the track. His head and chest the fireman said, appeared to be lying on his legs.

RATIONED CARS ARE ANNOUNCED

All 1842 hard-top cars with a factory list price of between $1,500 and $2,500 and also 1942 convertible soft-top cars with a list price up to $2,500 will be rationed on the same basis as the popular lower-priced, hard-top automobiles beginning July 10, the OPA announced last Friday.

Eligibility requirements for these cars have been more liberal than for the lower-priced hard-top cars. Formerly any person could get a certificate for a hard-top car with a list price up to $2,500 if the car was needed for a gainful occupation or for work contributing to the war effort or public welfare. This was because these cars were in less demand in the earlier period of rationing than the lower-priced models.

The liberal requirements have been revoked to conserve the remaining small supply of cars for persons whose needs are considered more essential.

The requirements for cars selling for $2,500 or more and 1941 cars driven less than 1,000 miles remain unchanged.

Applicants for all rationed passenger cars with a list price under $2,500 must show they need an automobile principally for one or more listed occupations essential to the war effort or to the public welfare, such as doctors, ministers and war workers.

THOMAS MAKES APPEAL FOR E BOND BUYING

Adams county is $311,300 short of its "E" bond quota of $650,000, Edmund W. Thomas, chairman of the county War Finance committee, announced today.

Sales of this issue of bonds through July 10th totaled $338,700.

Mr. Thomas said: "It is most important that we reach our quota in the sale of E bonds. Our unsold balance is not too great. If each Adams countian purchased about $8 worth of bonds on an average before July 31st we will reach our goal.

"I don't feel that it is asking too much of our good people to support our government to this extent, especially in view of our successes in Normandy and Italy. Our fighting forces need every bit of financial help we can give them and I am hopeful that Adams county will fulfill its obligation to this extent."

Total sales of all types of bonds through July 10th were announced today at $3,473,000. This represents an over-subscription of $675,000, the largest "over - the - top" figures achieved in any previous bond drive in this county.

From the Women's Division of the War Finance committee came this statement this morning:

"On behalf of the Women's Division of the War Finance committee we want to express our appreciation to the various organizations and women who sponsored and worked at the bond booth in the First National bank building and also to the many women who have worked so hard at selling individual bonds. All have done a grand job.

"We especially urge, however, that an extra effort be made to sell more individual bonds so that our quota for those bonds may be reached by July 31st. We ask that all such sales be reported to the headquarters booth at the Hotel Gettysburg. This booth will be open each day from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m., through July 31st."

The statement was signed by Mrs. Henry T. Bream and Mrs. Frank Kramer.

SAYS CAMP IS TO BE CLOSED

Camp George M. Sharpe, the former CCC camp site on the battlefield which was occupied by the U. S. Army last November 9 and has been in use continuously since that time, will be converted to a work camp for farm laborers about August 1, Robert Edwards, camp director for the state Emergency Farm Labor committee stated Friday.

Mr. Edwards said that plans call for the closing of the labor camps now being operated in the Arendtsville high school and Biglerville grade school buildings at the end of this month with the close of the cherry season.

Other workers will be brought here for the peach and tomato and possibly the apple seasons, he said, and will be quartered at the present site of Camp Sharpe. Present plans call for continuation of the work camp at Cross Keys inn, he said.

Maj. John T. Jarecki, commander at Camp Sharpe, said he cannot confirm or deny the statement that the army camp will be discontinued by the end of this month.

Six Countians Are Enrolled At State

Six Adams countians are among the nearly 700 men and women, the majority of them public school teachers and administrators, who are enrolled for special studies in the main summer session at the Pennsylvania State college this year.

The six are: Mrs. Kathryn Dentler Pender, Biglerville; Carrie B. Jacobs, East Berlin R. 2; Edgar M. Glenn, Fairfield R. 1; Ruth K. Scott and Dorothy M. Warner, both of Gettysburg, and W. Edward Sheely, Hanover R. 4.

Short courses will add approximately 100 to the total enrolment in forthcoming weeks, according to P. C. Weaver, assistant director, who said the Pennsylvania-required course in American and Pennsylvania history had attracted the largest enrolment of any single course. More than 85 enrolled for this course.

This year, for the second time during the war period, three major programs are in session simultaneously at Penn State. The regular summer semester devoted to undergraduate work has already started, and the special program for military and naval trainees also is underway.

MAN DROWNS AT PINE GROVE

Vincent Anello, 26, a Letterkenny Ordnance Depot employe, drowned Sunday afternoon at Fuller's Lake, Pine Grove Furnace, Dr. E. A. Haegele, Cumberland county coroner, reported last night.

Anello, swimming along about 150 yards from the diving board in the deep abandoned iron ore hole, was seen diving and swimming for about 15 minutes by other bathers.

He shouted for help and sank in about 20 feet of water, it was reported by Miss Josephine Paxton, of Boiling Springs, who was the last person to see him before he went below the surface of the water.

Nearby swimmers, who began diving for the body immediately, included many servicemen spending the day there. Two Army men, Capt. R. M. Bailey, of the Carlisle Medical Barracks, and Sgt. George A. Houghton, of Rehoboth Beach, Delaware, rescued the body after diving about 25 minutes.

Dr. W. H. Burgin, of New Cumberland, pronounced him dead after Seaman First Class Lawrence Sollenberger, who gave a San Francisco Fleet Post Office address, and several others attempted to revive him with artificial respiration.

Anello, who resided at 204 Fifth avenue, Chambersburg, was a native of Baltimore. There are no known survivors, the coroner reported.

NEED 30 MORE BLOOD DONORS FOR JULY CALL

The Adams County Blood Donor service issued an urgent call today for 30 new volunteers to give their first pint of blood here on Monday afternoon, July 31, the next Red Cross Blood Donor day in Gettysburg.

Various causes have reduced the Blood Donor file by several hundred persons. Some have moved away, others are not available for additional donations now for many reasons but the largest group includes those who ignored the last two appointments given them.

When two consecutive appointments are given a donor and he or she does not report at the donor station and does not notify the Blood Donor Service chairman, Radford H. Lippy, that he wishes to be kept on the list, the name is dropped.

To meet the shortage in the donor file, new volunteers must come forward to offer their blood to help meet the tremendous demand from Allied battlefronts for the life-giving plasma needed in ever larger quantities.

Seek 160 Pints

The dropping of the names of persons who fail to respond is intended to increase the percentage of volunteers who appear to give blood. Last month 240 county men and women held appointments and 112 gave blood.

In an effort to make sure that the quota of 160 pints of blood will be met July 31, the county Donor Service unit expects to give appointments to about 270 persons. To be able to get enough donors in the county each month—allowing the required interval of at least two months between donations — new donors must offer their help.

Red Cross reports from many parts of the nation show many persons fail to keep their appointments through carelessness or neglect but at the same time many members of servicemen's families in all parts of the land are eagerly offering their blood to make sure their sons or brothers or husbands in the service will get plasma if they need it — and to repay others for giving blood that saved the lives of their wounded kin.

ROBERT HILTY NOW IN ACTION

In a letter to his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hilty, residing in Gettysburg, Pfc. Robert Hilty reveals that he had been in France and escaped unscathed in the recent invasion. The letter was written June 24.

He says, in part, "I am this far and I know some one was praying for us. I made it through the invasion all right but it was plenty hot. Just think, you have a son with a lot of experience at fighting and also a Presidential citation. We beat the record they made in the last World War."

In a previous letter written from France June 21, Pfc. Hilty stated: "I am writing this letter up on the front lines and if there are any mistakes I hope you will overlook them because at times things are pretty hot. I am now in plenty of action. I guess Dad has nothing on me.

Order 3,000 Sets Of G-I Ballots

Three thousand military ballot sets were ordered from the state Wednesday by the Adams county commissioners at their regular meeting at the court house.

Approximately 2,500 of the sets will be sent to soldiers and sailors from the county elegible for the military ballot while the remainder will be sent to the 42 election districts in the county so that any member of the armed forces home on leave who wish can vote at his regular election house in November.

Youth Who Saved Athletes Wounded

The name of Corporal Maynard C. Otstot, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Otstot, Shepherdstown, is included in a recent War Department list of casualties. He was wounded in action in the Mediterranean theater probably in Italy.

Corporal Otstot, a veteran of the African, Sicilian and Italian invasions, was credited with saving the lives of a number of Lemoyne high school athletes who were riding in Adams county for a basketball game in March, 1939, when he discovered their bus was afire, drove his car past the bus and stopped it in time for the passengers to escape the flames. The bus was destroyed.

Comparable grades ranging in weight from 120-130 pounds brought from $11.50—13.75; 130-140 pounds, $12—12.25; 140-150 pounds, $12.75—13; 150-160 pounds, $13—13.25; 150-170 pounds, $13.25—13.50; 170-150 pounds, $13.50—13.75; 270-300 pounds $12.5—12.75. Good sows up to 400 pounds earned from $10.50—11; sows over 400 pounds were considerably lower.

Blonde in Love

Chapter 12

Usually, when Louise entertained the "gang," she wore whatever came handiest, which often as not was a pair of slacks and a fresh blouse. But tonight was different—because Angel was there and was going to meet the crowd, she told herself stoutly. Certainly not because that red-headed cameraman, Dick Stanley, who kept referring to her as his girl-friend, was coming. Not at all! After all, wasn't she in love with Alan Payne, now in the Army? Well—at least sort of in love.

"Angel would feel terrible, if I wore slacks and a blouse and looked like a dud," Louise told herself with growing conviction. "She'd never forgive me."

Having convinced herself that it was really her duty to look as well as possible, Louise fished around in the depths of her closet for the "sapphire" dress.

It had cost more than she had been able to afford, six months before. Then, looking at her serious, quiet face in the mirror, she suddenly decided that her hair, falling softly to her shoulders, looked too unsophisticated.

With an impatient gesture she brushed it up and away from her ears and fastened it with a comb. Why—it was good! It seemed to define her features more clearly, to emphasize her eyes. "I don't even look like me!" she exclaimed, laughing.

Definitely excited now, Louise slipped the sapphire dress over her head and fastened it snugly about her waist. The low, heart-shaped neckline was vastly becoming, and the blue of her eyes seemed to deepen until they were exactly the shade of the dress. She smiled ruefully at her reflection.

It was only a little after seven o'clock when the doorbell shrilled. Louise punched the button that opened the door downstairs, and stood waiting in the apartment doorway. She saw the flaming hair of Dick Stanley rounding the last curve.

For a moment, before he looked and saw her, she had a chance to study him. How big he was! And he didn't look hateful and arrogant at all. Seen even from this foreshortened angle, his broad shoulders and deliberate, but not slow, movements as he mounted the stairs, were all part of a man who had pride in himself and in his own integrity. Then he glanced up. He did not speak, but a spark seemed to glow in his eyes and a pleased little smile quirked his lips.

He was standing before her. For the life of her, Louise could not have said a word.

It seemed only natural when he leaned down, still not speaking, and touched his lips lightly to hers. For an instant her own lips quivered in response. Then he was standing away from her, grinning happily.

"Hello!" His tone dared her to notice the anti-climax. "I've been wanting to do that ever since I first saw you at the airport."

In spite of herself, a warm thrill surged through Louise's slender, gowned body. Her eyes softened as she said with a careless smile: "You're looking very special tonight."

"Thank you. It was nice of you to come all the way over here to Brooklyn—and on the night of my party, too. Angel hasn't quite finished dressing. She'll be out soon. And my friends will be coming along in a little while, I think. . . ." She stopped, appalled at her own remark. "Shades of Emily Post!" she thought desperately. "Why in the world did I have to tell him he came early?" But Dick, folding himself into an armchair, said easily:

"I came early on purpose, hoping to catch you alone for a minute. Pretty smart of me, eh? But what do you mean 'all the way to Brooklyn'? I used to live here in Brooklyn—not so far away either."

"In your own home, of course." Louise could not resist letting an edge of sarcasm creep into her voice. "Perhaps I wouldn't mind Brooklyn either, if we lived in a house where there was a yard or a terrace for the baby. Or even a sunny apartment."

"Yes, we had a house," Dick acknowledged. "And what a house! Too big. Looked more like a museum than a home. You've probably seen the old eye-sore. It faces the park near the arch."

"You don't mean the one with the big columns out front, and the scroll-work, and oh," she interrupted herself "then you're one of the Brooklyn Stanleys. You're 'Stanley's Steamed Wheat'!"

Dick made a deprecating gesture. "Horrible stuff," he admitted. "I wonder how any youngster manages to grow up, having that mess rammed down his throat every morning."

"I guess it must be healthy," Louise said absently. "We used to eat it by the carton practically."

They sat in silence for a moment, and then Louise asked bluntly, "Do you work for love? Because you certainly have money enough to live comfortably."

Dick laughed with such relief and enjoyment that Louise stared at him in surprise. "You're a frank little so-and-so—but I like it," he exclaimed, patting her hand. "Every other girl I know would have spent an hour wondering if I was cut off without a shilling. You come right out and ask."

"Well—were you? Or do you work just for love?" she repeated.

Dick became serious then—and a little stern. "Maybe some people just aren't born to loaf—and maybe I'm one of them. I don't know. I happen to like photography—But I'm no altruist. I get paid what I think I'm worth."

The doorbell shrilled, and Dick stopped talking.

JOHNSTON SEES B-G RED TRADE

Based on conversations he had with Marshal Stalin and other top Soviet officials and also on personal observations made during thousands of miles of travel, Johnson said:

1. Russia is looking to this country for an imagination-staggering supply of mining and industrial machinery, railway and hydro-electric equipment, ships, trucks and road building tools and machines.

2. In order to buy from the United States, it is "absolutely essential" that Russia have long term credits (10 to 30 years). Also, the United States must buy from Russia, taking raw materials such as manganese, nickel and other steel alloys, timber and the like; that will enable the Russians to pay off their loans.

3. Russia's aim in rebuilding is to achieve a high standard of living. The government and the people would like to reach the standard of this country.

"I think a prosperous United States and a prosperous Russia will go far toward preserving the peace of the world after the war," he said.

Babe Disappears From Hospital Crib

New York, July 14 (AP) — An eight months old girl, whose mother is undergoing an operation, vanished mysteriously from her crib Thursday in New York Foundling hospital.

The child, Barbara Goggin, was missing from her crib at 5 a. m., Sister Carmelia Theresa, in charge of the hospital, told police, who immediately broadcast an alarm.

As the child's disappearance was made known, her mother, Mrs. Anne Goggin, 30, was undergoing a gall bladder operation in Roosevelt hospital. The child entered the foundling hospital July 6.

Algiers, July 14 (AP) — A letter from a French prisoner to relatives in Algiers states that Germany is forcing some Allied prisoners to share their parcels of clothing and foodstuffs with German needy.

2,430 IN COUNTY ARE ELIGIBLE FOR NEW GI BALLOTS

Of the 2,684 soldiers and sailors registered for the GI ballot in Adams county, 2,430 are eligible to vote in the forthcoming election, the Adams county Election board announced this morning after completing the count of the registrations turned in by the election boards of the 42 districts in the county, Friday evening and Saturday.

A total of 230 of the men and women registered to vote were found to be under 21 years of age and 11 of the cards were duplicates. Twenty-two of the cards did not have sufficient information on them to determine whether the soldier was eligible to vote. It is expected that a number of the 22 will be allowed to vote after the additional information is obtained by the county election board.

Only 18 of the men were registered for the GI ballot at the polls on Military Ballot Day last Friday with the 500 Civilian Defense canvassers who visited every home in the county to secure the registrations turning in 2,666 of the cards. The registration cards collected by the C-D workers were turned over to the local election boards prior to Military Ballot Day for processing by the election officials.

A few additional soldier voters may be added to the election registration list in the near future when requests for military ballots from men in service are checked against the lists available from the GI registration.

No challenges will be allowed on those eligible to vote until after the military ballots are returned, it was explained today. When the ballots are returned a special day will be set aside for their counting and at that time, before the ballots are opened, the names of the voters will be read and anyone wishing to challenge the right of any soldier to vote will have an opportunity to issue the challenge at that time.

When a vote is challenged an immediate hearing will be held by the county election board, and an immediate appeal can be made from that decision by the board to the county court.

The "army" of 1,500 persons picking cherries in Adams county is expected to complete its work by the end of July, with most of the work done by the end of next week. The dry weather is shortening the harvest period.

With many residents of the upper section of the county taking part in the harvest together with more than 200 workers recruited from throughout the state and with the assistance of nearly 200 Jamaicans, the county's crop apparently will be cleaned from the trees without loss. The total crop is expected to be in excess of 5,000,000 pounds.

The large crop, which is expected to bring the largest amount of money to the county of any crop so far, will possibly help the state to become fourth in production of cherries among all states that produce cherries in large quantities, it was revealed today.

According to a survey of conditions as they existed last month, the Federal-State crop reporting service of the State Department of Agriculture today said that the sour cherry crop in the state has been estimated at a record 7,700 tons, a record for Pennsylvania.

The previous record crop in Pennsylvania was in 1942 when production totaled 7,400 tons. With Adams and Erie counties being the heaviest sour cherry producing areas in the state, the crop here will have a large influence on whether or not the state will reach the expected peak of production. The picking will continue a little longer in Erie county than here, but the production from Adams county will probably be larger than from Erie, where some orchards are reporting light crops.

Michigan is the leading sour cherry state with an estimated production of 52,400 tons. New York is second with 20,000 tons and Wisconsin third with 12,000 tons.

Nearly Equal to Record Years

The pickers and the men and women engaged in canning the crop here in the county are earning more than $100,000 this month in wages paid for handling the cherry crop.

The growers are expected to have an income of more than $350,000 from the crop.

Previous large crops in Adams county occurred in 1937 and 1941 and it is believed that this year's crop will be comparable to the crops in those years, but slightly lower than 1941 when 6,000,000 pounds of cherries were harvested.

He lived retired for a number of years, his last employment being as custodian in the school administration building. He was a member of St. Paul's Catholic church.

NEW ZEALAND PREMIER LAUDS YANK SOLDIERS

Enroute home from the conference of British prime ministers at London, Peter Fraser, prime minister of New Zealand, drove to Gettysburg from Washington last Friday to lunch at Hotel Gettysburg and spend a few hours on the battlefield. A keen student of American history, Mr. Fraser said he could not think of leaving Washington for the Pacific without a visit to the Gettysburg battlefield.

It is Mr. Fraser's first trip to Gettysburg. He is accompanied by Mrs. Fraser and his personal secretary, Miss Katherine G. Jordan.

Visited Battlefronts

The prime minister had words of high praise for American soldiers in New Zealand. "They're fine, splendid boys," he declared warmly, "and they're looked upon as friends. Many of them have been welcomed in our homes and many have found second homes in our country."

Mr. Frazer declined to hazard a guess on the date of the end of the war. "One person's guess is as good as another as far as Japan is concerned. It's just a question of how soon Germany falls after which the Allies can mass their power in the Pacific to finish off the Japanese."

The chief executive of New Zealand spoke of his visits to the battlefronts in Italy where he talked with New Zealanders who had battled through the African, Sicilian and Italian campaigns. He was in Rome two days after it fell to the Allies and during a three-day stay there had an audience with the Pope. His war travels carried him as far as Egypt before he returned to London and the United States.

INSPECTION OF CARS IS URGED

Motor vehicle inspection has become a "patriotic duty" in the wartime transportation emergency, Secretary of Revenue David W. Harris declared Friday in a statement urging car owners not to delay in having their vehicles inspected in the current inspection period which ends July 31st.

"Today, more than ever," Secretary Harris said, "motor vehicle inspection is important because it has become a wartime conservation measure. There must be no breakdown of the nation's transportation system in this critical period. Every car that is kept rolling on the home front means that much more help for those who are courageously fighting for us on the battle fronts. A broken down car won't carry workers to a munitions plant or a tank factory and still worse it may be responsible for an accident which might result in valuable workers never returning to the job of turning out the tools of war so badly needed today.

"It is the patriotic duty of the motor vehicle owner today to see to it that his car is fit and can be safely driven. Official inspection will determine that. If your car has not been inspected in this current inspection period which ends July 31st, have it done today. It cannot be legally operated after July 31st without a current inspection 'sticker' on the windshield. There can be no extension of the period."

PETS, INSECTS ARE DAMAGING GARDENS HERE

Even more serious than the depredations by natural pests is the damage being done to local victory gardens by domestic animals and pets, Prof. Herbert G. Hamme, local victory garden chairman, said today.

A large number of gardeners have complained to him of the irreparable damage done their gardens by stray dogs, pigeons and even cats, Professor Hamme said, and gardeners are requesting a closer supervision of the activities of the animals by their owners.

"Many gardeners are busy now putting out their late crops and they would like protection against avoidable damage to such plantings caused by prowling dogs and cats that should be kept from the gardens by the owners of the pets," he added.

Good Quality, Quantity

Infestation by beetles and other insect pests has been much lighter than usual but there has been greater destruction by rabbits and blackbirds this year, the chairman said, in giving a summary of the activities of the army of Gettysburg victory gardeners so far.

"Crops of excellent quality and large quantity have already been gathered and gardeners generally are well pleased with their efforts to date. While the gardens in many sections were hurt by the lack of rain during the last month, the rainfall over the night may mean for the gardens as much success during the remainder of the year as has been experienced in the first part of the gardening season. Through their gardens the local men and women are making an important contribution this year to war food production.

"All that the gardeners ask of their friends and neighbors is their cooperation in guarding against unnecessary and avoidable destruction of plants and crops. While it is realized that the pets must be given freedom to be out at times, the gardeners are asking the owners of the pets to see that the animals do not damage the garden crops."

By JACK HAND

Pittsburgh, July 14 (AP)—The balloon pitch and the nothing ball got credit for stopping the American league's all-star victory march Tuesday as Billy Southworth's Nationals celebrated their fourth win in the 12-year history of the dream game.

While the boys from Ford Frick's circuit were rapping five assorted hurlers from Joe McCarthy's stockpile for 12 hits, effective pitching by Ken Raffensberger of the Phils, Rip Sewell of the Pirates and Jim Tobin of the Braves insured Tuesday's 7-1 decision, the most lopsided score in the series.

Spectators Pleased

Most of the 29,589 customers who helped boost the Service Bat and Ball fund by $106,275 were pleased with the sudden halt of the Americans' 3-year win streak as the series came around to Forbes Field for the first time.

Southworth's winners adopted an old American custom in pounding Tex Hughson of the Red Sox for four runs in a big fifth inning. Hughson had relieved Hank Borowy of the Yanks after he finished his three-inning stint with a 1-0 lead but Tex yielded five hits before Joe McCarthy waved in Bob Muncrief of the Browns.

With Borowy in control of the situation, the junior circuit stepped out in front in the second inning after threatening on two hits off starter Bucky Walters of the Reds in the first. Ken Keltner of the Indians opened the second with a single to left, moved around on infield outs by Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox and Rollie Hemsley of the Yanks and scored when Borowy beat out a hopper to Bobby Doerr for a scratch hit.

The roof caved in on Hughson in the fifth after the Nationals had gone scoreless for four frames. Connie Ryan of the Braves opened with a single to center, stole second and romped home when Bill Nicholson of the Cubs delivered a pinch-double that scorched the right field foul line and completely altered the complexion of the game.

Augie Galan of the Dodgers drove a hard smash through the box that Vern Stephens of the Browns got a glove on but couldn't hold. The ball rolled into short center for a single and Nicholson roared in to put the Nationals out in front. A walk to Phil Cavarretta of the Cubs, who enjoyed a perfect night with a triple and single and three passes, and an error by George McQuinn of the Browns loaded the bases. Walker Cooper of the Cards lined a single to left, scoring Galan but Cavarretta was cut down at the plate on a beautiful peg by Bob Johnson of the Red Sox. In the first inning Stan Spence of the Senators had nabbed Phil at the platter with a perfect toss from right.

One Hit in Last Six

Dixie Walker of the Dodgers rifled a single down the right field line chasing home Musial and McCarthy yanked Hughson for Muncrief who retired the side and got by without serious trouble until lifted for a pinch-hitter in the seventh.

Lefty Hal Newhouser of the Tigers gave up the last three National runs, two in the seventh when Whitey Kurowski of the Cards doubled to the scoreboard in left following one-baggers by Cavarretta and Cooper.

Walters yielded five blows to the Americans in the first three frames but they were stopped completely by Raffensberger, Sewell and Tobin. The only hit in the last six innings was Spence's single to right in the fifth off the Phils southpaw.

Last Friday evening the Reserve Guardsmen drilled at Reynold's woods and accepted James Sillik, of Biglerville, as a new recruit.

By JACK HAND

(By The Associated Press)

Can Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Bobby Feller, Johnny Vandermeer and scores of other big leaguers in service pick up where they left off when they come marching home from war?

The question that has puzzled club owners and fans alike was partially answered yesterday when Dick Wakefield, recently "detached" from the Navy's Iowa pre-flight school, stepped into a Detroit uniform and banged out two hits in the Tiger's 9-1 slaughter of Chicago.

Wakefield has not seen active service, and soon may be called away from the Tigers by the Army, but a parallel can be drawn between him and others who have been much more distantly removed from big league pitching. Judging from first day impressions, it may not be so tough for the stars to resume their careers.

Two Hits Help

The $52,000 dandy is out of the Navy because the need for fliers apparently has decreased. He has been away from the big show for only half a year after hitting .316 and leading the league in total hits and doubles as a rookie. Others making a more violent change may find the readjustment more difficult.

Wakefield's two hits helped the Tigers rout Orval Grove with an eight-run spurt in the second as Paul "Dizzy" Trout coasted to his 11th win.

St. Louis held its 2½-game margin in the American flag race by scoring three times in the 10th for a 4-1 victory in the second game after bowing to Cleveland, 6-5, in the opener of a two-night doubleheader. Chief Reynolds won and Al Smith lost for Cleveland, with Nels Potter getting the St. Louis victory and Sig Janucki the defeat.

Yanks, Sox Divide

Boston and the New York Yankees divided two games as they opened a vital 6-game series. The Yanks took the first, 4-2, as Ernie Bonham outpitched Rookie Red Barrett with the help of Bud Metheny's two-run homer. Yank Terry scattered six New York blows in the finale after the Sox hopped on Atley Donald for four unearned runs in an 8-4 triumph.

Al Jurisich of the Cards got the nod over Jim Konstanty of the Reds in a tight 11-inning National league duel when Danny Litwhiler doubled home Walker Cooper for a 3-2 edge over Cincinnati.

Frank Colman's pinch triple enabled Pittsburgh to top Chicago, 3-2 for its fifth straight and win No. 6 for Fritz Ostermueller. Hank Wyse was the loser.

The New York-Giant-Philly night game was rained out, and Brooklyn-Boston in the National and Philadelphia-Washington in the American had open dates.

New Mexico has lived under five rules—Indian, Spanish, Mexican, Confederacy and United States.

York Takes Twin Bill From Trenton

(By The Associated Press)

The York White Roses, determined to occupy the No. 2 spot in the interstate league now held by Allentown's Cardinals, moved into a deadlock with the Red Birds after taking a doubleheaders from Trenton 4 to 1 and 5 to 3 last night.

The Allentown team which was scheduled to meet the league-leading Hagerstown Owls on the latter's field, remained idle as rain forced postponement of the game.

In the only other game last night, the Wilmington Blue Rocks edged out the Lancaster Red Roses 3 to 2 to advance their second place standing to within one game of the No. 1 spot.

Well-trained GHOST wants work!

The local Society of Spooks and Spectres blames us for unemployment among its members. And it is probably true that we have done a good job of putting them out of business.

Who's afraid of misty apparitions . . . with reassuring electric light always instantly at hand? And just as electricity has all but banished haunted houses, so it has laid the ghosts of many household tasks that once were done by hand.

In fact, electricity is so common, so constant today, that most people take it for granted. But the folks who work for your electric company can't do that. They know that good, dependable electric service doesn't just happen. It takes hard work, careful planning and sound business management to do the job. It is these things that have kept electricity dependable and cheap . . . even in wartime.

TELLS HOW WAR PRISONERS ARE TREATED HERE

Some of the German prisoners at the Gettysburg prisoner of war camp have been out of active duty less than one month and some have served as Nazi guards over Allied prisoners on the European continent, Capt. Laurence Thomas, camp commandant, stated in a talk Monday evening before the weekly dinner meeting of the Gettysburg Lions club.

Ruling out of the discussion some restricted topics, Captain Thomas described regulations under which the German prisoners are handled here and at other similar prison camps in this country and abroad.

The prisoners have thorough knowledge of the provisions of the Geneva conference, the officer said, and are quick to seek flaws in the manner in which its provisions are followed. He explained that the international agreement requires that a war prisoner be treated, fed and cared for in the same manner as are men of the same rank in the holding army.

"They cannot be subjected to the curious and cannot be interviewed. They can gain an interview with the camp commanding officer by going through prescribed channels.

Serve Labor Needs

"The prisoners are not hard to handle," the captain asserted and indicated that the incident at the local camp last week was "quickly straightened out without difficulty." He said the chief cause "was ill-advised leadership from non-commissioned officers."

The captain's only reference to the two escaped prisoners was to note with a smile that the Gettysburg camp has now dropped to third place in the nation in number of escaped prisoners with one camp losing five and another, three. The escape here was described as "an unfortunate incident."

Captain Thomas, who was a school superintendent before re-entering military service, explained that the prison camp was placed here at the request of the War Manpower Commission and the Adams county canners. "The prisoner labor is not competitive and is not intended to be used where free labor is available. If no need for labor should exist here, the camp could disappear overnight."

Directed By WMC

The WMC, he said, allocates the labor from the camp. Certificates of need must be provided through the WMC. "The Army has nothing to do with the assignment of the prisoners to factories," he added.

The prevailing labor scale in the community in which the camp is operated is used as the basis for the prisoners' pay. The prisoners cannot receive more than 80 cents per day under terms of the Geneva conference. Officers who are prisoners and non-commissioned officers cannot be required to work and are not kept in the same camp as enlisted me, he added.

Captain Thomas said that during the two-week period in June the Gettysburg camp became the first to go on a "paying basis" financially for the government with the government receiving the prisoners' pay in excess of the 80 cents per day given each man.

Scoffs Local Rumors

The camp here originally was scheduled to remain until November 1 but with the pea canning season shortened by the dry weather and with a similar prospect in sight for the bean and tomato crops changes in plans may be necessary, the speaker indicated. He said that when the food harvesting and canning season is over the prisoners may be transferred to pulpwood cutting work.

Captain Thomas referred to the "many types of unfounded rumors which have been current in this community about the camp" and spoke specially of one frequently heard comment. "People say the prisoners are too well treated but we are bound to treat them with the same care and consideration given our own men because we are bound by the Geneva regulations. We know our men are not receiving the same treatment in enemy prison camps. Even if the Geneva rules were to be followed, they would not get the same treatment we deal out here because the standards of the Axis armies are so much lower than ours."

New Committees

New club officers took over their duties Monday evening with President J. Milton Bender presiding for the first time. He presented a past president's pin to Hugh C. McIlhenny, immediate past president.

S/2c Carl A. Westerdahl, member of the club serving in the Navy at Camp Peary, Va., spoke briefly and plans were announced for a joint meeting next Monday evening with the Upper Adams and York Springs clubs at the York Springs hotel at 7 o'clock.

Farmer Is Found Unconscious In Car

Harvey J. Hull, Crouse Park, Littlestown, a farmer, was reported to be in a "good" condition Friday at the Warner hospital where he was admitted in an unconscious condition Thursday morning after he had been carried from his automobile in a closed garage by County Commissioner J. Arthur Boyd.

A Littlestown physician was called and ordered Hull to the hospital by ambulance. Carbon monoxide fumes from the garage are said to have attracted attention and when Mr. Boyd gained entrance through a front door, Mr. Hull's unconscious form was found in the machine. The car's motor was not running when the rescue was made.

The invasion was the first action with the enemy for Rummel, who has received citations for being in the American, European and African theaters of war. A former carpenter's helper at the Mechanicsburg Naval Supply depot, he attended Gettysburg high school and has a brother also in the service, serving with the air force in England.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I am writing these few lines tonight to those who carry the responsibility of sending your paper and our paper, The Gettysburg Times, to the servicemen at home and to those of us overseas. I am writing this for myself and for others that appreciate your kindness just as much as I do. I would like to say more for those other fellows because they are doing a bangup job but I guess you all realize that.

I have a shipmate aboard from home. Often in the wee hours of the morning we can be found leaning on the rail rehashing the times that we have had in the ole' school or recalling the people that we think so much about. The paper plays an important part in our discussions too.

We have these thoughts on our minds, every one of us. Not just the boys from Gettysburg but those from all the thousands of other towns and cities in our nation. They're all fighting for the day when they can once again come home to all of those that they love and to the United States of America. I don't think that I am exaggerating at all when I say the most wonderful country of them all. Some people say that war changes a man. I agree in one respect. man over here has enough time to think and to see for himself a shattered and war torn world. It may sound silly but it's the truth. These are the times that he can appreciate his country more. Yes, these men have learned to love their country and all of the things it stands for. The liberty, the freedom and justice for all.

In closing I will repeat that I am saying these things, not for myself alone, but for all of us who are trying our level best to make this world a place of happiness and of freedom. I know that all of the boys will agree with me. Thank you again for your thoughtfulness.

Sincerely,
MM. 3-c BERT LARKIN.

Dear Sir:

This is to inform you that I am well and safe.

I can't tell you where I am as everything from now on is hush, hush.

Once again I wish to thank you for sending me The Gettysburg Times.

Sincerely yours,
PFC. J. E. CATO,
c-o Postmaster
New York, N. Y.

HE WAS ONLY AN OLD MAN, SEEKING JOB

The hunt for the escaped prisoners of war reached its comic peak Sunday evening, about 7 o'clock when some 30 residents of the Idavilla-Rock Chapel area, on foot and in cars, gave chase to and surrounded a man they believed to be one of the escaped prisoners.

Someone saw the "suspicious character" walking on the Rock Chapel road en route to the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road. Ideas of escaped prisoners rapidly circulated and the crowd grew rapidly. Some followed, some preceded the man in question. Some went by car, some walked. The object of the posse continued on his way unconcerned.

It was seen that his shoes were worn out, his clothes old and dirty. When a question was asked him by one member who was bold enough to come close enough to ask a question the man answered in what appeared to be a foreign tongue.

Just an Old Man

The crowd kept stalking the man, the man kept on his way apparently unconcerned and Pvt. George Ackerson of the local state police answered the call to the local sub-station stating that an escaped prisoner was surrounded and would the police come and pick him up please?

Ackerson arrived and discovered some slight differences between the man followed by the crowd and the escaped prisoners. For one thing the prisoners are both young men. The man near Rock Chapel was 57 years old. And he did speak English even though his speech was somewhat broken.

Private Ackerson took the man into custody and the crowd dispersed. At Gettysburg Ackerson gave the "prisoner," Walter Spzak of Bedford county, a new pair of shoes and wished him well as Spzak continued his journey—to York to seek a job.

Wounded In Toe While Hunting

Those admitted to the hospital include Elmer Warren Springs avenue; Mrs. Cletus Plank, Biglerville R. 2; Mrs. Albert Barnhart, Taneytown R. 2, and Mrs. Malcolm Shadle, Taneytown R. 1. Those discharged included Walter Pavlock, Bendersville; George Wampler, Gettysburg R. 4; Howard Weikert, Breckenridge street, and Richard Yoeman, Emmitsburg.

ROTARIANS HEAR DR. WOLFF TELL ABOUT HOSPITAL

The old and the new at the Warner hospital, its benefactors and some of the developments in medicine and surgery that have come about since its establishment were the topic of a talk given Monday evening by Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, chief surgeon at the hospital, to the local Rotary club at its meeting in the YWCA.

Steady growth has characterized the local hospital, Doctor Wolff asserted, with the number of patients growing from 436 during 1921, the first year the hospital was open, to 1,768 in 1943. The number of maternity cases has grown from 182 ten years ago to 413 in 1943. So far 22,640 cases have been treated since the opening of the hospital March 17, 1921.

The number of patients at the hospital is expected to increase annually, the hospital surgeon pointed out, with more and more countians taking advantage of hospitalization and medical treatment insurance plans which permit many who formerly could not afford it to go to the hospital for treatment.

Was Well Founded

To meet the expected increase in patients the 73-bed capacity hospital will possibly be expanded to about 100 bed capacity in the near future if present tentative plans are completed. While asserting that all plans for expansion are completely indefinite at present many indications point toward possible construction of some additional room at the hospital, Doctor Wolff said.

The local hospital, one of the few in the country to operate without losing money, "was established well by its founders and has continued in that course," Doctor Wolff said in praising the members of the board of directors, both those in the past and present directors for "serving well and doing a perfect job as directors." The board, the late John D. Keith and the Ladies' Auxiliary were listed as among the chief benefactors of the hospital by the local surgeon.

Lauds Benefactors

The Ladies' Auxiliary since its establishment has given between $11,000 and $12,000 to the upkeep of the hospital, Doctor Wolff said. Dr. J. McCrea Dickson was also one of the principal benefactors of the hospital, leaving at the time of his death equipment worth $15,000 which he had purchased during his years at the hospital, and left as part of the hospital's property.

The interest of Doctor Dickson in purchasing, with his own money, equipment for the hospital did much to give the hospital the "unique position it has" of being one of the best equipped hospitals in this area. Doctor Dickson often turned back one-half of his income to the hospital, Doctor Wolff said.

The staff of the hospital, made up of the various doctors of Adams county, has always been "up and coming," Doctor Wolff added. While not experimentalists, the staff has constantly been employing new techniques and methods at the hospital and has been first in this section in many instances in using improved methods including serial spinal anasthesia, caudal anasthesia, blood plasma, penicillin and a number of other new drugs. The hospital is one of the few small hospitals to have the machinery to make its own blood plasma, which has brought its cost to patients down from $40 to $10.

Keep Up to Date

Little of the equipment purchased for the hospital in the last 23 years has ever been discarded "because when it was purchased, only the best was bought." The old X-ray machine in the hospital is being used now for X-ray treatment and "is as good as a brand new machine of its power." The new X-ray machine is the "latest word in such machinery." The laboratory at the hospital is "second to none."

Many of the great advancements in medical science in recent years have been discovered since the hospital was founded, including insulin, penicillin and the sulpha drugs, Doctor Wolff pointed out. In each instance the hospital has been among the first to use the new drugs.

The Smith-Peterson nail, which allows the setting of some types of hip fractures without the use of casts was shown to the members of the Rotary club by Doctor Wolff, who also showed a series of X-ray pictures showing the placing of a Smith-Peterson nail in a broken hip of a patient at the local hospital. The nail, made of stainless steel, remains in the hip socket unless the patient asks that it be removed, after the bone has healed. One patient, in whom a nail was placed several years ago, was recently X-rayed and the nail was shown in its original position, Doctor Wolff said.

Shows New Devices

In the future, Doctor Wolff said, many different types of fractures will be set without the use of casts. He showed two Zimmerman splints recently purchased by the hospital and which have not yet been used due to the fact that no one has been brought to the hospital with a fracture of the type for which the splint can be used. The splint, used for fractures of the long bones, has four long screws, two to be placed above the break and two below and clamps tight through the use of a number of turnscrews. When it is used on a broken leg a patient can walk immediately after it is placed by the use of crutches. While some people have walked immediately without crutches after the splint has been used on a broken leg, Doctor Wolff pointed out, it is his belief that too much strain should not be placed on the splint and fracture until it is well healed. The advantage of a splint over a cast is that it allows a patient to move about and keeps the muscles from atrophying from lack of use.

They have made an application for an alcoholic beverage license and also plan to cater to banquets Sunday dinners and special food service for truck drivers and tourists. Mr. Reeder has been a successful hotel operator for 37 years. Mr. Bittinger has been in the retail grocery and produce business for several years.

DRIVER DOZES

Hanover police reported that the car of Ivan Legore, Hanover, parked in front of his home, was struck Sunday by a machine driven by Guy C. Haverstock, Abbottstown. Haverstock said he dozed at the wheel.

HERE AND THERE

It's unfortunate that Gettysburg is to lose Camp George H. Sharpe. The camp will move to another nearby site on August 1, to be replaced by a labor camp.

Camp Sharpe was not a large camp and there was little or no publicity attending its operation here. But to have several hundred men moving in and out of town every few months and the occasional Army vehicle passing through the streets gave this historic little community a little touch of the war-spirit.

The officers and men who made up Camp Sharpe were well liked in the community, although the nature of their training precluded little more than casual acquaintanceships. Still it gave Gettysburg a touch of khaki color and a little pride in being unofficial host to an Army camp.

Gettysburg will miss Camp Sharpe and it is hoped that before many months pass the old site will again house an Army unit of like popularity.

General Dwight D. "Ike" Eisenhower, Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in Europe, prophesied months before the invasion of France, that the war in Europe would be over this year.

Victory over the German hordes should be an occasion of world-wide rejoicing, especially in this country because so many of our own men are waging the victorious struggle.

When that great day comes what does Gettysburg propose to do?

Some plans should be made now to observe that historic event when it happens. Plans should be made to sound a prearranged signal for the collapse of the Nazi armies and a schedule of activities for the day should be prepared now.

If you have any suggestions send them in.

Several days ago a young Army colonel, enroute to his home in Altoona, stopped at the home of Mrs. John D. Keith, Gettysburg. He said that he had only 15 minutes but did not want to continue without stopping to tell Mrs. Keith that he had only returned, a week before, from Iceland, where he was on duty with American troops, and where he had seen Cpl. John B. "Jack" Keith, grandson of Mrs. Helen Himes Keith, late of New Oxford.

He said that "Jack" was in fine health, good spirits and serving his country well in that northern post. He also delivered a message from "Jack" to his mother.

When Mrs. Keith expressed her thanks and gratitude for the personal message and the courtesy of the colonel going out of his way to deliver a message for a corporal, the colonel replied:

"'It is my pleasure, Mrs. Keith. I am glad for the opportunity to repay you. About 12 or 14 years ago, while I was attending Gettysburg college, you picked me up on the Harrisburg road, where I was 'thumbing' my way, and took me to Harrisburg. With you was a chubby youngster. I was grateful to you for the 'lift' when I was anxious to get home.

"That chubby youngster was Jack Keith and I met him in Iceland. I had several visits with him and when I was to return to the states I was more than glad for the opportunity to deliver a message to you from him."

The young officer was Colonel Forrest Fullerton Smith, of Altoona, who graduated from Gettysburg college in 1931.

COUNTY SHORT $343,600 IN E BOND SALES

War Bond sales in the Fifth War Bond campaign in Adams county at the close of business on Saturday totaled $3,401,400, an oversubscription of $602,400, the largest "over the top" figure yet recorded in bond drives in this county.

The figures were announced this morning but are not considered as the final report for sales made on Saturday. "There are usually some late reports of sales made on the last day and we do not expect to have the official figures for several days at least," one war finance committee observer said.

The sale of "E" bonds is far behind schedule and far from the quota of $650,000. Total sales reported thus far are $306,400 which is more than $340,000 short of the quota.

Expect More Reports

Sales of other bonds to individuals totaled $856,500. This, too, is short of the quota of $902,000. While the final day for sales in this category was Saturday additional figures may boost the grand total after a final summation is made.

The drive will continue through July 31st and sales will be credited against the county quota.

Edmund W. Thomas, county chairman, said Monday he "hoped the buyers of "E" bonds would come forward to boost this category into the over-the-top bracket. This is the one big item that we are anxious to put across."

HENHOUSE BURNS

A frame chicken house on the property of Mrs. Nora Stoner, Baltimore street, Littlestown, was badly damaged by fire Wednesday morning at 11:05 o'clock. No chickens burned. The loss was estimated by firemen at about $100.

RECEIVES DISCHARGE

Pfc. Wayne Arnold, Littlestown, who had been stationed at the prisoner of war camp, Como, Miss., has received a medical discharge from the Army.

EDDIE ARCARO EXPERT RIDER

New York, N. Y., July 14 (AP)—If jockeys could be jailed for "stealing" big races, chances are that veteran Eddie Arcaro would have spent most of this season in the hoosegow. For, in three events alone this year when the blue chips were down, heady Eddie used what might be called legal larceny to take down $107,650 for Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable.

With the second-stringer Four Freedoms, he "stole" Hialeah's $25,000 added Widener handicap and Aqueduct's $50,000 added Brooklyn. He used the same method in driving Stir Up to a thrilling score in the $50,000 added Empire City stakes, an Empire City special run at Jamaica.

Practically everyone who backed Four Freedoms in the Widener did so because of the jockey.

In the Brooklyn, Eddie kept Four Freedoms well up from the break and shot him through an inside hole nearing the far turn.

It was the same story in the more recent Empire City. Lucky Draw and By Jimminy were leading when, at the turn out of the backstretch, "The Arc" suddenly shot Stir Up through on the inside to gain command before the others realized what had happened. Then powerful Eddie drove his mount like few riders can, for a half length victory.

Wounded Countian Returns To Duty

Pfc. Russel G. Dehoff, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dehoff, near Littlestown, who was seriously wounded in Italy on May 12, has recovered and returned to duty on June 22, the War department has notified his parents.

Pfc. Dehoff entered the Army on October 15, 1942. He went overseas last December, landing in North Africa. His outfit went into Italy on April 1. On June 3, the War department notified his parents that the young infantryman had been wounded.

Pfc. Dehoff was awarded the Purple Heart medal while confined to a hospital in Italy. In a recent letter to his parents he told them he was sending them the medal and several pieces of shrapnel which had been removed from his back.

BASEBALL FANS FOCUS EYES ON OCTOBER SERIES

(By The Associated Press)

With the three-day vacation over, the major league swings back into the second half of the season today as the 14 clubs are summoning their second wind in determined efforts to overhaul the high flying Cardinals and Browns of St. Louis.

However, the all-star game last Tuesday night and the interesting highlights emanating from it are still the main topic of discussion among the baseball folk.

Naturally, the National leaguers are happy over their fourth victory in 12 games, but they are looking ahead to the fall with some misgivings, for after each of the other three victories, the older circuit lost the world's series. The New York Yankees defeated their interborough rivals, the Giants, in 1936; duplicated over the Chicago Cubs in '38, and won again from the Cincinnati Reds in '40.

Widest Margin

All four National league victories have come with the Frickmen serving as hosts to the American leaguers. It also marked the first time the American league was the first to score, yet lose the game.

The 7-1 score represented the widest margin between the two teams since the game's inaugural in '33. The previous most lopsided score was the 8-2 American league victory in '37. The four runs scored by the NL'ers was the most in any single inning in the 12 games.

Bucky Walters of the Reds, who pitched the first three innings for the winners, also hurled in one of the other National league victories, the only National leaguer thus honored. The record, though, is held by Vernon Gomez of the Yankees, who took part in four American league triumphs. At that, Walters, the biggest winner in the majors this year, was hit hardest of the four National league chuckers. Tex Hughson and Hal Newhouser, the only 13-game winners in the junior circuit, were the least effective for the losers.

In using five hurlers, the American league set a new high. The previous top figure was four hurlers in '41. It was also the first time the American league required the use of more pitchers in a game than the National.

The National league gained the edge in batting for the first time with an average of .252 to .251 for the American league. The senior circuit also leads in hits, 102 to 99.

For the first time since 1938 and for the second time since the classic started, not a single home run was hit. It was also the first time the American league entry failed to hit at least once for extra bases, all six hits being singles.

Joe Cronin, manager of the Boston Red Sox, serving as a coach, and Rick Ferrell of the Washington Senators, also non-active were the only ones who played in the first all-star game. Mel Ott of the Giants, appeared in his 11th game, a record, when he pinch hit in the third inning. Ott and teammate Joe Medwick, were the only performers who played in the 1934 game.

Sheely Rules In Compensation Case

Judge W. C. Sheely, of the Adams county court, handed down an opinion in Dauphin county court Monday in which he held that the New Enterprise Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., is not liable for the payment of unemployment compensation contributions to the Department of Labor and Industry, based upon the wages paid to individuals, who performed services for the corporation.

The state sought to collect $1,673.49 for the fund together with $351.44 interest for three quarters in 1939 and for the years of 1940, 1941 and 1942. The court directed that the assessment for those years be stricken off and that the cost of the proceeding be paid by the Department of Labor and Industry.

CEILING PRICES GO ON AUTOS MONDAY

Washington, July 10—Used passenger automobiles come under price control Monday with all makes and models of used automobiles covered by ceiling prices. Sales by individuals as well as dealers are affected.

The office of price administration said the used car business, with an annual sales volume of nearly $2,000,000, was until Monday the largest industry that had not been subject to ceiling prices.

Requiring both the seller and the buyer to sign a certificate of transfer, the new order was designed, OPA said, to protect the individual buyer from being overcharged and to guard dealers from unfair competition.

The buyer files the certificate with the local rationing board when he applies for gasoline coupons for the car. The certificate describes the car sold and the price paid. The local board checks the certificate to see that the price is in accordance with the OPA regulation.
